A Puzzle for Congress, Experiments in Magic, Fighting Religion, If Nelson Had Married.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

MORE THAN a thousand war veterans are in Washington now, close to the Capitol, where Congressmen can see them. Five thousand more are on their way. And they say they "will stay in Washington until 1945, if necessary, or until they get the bonus paid in full." Also, some have said:

"We are the young men of this country, we fought for it, and we propose to run it."

This will add to the hard thinking of Senate and House, now wondering how they can attend to the work on hand, including a deficit of about two thousand million dollars.

It is not a pleasure trip for the veterans. They sleep in tents and the "world's richest country" spends six cents a day on the food of each man, two meals at three cents apiece.

ON GERMANY'S "magic mountain," the Brocken, made familiar to you by Goethe, British and German psychological investigators will endeavor in the light of the full moon on June 17 or 18 "to transform a goat into a handsome youth."

The superstitious believe that the thing can be done, with the assistance of "a maiden pure of heart." Two young women, one English, one German, will be provided, in case there should be something wrong with one of them.

ONE OF THE maidens, all in white, will lead a white goat by a silver cord into a circle near a pine fire, anoint the goat with blood, honey and scrapings of church bells, covering the goat with a sheet.

Bystanders will utter Latin incantations, and when the moon is obscured, the sheet will be removed and it is expected that a handsome youth will appear in place of the goat.

That probably can be arranged, if it is dark enough for a handsome young man, unobserved, to creep into the circle, while the goat creeps out.

TWO DISPATCHES from Mexico remind you of Russian news. In the "State of Mexico," one of Mexico's subdivisions, every Catholic church is closed, because Catholic authorities have not complied with legislation requiring them to name thirty-four priests, none to be foreigners, and no others to officiate in the state.

Another dispatch says the government has taken 22,000 acres of land belonging to the Malpaso Hacienda, dividing the land among 300 unemployed laborers. Each laborer gets about seventy-one acres of land, and promises to cultivate it diligently.

Giving lands to people that have none, as an offset to crushing and dispossessing the church, has been part of the Russian program, as it was part of the French revolution.

TIME WILL tell the effects of today's fight against religion. There is no doubt that the French revolution, although it lasted but a short time, greatly weakened the hold of religion on the French people, except, perhaps, some peasants.

Samuel Johnson, in his life of Milton, expresses the opinion that to suspend religious exercises even temporarily is dangerous:

"To be of no church is dangerous. Religion, of which the rewards are distant, and which is animated only by faith and hope, will glide by degrees out of the mind, unless it be invigorated and reimpressed by external ordinances, by stated calls to worship, and the salutary influence of example."

IT HAVING been announced that young men graduating from the Naval Academy at Annapolis will be forbidden to marry within two years after leaving Annapolis, Congressman Cochran, of Missouri, will introduce a bill to prevent any such regulation.

MEN IN the Army and Navy should marry early because of the probability of their being killed young in case of war, and the desirability of their leaving descendants to fill their places.

It would have been a good thing if Nelson had married the young Canadian girl with whom he was so desperately in love, when he commanded a frigate cruising off the Atlantic Coast in our war with England.

If he had married that girl, from whom fellow officers dragged him to his ship by force, he might have left after him interesting little Nelsons and refrained from making such a fool of himself with Lady Hamilton.

MR. CHARLES WOERISHOFFER operated in Wall street, was a great man in that part of the country 50 years ago, and accumulated millions. His wife, who has just died, left more than ten millions, with more than two millions in government bonds.

This weakens the theory that women know nothing about business, although life insurance statistics show that it usually takes about three years for some man to get any money that a widow may inherit.

HIROHITO, JAPANESE Emperor, going in state to open Parliament in Tokio, is guarded on all sides as he passes through the streets, policemen searching the crowd for weapons. This must seem unbelievably shocking to the older Japanese. To them any thought of an offense against the sacred person of the Mikado would be inconceivable.

THE RED STAR, representing Russia's army, warns Japan not to annoy Russia, or run the risk of war, by letting the

RASKOB SOLD SHORT, SAYS PROBER

Democratic Leader Denies Charge in Testimony at Market Probe in Senate

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(AP.)—The Senate Banking Committee was told by its counsel today that John J. Raskob sold General Motors stock short while he was an officer of the corporation.

Raskob, who is chairman of the Democratic National Committee, presented an itemized statement of three accounts and said that "at no time will you find I sold General Motors short except on what might be called two technical occasions."

These times, he said, were in 1928 and in August, 1930, when he sold 10,000 shares "which I couldn't deliver for about six weeks."

William A. Gray, committee counsel, charged that March 10, 1928, Raskob sold 40,000 shares short at 159. Raskob retorted:

"I sold them, but not short."

SHOWS HOLDINGS

Raskob submitted a statement showing he had 76,596 shares of General Motors common stock on hand January 1, 1928, in his regular account and that at the end of 1931 his balance was 20,000 shares.

Another statement, on a special account, showed that he had 58,800 shares January 1, 1928, and none in that account January 31, 1931. Another statement, headed "Consolidated Accounts of J. J. Raskob" showed that on January 1, 1928, he had on hand 17,796 shares and that at the end of 1931, he had 20,000 shares.

DENIES POOL DEALS

The consolidated account showed that in January of 1928 he sold 20,000 shares, though he

SPITALE, LINDY AIDE, SEIZED

NEW YORK, June 3.—(INS.)—In a mysterious surprise raid that left Broadway's shadowland circles gasping, Salvatore Spitale, underworld intermediary in the Lindbergh baby kidnaping, was seized by detectives today and taken to a police station for questioning.

One woman and five other men found with Spitale in a Times Square speakeasy were also detained.

Spitale was taken into custody only a few hours after he testified before the Bronx County grand jury of his attempts to regain the stolen Lindbergh baby after Col. Charles A. Lindbergh appointed him as one of two underworld emissaries to negotiate with the abductors.

A pistol was found on Spitale when he was searched, but with it he had a permit signed by County Judge William E. Thorpe.

No formal charge was lodged against either Spitale or the others rounded up, and for that reason, bondsmen were unable to bail them out.

Intellectual Dishonesty In the Senate

WHEN THE SENATE rejected the Walsh amendment to the tax bill, a majority of the Senators answering the roll call voted their fears instead of their convictions.

The Walsh amendment proposed a general manufacturers' excise tax as a substitute for the conglomeration of unfair, obnoxious and vexatious special excise taxes with which the tax bill, as it passed the Senate, is loaded down.

But the arguments in support of this amendment went unanswered because the injustice of these special excise taxes could not be denied, and the fairness and feasibility of the general manufacturers' excise tax could not be challenged.

All of the fifty-three Senators recorded against the Walsh amendment knew perfectly well that it did not provide for a general sales tax—that is to say, a turnover tax—of the sort in operation in France.

The French turnover tax is a tax levied on all sales, with the result, as Senator Walsh in his masterly speech pointed out, that "a given article, by the time it reaches the consumer, has borne several taxes at the various stages of transfer."

THE GENERAL MANUFACTURERS' excise tax, for which the Walsh amendment provided, imposed one tax only on the finished manufactured article. It involved no tax to be paid by the producer of the raw materials. It involved no tax to be paid in any of the intermediate stages of transfer or sale.

The Walsh amendment provided for the issuing by the federal government of a license to all manufacturers and producers doing business in excess of $20,000 annually.

The purpose of this license was to allow tax-free transfer from manufacturers and producers when the article was to enter into further manufacture or production.

The result of this arrangement would have been that there would be no tax whatever until the last manufacturer sold the completed article.

In other words, this tax would be on the value of the finished article. There would be no duplication of this tax.

ALL OF THE FIFTY-THREE Senators recorded against the Walsh amendment knew perfectly well that it provided for a general manufacturers' excise tax of the sort which Canada has found to be fair, effective, and popular.

Yet in the face of these facts well known to every Senator on the floor, Senator Dill, of Washington, had the effrontery to insert in the record as an excuse for his vote against the Walsh amendment a newspaper dispatch from Paris about the unpopularity in France of the French general sales or turnover tax, which was not provided for by the Walsh amendment, nor proposed by any member of the Senate.

It was misrepresentation of this sort to which the Senate stooped when it refused to substitute for vexatious special excise taxes a general manufacturers' excise tax.

NO SENATOR would stoop to such misrepresentation who was not afraid to tell the people the truth and who did not doubt the capacity of the people to judge rightly when they know the truth.

Senator Bailey, of North Carolina, rightly rebuked these fears and doubts on the part of those Senators who voted against the Walsh amendment when he said:

"I believe, and I would trust myself with that belief, that if we should impose this general manufacturers' excise tax it would reach out lightly, and even though it touched millions of people they would rejoice in their opportunity to make a contribution to the welfare of our country in a time like this."

THE GENERAL manufacturers' excise tax was rejected by the Senate because a majority of the Senators do not share the respect of Senator Walsh for the intelligence of the American people, and the faith of Senator Bailey in their patriotism.

If the tax bill becomes a law in the form that it passed the Senate, the folly of swindling the

London First Goal, but May Keep Going If His Fuel Holds Out; Sped by Wife

By QUENTIN REYNOLDS
International News Service.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Stanley Hausner took off from the Floyd Bennett airport at 9:46 a. m. today, bound for Warsaw, Poland.

He intended to follow the Great Circle course, with London as his first objective. If he still has fuel enough when he reaches London, he will continue on 900 miles further to Warsaw, in his trim red and white Bellanca monoplane.

FACES HEAD WINDS

He probably will be bucking head winds all the way across the ocean, but Hausner said that he would be able to keep his course better with the wind against him. He is flying by dead reckoning, using the same type of instruments used by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh on his famous flight.

His plane, with a cruising speed of 100 miles an hour, carried 520 gallons of gasoline, enough to keep it going 40 hours, which Hausner anticipates his 4,000-mile trip will take.

There was a 10-mile wind blowing across the airport when Hausner climbed into his heavily loaded plane. The flier kissed his wife, said casually:

"It's time I went."

He waved goodbye to friends who had come to see the take-off, and taxied the plane to the eastern end of the runway.

He remained there for some time, giving the motor an opportunity of warming up. His slim blonde wife had climbed into an-

CONGRESS BUSY ON TAX BILL

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(AP.)—The budget-balancing tax-economy legislation kept Congress on edge today with the House hearing that the compromise revenue bill will raise $1,119,000,000 and the Senate striving to agree on the $250,000,000 economies needed. The conference report on the bill was submitted to the Senate today.

The plan is to get the House to act tomorrow, then the Senate, and finally the bill goes to the White House.

It was agreed to keep the Senate income tax rates, which reach the 1921 level on normal tax of 4 per cent on the first $4,000, 8 per cent on incomes above that and surtaxes up to 55 per cent on income in excess of $1,000,000.

The tariffs—on oil, coal, lumber and copper—were retained.

THE PROBLEM

SENATOR BRONSON M. CUTTING, of New Mexico: "Eight to ten millions of our citizens are now wholly unemployed, and probably eight to ten millions more are working only two or three days a week."

THE REMEDY

A $5,000,000,000 bond issue by the United States to build great public works, employ several million men, start the nation back to prosperity.

PROSECUTOR SEEKING 'CRIMINAL ANGLE'

Architect on Stand Scores Director Riis, Charges 'False Information'

District Attorney Andrew T. Park entered the investigation of alleged mishandling of county labor, materials and payrolls today as a Chicago landscape architect described how Paul B. Riis, county director of parks, is said to have connived to obtain the architect's employment.

Park and his assistant, Earl T. Adair, took seats in the office of Assistant County Solicitor Ralph H. Frank, who is conducting the probe for the present County Commissioners, as the examination of witnesses was resumed this morning.

'CRIMINAL ANGLE'

The prosecutor remained an hour, then left Adair as an observer.

He said:

"We want to know of any angle that may have a criminal aspect. I have assigned Mr. Adair to attend all sessions of the investigation from now on. When it is completed he will go over the record and make his report. We are ready to bring any prosecution which the facts may warrant, either through grand jury action or informations."

The landscape architect, Kenneth O. Graves, it was asserted, worked for the county in laying out golf courses in North and South parks from March 1, 1928, until August 1, 1929, when he was discharged by Riis, who disagreed with his methods. He told of one man who was on three payrolls, two of the county as custodian and recreation director at South Park and one as athletic director in city high schools.

Graves, not under oath, related that Riis had written to him suggesting he make application as

Cut Family Budgets, Mrs. Rogers Urges

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(AP.)—Now the public has become national balanced-budget conscious, Representative Edith Nourse Rogers, of Massachusetts, contends everybody should get busy balancing his and her own budget.

Stirred up with the idea that most Americans have been "keeping up with the Joneses," instead of living within their means, Mrs. Rogers has gone after women, as the family money-managers, to start putting every family's scale of living where it belongs.

Fear Big Death Toll in Oklahoma City Flood

Water Traps Sleeping Families, Needy in Relief Camps

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 3.—(AP.)—Four were drowned and there were unverified reports of other deaths as a sudden flood swept Oklahoma City early today, trapping scores of sleeping families.

Sent roaring out of their banks by a half foot of rain, the waters of the Canadian River and Lightning Creek surged over a wide area in the southern part of the city.

Water poured through the business district, flooding basements, and routed families living in camps for the destitute.

The body of a 14-year-old girl was taken from Lightning Creek at Southeast Twenty-third street. J. M. Meads, former deputy sheriff, reported that the body of a woman about 45 years old was taken from a tree on South Twenty-first street and that of another woman, about 40, was recovered at South Twenty-fifth street and Santa Fe.

The body of a 5-year-old boy was recovered from five feet of water in Southeast Twenty-third street.

A man on horseback who attempted to cross deep water near the Taylor School for Boys, where 65 hungry youths were marooned upstairs, was reported drowned.

The backing up of flood waters caused a shutdown on nearly every well in the north end of the Oklahoma City oil field, as well as pipeline and gas compressor stations.

At one time water stood two feet deep at Main and Broadway, in the heart of the business district.

National Guard troops were called out for police and rescue work.

G. O. P. RELIEF BILL ADOPTS ESSENTIALS OF ERK PLAN

PITTSBURGHER CONSULTED BY HAWLEY

Penna. Congressman Insists Session Devote All Its Time to Aiding Recovery

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Essential features of the plan for business and industrial restoration proposed in a resolution by Representative Edmund F. Erk, of Pittsburgh, have been adopted by President Hoover in two bills presented by Representative Wills J. Hawley, former chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. Hawley's bills are sponsored by the administration.

One measure provides for advances to states through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for the relief of distress arising from unemployment, and the other amends the Reconstruction Finance Corporation act to authorize loans to provide additional employment through the construction of economically sound projects.

Representative Erk twice called at the White House and urged the adoption of a plan for prompt action toward restoring business and industry and to relieve unemployment. The Hawley bills giving extended powers to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation provide advances to states for relief of distress and authorize loans providing additional employment through the construction of public projects and to business and industry.

Representatives Erk and Hawley arranged for further conferences today for consideration of some 20 proposals suggested by Erk in his original plan. Calling attention to the fact his plan had been introduced two weeks ago.

Hoover, Garner Relief Plans Near Showdown

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(INS.)—The conflict between President Hoover and congressional Democrats over jobless relief neared a critical stage today.

Both the administration forces and Democratic leaders were engaged in a race against time for enactment of relief measures as appeals for aid continued to reach Washington.

Administration spokesmen in the Senate, spurred on by Mr. Hoover, proposed to divorce legislation providing loans to states for relief purposes from the public works programs embraced in both Senate and House Democratic programs.

Under the administration plan, Congress would authorize the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to loan $300,000,000 to states which could in turn loan money to cities to meet emergency relief needs.

The Garner program carrying $100,000,000 for direct relief, $1,000,000,000 additional for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and $1,200,000,000 for public works, was reported favorably today by the Ways and Means Committee.

held only 17,700. It also showed that at the end of March, 1928, he had a balance of 35,000 shares and was on the long side of the market ever since except in August, 1930, when he sold 10,000 shares without having any on hand.

His balance in September, 1928, shrank to 1,250 shares.

Gray described a sale of 58,000 shares by Raskob in 1927 as "a pure short transaction." Raskob commented:

"I always had more long stock in my regular account than I sold, except in the two cases I have mentioned.

"As chairman of the Democratic National Committee, I don't like to have the information given out that I resorted to that kind of thing, because it isn't true.

"While I am taking great pains to show that I have not been short-selling, I think it perfectly proper when it is properly conducted."

Raskob said none of his transactions was designed to manipulate the market, and denied that they were pool operations.

POLITICS LINKED

When Raskob was asked what his business was, he replied:

"Trying to make good Democrats out of misguided Republicans."

During the course of the quiz Senator Glass (Dem.) of Virginia asked if Gray "proposed to involve several Republicans" also. He said there were rumors that Gray intended to "involve a number of prominent Democrats."

Gray replied he had "endeavored to put before the committee all information and situations without regard to political consideration."

A little earlier, David Lion had told the committee how he made more than half a million dollars out of stock that had been put at his disposal without cost in return for publicity he handled for stock pools.

HEARST RADIO MAIL HEAVY

William Randolph Hearst will speak on "Painful and Painless Taxation" over an NBC coast-to-coast network tonight with WCAE as the Pittsburgh outlet.

His address will start at 10:45 eastern daylight saving time.

Records of mail commending or criticizing previous radio addresses by Mr. Hearst indicate he is one of the most popular of non-professional broadcasters, NBC officials say, declaring that the listener-response to his infrequent appearances on the air is larger than that of most of the national notables who appear before the microphones.

Records of mail commending or criticising his remarks or requesting copies of his broadcast indicate that the listener responses on the air is larger than that of most of the national notables who appear before the microphones.

BURKE SEES DRY COMPROMISE

CHICAGO, June 3.—(INS.)—The Republican party hopes to offer a prohibition plank that will make for progress toward a sensible solution of present unsatisfactory conditions, James Francis Burke, general counsel for the Republican National Committee, declared today. He said:

"There are three schools of thought on prohibition—the rabid wets and the great body of moderate minded Americans who are not interested in the bitter animosities of either side. It would be futile and deplorable to embark upon any radical plan that is not likely to be approved by three-fourths of the states as required by the Constitution.

"We hope to offer a rational plank on this troublesome subject."

CUT IN LOW U. S. PAYS FOUGHT

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(INS.)—Following a warning by Senator Johnson (Rep.), of California, that the proposed 10 per cent slash in the wages of poorly-paid government employes would result in a lowering of the American standard of living, the Senate today considered an amendment to exempt salaries below $2,500. The National Emergency Committee of the American Federation of Labor last night condemned the measure as a death thrust at American living standards.

The liberal bloc which is fighting for the exemption, however, had little hope of success. The general trend of sentiment appeared to be that all federal employes should share in the sacrifice, Johnson said.

"I am doubtful whether we shall be able to get a favorable vote on exempting salaries below $2,500."

A graduated reduction of federal salaries instead of the flat 10 per cent slash was proposed by Senator Norris (Rep.), of Nebraska.

He would exempt all employes receiving $1,500 or less.

WASTE CHARGED ON BRIDGE BY M'ARDLE

Councilman Says Work on Panther Hollow Span Is 'Wanton Waste' of Taxes

Repair and reconstruction work on the Panther Hollow Bridge in Schenley Park today was classed by Councilman P. J. McArdle as altogether unnecessary and a wanton waste of taxpayers' money. He said:

"The Panther Hollow job is the most outlandish and extravagant piece of waste that has come to my attention over a period of many years.

"If there is anything wrong with the bridge, it can be attributed to negligence in not keeping it painted."

CRITICIZES JOB

Councilman McArdle, on another personal inspection today, pointed out the old buckle plates apparently good for many years and those newly substituted.

He said:

"When the bridge department recommended repairs, including a new railing, Council approved the $93,000 expense because we though it necessary.

"Council authorized $82,000 repairs on the Junction Hollow Bridge, near Carnegie Museum. That project looks like an excuse to erect new iron railings, and I hope Council will stop it unless it is more necessary than this.

"They say some of the plates have rusted, and so they have. But engineers tell me the bridge could last another 10 or 15 years and this is no time to dip into the treasury for unneeded work. The rusted part was where the sidewalk extended, and carried little weight. Then, scrapping perfectly good plates, they put in new ones which don't seem as strong.

"It's like building a new house because a brick has been chipped."

ADDED WEIGHT

McArdle said the three layers of asphalt might be used as an example of added weight on the bridge and answered:

"It could easily have been taken off.

"I heard they even planned taking out the stone railings; next they'll be taking out the foundation."

McArdle scored the Bureau of Bridges for this job. He asked councilmen to visit the site and see whether his charges were justified. He also recommended strict inspection in the future of all plans for repairs and reconstruction work on bridges throughout the city.

Council voted to visit the site within a few days.

McArdle also commented on the police, declaring they had failed to stop vandalism at the city swimming pools and playgrounds. He demanded action be taken to repair sidewalks on the North Side, broken by heavy trucks.

Squirrel Hill Man Routs Burglar

Confronting a burglar on the second-floor hallway early today, Edward G. Hartje, Jr., 29, of 5622 Aylesboro avenue, chased the intruder downstairs and out the front door, which had been left open for a getaway.

As the burglar neared the open door, he called to Hartje:

"Don't follow me or I'll shoot."

Hartje said he was awakened by a noise, believed by police to have been the burglar jimmying open a side window. Nothing was taken. Hartje's father, Attorney E. G. Hartje, was out of town. His mother called for help from a second floor window and aroused neighbors. Telephone wires had been cut.

The home of Mrs. M. R. Taylor, 1649 Shady avenue, yielded jewelry valued at $375 to a burglar who forced open a dining room window, police were informed.

NEW YORK, June 3.—(AP.)—A general strike of 19,000 elevator constructors against operations of New York elevator manufacturers threatened today for June 10.

The 19,000 employes work throughout the United States and Canada, about 2,200 of them being in New York, Newark and Jersey city. The strike threat grew out of a dispute which had its origin in wage cut proposals affecting many crafts.

EARTHQUAKES ROCK MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, June 3.—(AP.)—A series of sharp earthquake shocks which struck this city at about 4:55 a. m. today toppled several buildings and opened large cracks in some of the large downtown streets.

The center of the disturbance was thought to be in the state of Oaxaca, whose capital city was laid waste by an earthquake a year ago. Communication lines were down and there had been no reports from there this afternoon.

The first shock was the most severe, lasting three minutes. Altogether the quakes continued for about 10 minutes. They were the worst in this city for 10 years.

NEW ELECTIONS FOR GERMANY

BERLIN, June 3.—(INS.)—The cabinet of Chancellor Franz Von Papen has voted to dissolve the Reichstag immediately and call new general elections within 60 days, it was officially announced tonight.

President Von Hindenburg will sign the decree of dissolution tomorrow, the announcement said.

The elections are expected to result in heavy gains for Adolf Hitler and his National Socialist following. Widespread rumors that the new "government of aristocrats" is merely a stepping stone to restoration of the monarchy were denied today.

Prosecutor Seeks Traces Of Violations to Start Criminal Proceedings

the landscape architect for the county parks, stating there was no one in Pittsburgh competent to do the work.

The witness produced a sheaf of letters from Riis with this explanation:

"These letters will show you that Mr. Riis knew that I understood golf course and design. They will also show you that Riis was willing to double cross his bosses, the former Board of County Commissioners, to get me here. Riis would do anything to gain his objective."

'FALSE' INFORMATION

The letters, read into the records, revealed that Riis had suggested Graves come here and apply to the county for the golf course job, pretending that he had done work at Bryn Mawr, Philadelphia Chestnut Hill, that he had an office in McKeesport and address at 739 Millvale avenue.

Riis rewrote his application, Graves asserted, and put in that he had worked in the places mentioned, though it was all false, the witness stated.

Graves said he understood his selection was made at an open meeting of County Commissioners, although Riis had written him that the appointment would have to be made "sub rosa because the local newspapers play up each appointment."

THREE SALARIES

Graves declared that a man named Dennis was recreation director at South Park in 1928 and during the school terms was teaching athletics in city high schools, that he was later made custodian of the park, receiving three pay checks, two from the county and one from the city schools.

The witness said he was paid $3,000 a year and kept it all except $50, which Riis took as a campaign contribution in 1928 with this comment:

"They don't want any checks."

Graves said he paid $25 a month rent to the county for a house in North Park. He was told to bring in all his canceled checks for rent payment.

A former county plumber questioned by Assistant County Solicitor Churchill B. Mehard, taking Frank's place at the afternoon session, declared that he and laborers worked all summer putting in new water pipes at the South Park swimming pool because the contractor had placed waste instead of pressure pipes. He said:

"There were so many leaks, I told the boss someone ought to camp in a tent to be ready to make repairs."

One buffalo, after drinking bad water from an old cistern in North Park, apparently became crazed, ran over a hill and killed itself, the plumber-witness related.

Park Director Riis today announced that he would do all in his power to co-operate with the investigation of his administration. Although he has not been called as a witness, he intimated that he is ready at any time to answer a call. He said:

"I welcome this investigation. Anything I can do to assist in this inquiry will be done and I will insist that the men who are under me co-operate."

TRADES REVEALED

A former clerk in charge of supplies at one of the county warehouses traded driveways, fences, shrubbery and labor for votes, according to reports being investigated today following yesterday's disclosures.

More evidence of alleged misuse of county materials and of private work done by the county employes, as well as alleged payroll padding in the county parks, was expected to be revealed today by the additional witnesses notified to appear before Frank for questioning. Meanwhile, additional auditors for Main & Co. have been put to work checking the North and South Park payrolls. The park records were impounded after witnesses told of alleged padding of the payroll at North Park.

DENIES ACCUSATION

Donald Graham, superintendent of North Park, who was named by a witness as having assessed park workers for a political fund, denied the accusation and also indicated his willingness to appear as a witness. He said:

"We have a beautiful park, are trying to do a good job and I am ashamed of nothing. I expect petty accusations as part of the job, but I am at the service of the Commissioners to explain whatever they want to know."

James McFarland, the North Park golf professional, denied that he had benefitted by any payroll "juggling." He said:

"The timekeeper cut me out of three days and I worked those three days for the county. Part of the time I was at South Park and the remainder of the time I was with newspapermen, discussing our service to the public. I asked those days be put on my check again and I was paid."

Missing Youth Still Being Sought

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., June 3.—Search was being continued today for Frank Hulton, 20, son of Thomas Hulton, Leechburg road blacksmith, who disappeared from his home last Sunday. The boy had returned home for Memorial Day from St. Francis Hospital, and was to have been returned for further treatment.

The Camera's Story of the Charges of Neglect in North Park

THE "$4,500" BUILDING WITH A ROAD "ENCIRCLING IT!"

The charge: The tool shed was built where the road was to go, necessitating a curve. Park officials point out that it's a temporary road, temporary shed and the picture tells its own story.

THE CONCRETE POSTS "DISCARDED" IN THE BUFFALO PEN!

The charge: 200 concrete posts were made, then stored away. The picture tells this story: The posts neatly piled under trees. The officials: They will be erected around the park as boundary markers.

PARK'S GREAT LUMBER HEAP: GROWING CORDWOOD PILES

The charge: Houses torn down, lumber carted away when the houses could have been sold for junk, eliminating expense. The picture's story: The same lumber and growing piles of wood.

EFFORTS TO STEM BONUS MARCH TO WASHINGTON FUTILE

2,000 IN CAMP, HUNDREDS ON WAY

Paraders Ignore Plea of Patman to Remain Away; Hurley Refuses Army Tents

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(INS.)—A city of bonus-seeking World War veterans sprang into being on the edge of the capital today as efforts to stem the rising tide of marchers pouring into Washington were intensified.

Even the man who sponsored legislation to pay the soldiers' bonus—Rep. Wright Patman (Dem.) of Texas—moved to end the national veterans' trek here. He acted on the basis that the bonus-seekers were making progress in their fight for a showdown in Congress on the bonus bill and that further assembly here was unnecessary.

He had 118 signatures to his petition calling for a vote on the measure, and requiring 145 signatures to force action. He predicted the remaining 27 names would be obtained today, assuring a vote June 13.

PATMAN IGNORED

Patman's telegraphed messages designed to stop the "on to Washington" movement of the veterans, however, apparently had little effect on the hordes reported en route here. Police admitted existence of a "real emergency" in the housing and food problem.

Officially nearly 2,000 veterans were encamped here today.

Approximately 1,000 newcomers were expected by police today, 400 from Pittsburgh who were dumped from Pennsylvania Railroad boxcars at Perryville, Md., 40 miles away; about 300 from Winchester, Va., and the usual number of small groups who have daily sifted in.

HURLEY CRITICISED

Open disappointment at the attitude of Secretary of War Hurley with regard to the veterans was expressed by Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police. He sought tentage for the uninvited guests from the War Department, and said he was advised by Hurley that the department would do nothing not ordered by Congress. Glassford said frankly that a "serious emergency" existed, and did not hide his apprehension for the future.

Pinchot Refuses Trucks For Bonus Veterans

Several hundred Allegheny County World War veterans today were reported planning to join the bonus march on Washington.

A contingent from Erie was reported en route here. Another group of 1,200 now gathered in Cleveland is reported by the Pennsylvania Railroad as expected here.

Gov. Pinchot announced at Harrisburg that the state would furnish no more transportation for bonus seeking veterans. Scores of letters and telegrams have been received at the Governor's office requesting state aid and transportation. None of the requests has been answered, but yesterday the Governor issued a statement in which he curtly refused all requests. The reason for his action, it was announced, was the overpopulated condition of the veterans' camps in Washington.

As the Workers' Ex-Service Men's League, Pittsburgh Post, reported through its secretary, C. L. Constantine, that 600 were being organized, Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh announced "Reds" would not be tolerated. Walsh promised all assistance possible to veterans going to Washington, but instructed motorcycle officers, assigned as escorts, to arrest every Communist mingling with veterans.

Constantine established league headquarters in Fifth avenue, Uptown, a week ago. Associates at the headquarters, which is in a Greek clubroom, said Constantine is treasurer of the International Labor Defense, Communistic organization with headquarters in the Lyceum Building.

"Strip" organizers say they expected to recruit 100 marchers Monday at Thirteenth street and Liberty avenue. They will board freight trains at Sharpsburg, Rankin, Homestead, Duquesne and Braddock veterans indicated they would leave today.

REDS ORGANIZE

More than 100 marchers were being organized at Washington, Pa., by the Workers' League, by a committee including Fred Siders, organizer for the National Miners' Union, a Communistic organization. A meeting was held last night. Circulars of the league, bearing applications returnable to headquarters at No. 1 Union square, Room 715, New York, N. Y., were circulated.

Prepared to serve 500 veterans, Dr. S. K. Hall, commander of Sharpsburg Post, American Legion, and Councilman Leo Horstman, reported only 30 bonus seekers arrived last night.

FILM STARS SEE CAFE HOLDUP

HOLLYWOOD, June 3.—(INS.)—Crowded by scores of motion picture celebrities the Brown Derby cafe was held up and robbed early today by an unmasked scar-faced bandit who escaped with $1,000.

The guests watched in amazement as the bandit took $200 from the cashier and $800 from M. L. Hirshtein, a guest, who was seated in a nearby booth.

The cafe is owned by Herbert Somborn, who was the second husband of Gloria Swanson. He operates a string of cafes in Hollywood and nightly many film chatterers assemble in them to dine and gossip.

A few minutes before he held up the Brown Derby the same bandit entered the Pig N' Whistle cafe and with similar boldness robbed the cashier of $600, police reported.

REDS TO MEET AT PLAYGROUND

While police were refusing Communist organizations permits for parades and meetings, except in North Side parks, representatives of the Metal Workers Industrial League, a Communist group, secured a permit from Public Works Director Edward G. Lang, for a meeting Monday at 5 p. m. at Ormsby playground.

The site, Twenty-second and Carson streets, will be patroled by police, Supt. P. P. Walsh announced. They will not molest the meeting unless it is disorderly.

Muncie Mayor Gets Pen Term for Rum

INDIANAPOLIS, June 3.—(AP.)—George R. Dale, mayor of Muncie, Ind., convicted recently of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law, today was sentenced to serve 18 months in prison and in addition was fined $1,000.

Frank F. Massey, his police chief, was given a sentence of 18 months and a fine of $1,000. Nine other members of the alleged conspiracy were given sentences ranging from 60 days to 18 months.

Cowboy, Rich Bride Parents of Boy

DENVER, Col., June 3.—(AP.)—A baby boy has been born here to Mr. and Mrs. Claude E. (Dutch) Foster, it was learned today.

Mrs. Foster, formerly Miss Edith Lippincott, wealthy Philadelphia society girl, was married to Foster, a Denver rodeo performer, following an elopement in Arizona two years ago. The Fosters are living at the L. C. Phipps, Jr., polo stables, where Foster is caretaker.

Downtown Building Damaged by Flames

Fire, believed to have been caused by an overheated motor, spread through the elevator penthouse of the 12-story Westinghouse Building, Penn avenue and Ninth street, and resulted in damage estimated at $500 early today.

Five cleaners, riding in an elevator, discovered the flames and summoned Joseph Greil, of 123 Spring street, the night watchman. Greil was burned slightly about the face when he attempted to extinguish the blaze.

Mystery Gifts of Jewels Worry Benefited Couple

CLARION, Pa., June 3.—(AP.)—An anonymous gift-giver is making Mr. and Mrs. John Neely, of Wentling's Corners, richer, but puzzled and uneasy.

Since Halloween, 1928, they have received presents of jewelry three times. They have no idea who is their benefactor.

Although reassured in an unsigned note in one of the packages that they need not fear to wear the gifts—that they were given in return for a favor done to the donor by Mrs. Neely—the Neelys have no recollection of ever having bestowed any unusual favor on anyone.

The gifts include a man's watch, a woman's mesh bag, a woman's diamond ring, a man's diamond ring, a man's ruby ring and a woman's white gold pendant set with two diamonds.

Bandits Rob, Beat Jobless Man Here

Furloughed by the Pennsylvania Railroad at Philadelphia, James A. Ryan, 32, of 229 Alpine street, was beaten and robbed of $75, a watch and chain, by two Negro bandits at River and Federal streets early today. Ryan's injuries were treated at Allegheny General Hospital.

GOV. ELY'S SON WEDS JUNE 25

BOSTON, June 3.—(INS.)—Richard Ely, son of Gov. Joseph B. Ely, and Miss Louise Ludwick, of East Brady, Pa., will be married on June 25, shortly after the bride-to-be's graduation from Smith College, it was announced today.

Formal announcement of the engagement of the couple was made last July in Oil City, Pa. Miss Ludwick graduates from Smith College this month, while Ely completes his studies at Boston University law school next year.

The couple plan to live in Cambridge after the wedding.

AMELIA, MATE MEET IN FRANCE

CHERBOURG, France, June 3.—(AP.)—Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam, the only woman who has the distinction of having flown across the Atlantic alone, arrived from England this morning and met her husband, George Palmer Putnam, American publisher, who came from New York on the liner Olympic.

Mrs. Putnam crossed the channel from Southampton in the sumptuous motor yacht Evadne, owned by C. R. Fairey, president of the Royal Aeronautical Society. She arrived in Cherbourg harbor to discover that the Olympic had been delayed and she had beaten her husband to France.

With her were Fairey, Amy Johnson, noted British distance flier, and a number of friends. The Putnams left for Paris.

Mrs. Putnam was greeted here at the maritime station by the mayor.

GIRL TO TESTIFY FOR 'HYMIE'

CLEVELAND, June 3.—(AP.)—Peggy Myers, picked up by police yesterday, will offer "startling testimony" in the murder trial of "Pittsburgh Hymie" Martin, according to defense Attorney William E. Minshall. Martin is being tried a second time for the slaying of former Councilman William E. Potter.

Minshall said Miss Myers would "crack the testimony" of Fred Laub, custodian of the building in which Potter was shot to death February 3, 1931. Miss Myers was living in the same building with Betty Gray, missing state witness, directly under the suite in which Potter was slain.

Laub, the state's star witness, has identified Martin as the lessee of the suite in which Potter was lured to his death. Minshall's announcement that Miss Myers would be a defense witness came shortly after police released her following extended questioning.

Man Electrocuted, Wife, Child Burned

WYOMING, Ill., June 3.—(AP.)—A heroic, though futile effort of the wife and 5-year-old daughter of William Graevs, 35, to save him from electrocution, brought serious injuries of shock and severe burns to both yesterday.

Graevs was trying to pull down a radio aerial which had fallen across a high tension power line and the heavy current struck him down. Mrs. Graevs hastened to his aid and seized him about the waist, the little girl following.

Mrs. Carver, Hurt In Crash, Improved

MERCER, Pa., June 3.—The condition of Mrs. Frank B. Carver, 54, 360 College avenue, Beaver, mother of Jesse Carver, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph sports writer, injured in an auto accident yesterday, was reported considerably improved by Mercer Hospital attaches today.

Her son, John, and his cousin, David Carver, 17, of Fourth street, Beaver, were injured slightly. Her husband escaped unhurt.

poor under the pretense of soaking the rich, instead of reviving prosperity, will soon pass poverty around.

And the blame for such a calamity will rest primarily upon those Senators who flinched from telling the American people the truth in a crisis when they are entitled to hear the truth from those who pretend to represent them in the Congress.

FRANKLIN MOVIE WILL TEST BLUE LAW

Theater to Operate Next Sunday on Commercial Basis; Outcome Awaited

FRANKLIN, Pa., June 3.—(AP.)—A test of the state blue law is promised in plans of the Orpheum Theater management to operate here next Sunday night.

Apparently encouraged by the large crowds that have attended free performances in the evenings of the past two Sundays, the management has advertised an evening performance for next Sunday with admission charged.

L. T. Houghton, the manager, refused to comment on what action he will take in the event of prosecution. There has been no opposition from the Ministerial Association as a body, he said.

It will be the first blue law test in this section of the Allegheny Valley, if the plans are carried out. The advertisements say the show will start at 8:45 p. m. after evening church services. There will be one performance.

Vigorous opposition to Sunday movies has been expressed by the Rev. Dr. Benjamin Bunn Royer, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, and officers of that church. The subject will be brought before the congregation next Sunday morning.

City officials refused to comment as to whether the ancient laws will be enforced.

CAMPBELL NEAR DEATH IN RACE

BROOKLANDS, England, June 3.—(AP.)—Sir Malcolm Campbell, competing in a 1,000-mile automobile race, had a narrow escape from death or serious injury today.

He was rolling along at about a hundred miles an hour when a rear tire burst and the friction set the tire afire. Campbell regained control and came into the pits. He said:

"That was a jolly close shave," "I almost turned over."

A short time before that Henry Leeson, driving a midget car in the same race, skidded, struck a parapet and was killed.

Judge of Elections Granted New Trial

W. C. Stewart, judge of elections in the Fifth District of the Twenty-fifth Ward, today was granted a new trial by visiting Judge Ivan J. McKenrick, of Cambria County. Stewart had been convicted of permitting 21 unauthorized persons to vote in the November election. Other members of the board were acquitted at the same time.

Four Men Held In Auto Lootings

Charged with plundering parked autos in the Schenley Farms district, William McKay, of 1413 Fifth avenue; Clarence Knable, of 1025 Forbes street, and David Brown, of the Florence Hotel, were held for court today by Magistrate McNamara at Center Avenue Police Station. Frank Covaleski, of the Florance Hotel, was held on a charge of receiving stolen goods.

PITMAN DENIES BALM CHARGES AT TRIAL

73-Year-Old Nephew of Inventor of Shorthand Sued by Ex-Housekeeper

By DOROTHY DUCAS
International News Service.

NEW YORK, June 3.—(INS.)—Clarence A. Pitman, 73-year-old nephew of the inventor of shorthand, today denied—nightshirt, sofa pillow and all—the story of his former housekeeper, Mrs. Louise Dixon.

From the witness stand in Supreme Court, Pitman declared his dead wife had welcomed the idea of his aiding Mrs. Dixon to become a scenario writer, which was why he paid the housekeeper $300 a month for seven years after Mrs. Pitman's death.

Pitman stopped his patronage when he married a second time, in 1927, and Mrs. Dixon now is suing for $69,000.

Those shocking episodes described by the auburn-haired housekeeper, who said Pitman tried to enter her bedroom on the night of his first wife's funeral, never occurred, Pitman testified.

Mrs. Dixon, on the stand, could not remember if there was a door to the library in which she slept the night Pitman pattered in in his nightshirt to be repulsed by sofa pillows.

Mrs. Dixon referred to the night after the first Mrs. Pitman's funeral when he tried to enter her room and Mrs. Dixon called him "insipid" and a "jail-bird." She saw him coming down the hall, a nervous wraith in a flapping nightshirt, and at first, she said, she thought he might be coming to consult the Encyclopedia Britannica. He often did that, she asserted, and it fact, it was their intellectual interests which drew them together.

Only once did they occupy the same bedroom, she testified. They were in the Berkshires on a trip, and Pitman said he was very tired and she agreed to a double room instead of connecting single rooms. But the room was as large as the courtroom, with Pitman's bed at one side and hers at the other, she went on.

She had a screen around her bed, she said, and Pitman, although not sharing her enthusiasm for the father and daughter arrangement, did no peeping.

High School Fire Laid to Ironers

KITTANNING, Pa., June 3.—Students of Dayton Vocational High School, who pressed their gowns following graduation last night, are thought responsible for the destruction of the Economics Building by fire at 5 a. m. today. It is believed an electric iron used in pressing the gowns was not switched off and started the blaze. The structure burned was erected in 1865 as a home for orphans of Civil War soldiers. Twenty sewing machines and other equipment was destroyed. The loss is estimated at $12,000.

Dogs, Truck Burn In Fireworks Blast

DAYTON, N. J., June 3.—(AP.)—Dennis Goldstein rambled along in the early dawn today, a peaceful ride from Lancaster, Pa., to Dayton on a truckload of fireworks.

Two mongrel dogs, snapped at the wheels. Something similed in the interior of the load. Mr. Goldstein leaped as roman candles bathed the driver's seat with starry glory. Pinwheels burned the mongrels and there the carcasses lay today along with that of the truck.

PINCHOT CURBS UTILITY TERMS

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 3... Charters incorporating [illegible] utility companies will not be approved for periods of more than 50 years, Gov. Pinchot said today. The Governor, who holds charters for more than 50 years to be dangerous to the public welfare.

The chief executive's attention to his efforts [illegible] 1931 regular session to [illegible] Public Service law amendments include, among other things, restriction to the life of charters of 50 years. The measure passed the House but was reported from committee in the Senate.

The Governor cited a successful fight on the part of [illegible] tionists to limit charters of [illegible] federal government to 50 years. That change, he said, was incorporated in the Federal Water Power act of 1920. Under this law the charters of the Cumberland River Power Company, Conowingo, and the Safe Harbor Water Power projects are restricted to that length of time.

In the Governor's statement in which he says he will not approve perpetual utility charters, he discusses action on the part of Kane Borough Council, limiting to 30 years the life of a franchise. Lower rates have resulted for consumers in the entire Keystone division of the West Penn Power Company as a result of the favorable franchise obtained by the municipality, the Governor added.

HEARING ENDS ON COAL BILL

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(AP.)—Nearly three months of Senate hearings on the Davis-Kelly bill for federal regulation of the bituminous industry ended yesterday with John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, appealing for its enactment.

Its legislative prospects were uncertain. Chairman Hatfield (Rep.), of West Virginia, said his sub-committee, which heard the voluminous testimony, will be called together this week to prepare its report. The full committee's report is expected to follow promptly.

To newspapermen, Lewis predicted that if the measure reaches the Senate calendar it will pass with a big majority in both houses. Unless Congress continues in session through the political conventions, however, its chances for consideration before adjournment are remote.

MALTA CHURCH ROW SETTLED

VALETTA, Malta, June 3.—(AP.)—Lord Strickland, prime minister of Malta, put an end to the long dispute between the state and the church by tendering an apology today to the bishops of Malta for his antagonism to the authority of the church.

As a result the bishops withdrew a pastoral letter issued in May, 1930, enjoining the Catholic electorate to refrain from voting for the Strickland party in the elections which were to have been held at that time.

The bitter dispute led to suspension of the constitution in June, 1930, and since that time Malta has been administered by the governor and commander-in-chief of the British forces.

In his apology the Premier himself a Catholic, wrote that he regretted he had clashed with the authority of the church in defending himself against his political opponents.

Kiwanis Club Votes Plea for Sales Tax

Demanding enactment of the manufacturers' sales tax and the eliminating of confiscatory taxes, the Kiwanis Club of Pittsburgh today was petitioning Congressmen and Senators of this district for immediate balancing of the government budget.

A resolution adopted yesterday at the Fort Pitt Hotel luncheon marked the first time in the association's history its members have voted a stand on a political matter. The resolution demanded elimination of unnecessary bureaus and agencies, and salary reductions by government executives in keeping with lessened incomes of businessmen. They opposed legislation for class relief, including immediate payment of the soldier bonus.

McGirr, 79, Feted By Judges, Lawyers

Judges of Common Pleas and Appellate courts and prominent members of the bar last night attended a dinner honoring the seventy-ninth birthday anniversary of Frank C. McGirr, former president of the Allegheny County Bar Association. More than 40 guests attended the dinner given in the jurist's home at 119 North Homewood avenue.

COUNCIL USES WALLACE ACT

City Council today had approved for payment warrants totaling nearly $3,000 for materials purchased and services under the Wallace act. This provides Council may approve bills at a later date, although original permission had not been given. The bills are the first so treated since Mayor Charles H. Kline and former Supplies Director Bertram L. Succop were indicted and convicted on charges of malfeasance in office.

It was one of the original claims of the Mayor's defense his approval to purchases on a number of occasions were legal because of the authority given Council by the Wallace act—passed in 1911—to approve the Mayor's action.

The bills included: Browning, King & Co., $66 for elevator operators' uniforms; Duquesne Light Company, $2,578.64 for power rendered Overbrook Borough before its consolidation with the city; Seven Baker Brothers, $78.50 for bread for the Bureau of Police; Knapp Brothers, $145.60 for fish for animals at the Highland Park Zoo, and J. Literan, $93.60 for truck hire.

Army Finds Demand For Sewing Women

A steady demand for women and girls to do sewing by the day is reported by Mrs. D. Edwin Miller, director of the Salvation Army employment bureau. She also said that the bureau has succeeded in placing a number of typists and now is seeking piece or day work for others. Mrs. Miller is chairman of the woman's organization in the Army's drive for $112,500.

DEBTS LINKED WITH ECONOMIC CONFERENCE

War Obligations Bound Up In Program for Parley With U. S., British Stand

LONDON, June 3 (AP)—It was indicated in authoritative British quarters today that this country's war debts and reparations [illegible] bound up closely with the program of a proposed world economic conference [illegible] United States [illegible] after the meeting [illegible] Lausanne.

This source referred [illegible] statement by Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, which was published today, [illegible] that such an expression [illegible] cabinet member usually [illegible] considered to be an expression [illegible] the government. Chamberlain said:

"I am sure that such an economic conference as is proposed should have the widest possible program because it is exceedingly difficult to separate the factors involved and to say that any of them can be dealt with successfully while others are ignored."

Police Loss

JAMES KENNEDY

James, 3, who died in his home, 3116 McClurg street, as police screeched from their station house with oxygen that the father, Thomas Kennedy, hoped would save him from pneumonia.

Grandi Urges Cancellation Of Debts in World Crisis

ROME, June 3 (AP)—The world must act quickly, Foreign Minister Dino Grandi told the Senate today to meet a situation "which threatens to become a real crisis in civilization."

Debts and reparations must be cancelled, he asserted, and there must be "wide application of the principles of the Hoover debt proposals" to halt a depression which is steadily getting worse and to set the economic machinery to functioning again.

He called upon the statesmen of the world to "lose no time in forming a united front of will and sane courage, for impatient peoples cannot wait any longer."

In urging cancellation of the debt heritage, he repeated that Italy is "willing to fulfill its obligations to the utmost limit of its capacity," but he asserted that "these limits are constituted by the payments which we, in our turn, receive."

SEABURY RAKED BY ROOSEVELT

ALBANY, June 3 (INS)—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt issued a sharp statement today declaring it to be the duty of the Hofstadter committee to present the evidence against Mayor James J. Walker to the Governor if the evidence "warrants" such action.

Roosevelt declared "it is time for the committee to stop talking and do something." He asserted:

"It is not the time for political sniping or buck passing."

The Governor's reference to "buck passing" was interpreted at the capitol as a direct slap at Samuel Seabury, counsel to the Hofstadter committee, for the latter's insinuation that Roosevelt should take the initiative and request a copy of the evidence concerning Mayor Walker.

NEW YORK, June 3 (INS)—Mayor James J. Walker came back today from the mayors' conference at Detroit, smiling and unworried.

"I'm not worried about this thing—I never was."

So he told newspapermen at Grand Central Station, referring to the Hofstadter legislative investigation and the charges demanding his removal from office which are expected to be filed with Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt by Seabury or some other agency.

Meanwhile Seabury was en route by automobile to Washington, Pa., where he will receive an honorary degree tomorrow.

Petty, Noted Doctor, War Hero Ends Life

PHILADELPHIA, June 3 (AP.)—Dr. Orlando H. Petty, one of the only two doctors who hold Congressional Medals of Honor, in dead today from a pistol shot which detectives are convinced was self-inflicted. He was 58.

With Dr. Joel T. Boone, White House physician, he held the congressional award and in addition had won numerous other decorations including the Distinguished Service Cross, the French Croix de Guerre with palm and the Italian War Cross.

KILLS GIRL, DIES IN VOLCANO

HILO, Hawaii, June 3 (AP)—Pele, dreaded fire goddess of Hawaiians, has claimed a human sacrifice of love and despair in her traditional home, the lava-filled firepit of Halemaumau.

Clasping in his arms the body of the girl who had spurned his love, William Nunes, a young Portuguese, leaped yesterday into the deep pit of the world's largest active volcano. He apparently had slain the girl, Margaret Enos, before hurling himself into the lava-filled crater where some believe the ancient Hawaiians once offered human sacrifices to appease Pele's wrath.

Their bodies lay today side by side, shrouded in sulphurous fumes 800 feet below the brink of the pit on the slopes of Kilauea.

A blood-stained automobile was found on the brink of the fire pit. In it lay an automatic pistol and a note, which read:

"Ten minutes to eight. Margaret died instantly. She did not suffer. And now I must pay."

PATROLMAN W. W. HUNNELL

'Uncle Bill' Hunnell To Give Safety Lecture

The assignment of Traffic Officer W. W. "Uncle Bill" Hunnell to give safety talks in city playgrounds this summer under auspices of the Better Traffic Committee and Bureau of Recreation was announced today by Traffic Inspector Jacob Dorsey.

During the spring school semester Hunnell, together with Traffic Officer F. F. "Uncle Frank" Meyers, gave 461 talks in 228 schools before a total audience of 161,232, Dorsey said.

Coasting Accident Causes Boy's Death

FARREL, Pa., June 3.—Injuries received on March 13 in a coasting accident caused the death of Michael Grande, 9, son of Angelo Grange, merchant, yesterday.

EXTRA SESSION OPPOSED

HARRISBURG, June 3 (AP)—The Harrisburg Telegraph says today that rural leaders of the Legislature are sounding out sentiment on a proposal to ask Gov. Pinchot "to go slow" before calling another session of the Legislature that might result in increased taxes.

A canvass of virtually all members of the Legislature in Central Pennsylvania is being conducted by telephone, the Telegraph adds. The activity follows a conference Wednesday at which Republican organization leaders are reported to have agreed with Gov. Pinchot and his advisers as to the need of another session.

It precedes two critical conferences Monday. The first will be a discussion of relief needs by the legislative group that put through the Talbot bill last December. The second will be a re-sitting of Gen. Edward Martin and organization chieftains with Gov. Pinchot and his cabinet.

Curfew to Sound For Children of Sharpsburg

Sharpsburg's old curfew law, which has been forgotten for the past six years, will again be enforced, starting Monday, the borough's police committee ruled last night.

The water works whistle, which will serve as the curfew "bell," will ring out at 9:45 every night. Previously it was sounded at 8:45 standard time.

Curfew will be for the children only. But Police Chief Sam Fair ordered his men that none be permitted to loiter on the streets after midnight.

The members of the committee are: Councilmen Joseph Tarasi, chairman; Leo Horstman and John Lennon.

THIRTY ROUTED BY FUMES

Thirty persons, including a number of children were forced to flee their apartments in pajamas early today by carbo bisulphide gas fumes when a pipe in the refrigeration plant burst in the Central Square apartments, Mt. Lebanon.

The families, none of whom was affected by the gas, were aroused by Mrs. Frank Lock, superintendent of the building.

Several were aided to the street by Assistant Fire Chief Dave Hasley and Patrolman James Smith.

Bernard M. Grant, his wife and daughter Betty, occupants of the third floor, refused to leave.

Dr. and Mrs. John A. Meisel, a dentist, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Martin, spent the night in automobiles in front of the building.

KING HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

LONDON, June 3.—(INS)—Amid many signs of national rejoicing, King George of England today celebrated his sixty-seventh birthday.

Royal salutes of 21 guns were fired in London and at all naval and military stations throughout the British empire, and flags were flown from all public buildings for the event. Ships at all British naval ports were gaily bedecked with bunting. Messages from all over the world poured into Buckingham Palace, from heads of many states, congratulating the King.

The King and Queen motored to Epsom Downs to see the Oaks, a classic known as the "Ladies' Derby," and a birthday luncheon party was planned to be held in the grandstand.

Hurt, Circus Star Loses 1,000-to-1 Chance for Life

PHILADELPHIA, June 3—(INS)—The roar of the crowd as he performed some hair-raising acrobatic feat under the "big top" will sound no more for little Julio Olvero.

Ever since he broke his neck in a fall at the final performance of Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Baily's circus here Saturday night, the wiry little Mexican had clung tenaciously to his "1,000 to 1" chance for life. Many a time he whispered to his brother and partner in their act, Carlos, 25, two years his senior, that he would soon be back in circus clothes again.

But yesterday he died.

Olvero had been a trouper ever since the age of 5, and he had been billed with his brother for the past seven years as "The Mexican Wonders."

ADMITS SUING FOR BLACKMAIL

PARIS, June 3.—(INS)—Mrs. Constance Reid Netcher, divorced wife of Irving Netcher, millionaire Chicago businessman, came forward today with the revelation she was one of the two unnamed American women who recently sent Illes Brody to a British jail on charges of blackmail.

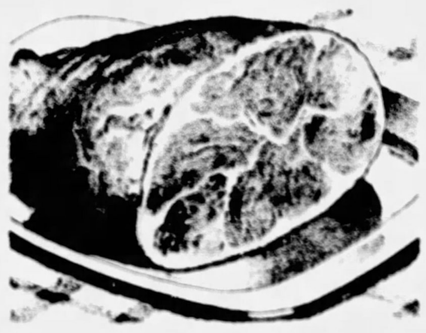
The other woman, she said, was her sister, Mrs. Mildred Burke, Brody, a former New York free lance writer, was convicted in Old Bailey Court, London, after Mrs. Netcher and Mrs. Burke had given evidence against him.

During the entire proceedings, their names were kept secret, identified only as "Mrs. B." and "Mrs. C.," they charged that Brody had demanded money from them under threats of discrediting their reputations.

McCann Quality Costs No More!

Cut from Government Inspected Meat!

Fresh HAMS



small 8 to 12 pound ones!

Here's the nearest thing to chicken you ever tasted . . . tender little fresh hams cut from home-dressed young porkers. One of them will make a wonderful dinner served hot with sweet potatoes and apple sauce: and there will be plenty left for slicing cold and for sandwich making.

Whole or half hams at this price

from fancy steer beef

There are grades of beef just as there are grades in other food commodities. One taste of a McCann chuck roast will tell you it's the finest meat to be had . . . the price is a result of a good buy and the McCann policy of passing along a saving to our customers. A chuck roast can be pot-roasted.

Roasts cut to any size

Baked the Boston way. Medium size!

McCanns Favorite COFFEE
3 lbs. 55c
Do you like sweet, mild, fresh coffee flavor? Then serve Favorite! It's mildly-flavored and economically priced besides. Three pounds makes 110 cups of coffee at just a half cent a cup!

Complete plate meals served daily for 40c
For just 40 cents you can enjoy a plate meal consisting of a meat, two fresh vegetables, rolls and butter, dessert and coffee in McCanns downtown cafeteria 10 A. M. to 8 P. M.

New York Sharp CHEESE
lb. 39c
The secret of the zestful, bitey flavor of McCanns New York sharp cheese lies in the fact that it's more than a year old. Good with pie! Delicious in rarebits and macaroni!

Fillets of Fresh HADDOCK
lb. 15c
Large, firm fillets cut from fine, fat fresh fish. Depend on McCanns to supply you with fish! Fish from McCanns is always fresh, fairly priced and satisfactory in every way.

Freshly Made Mayonnaise
pt. jar 29c
Perfectly blended . . . perfectly seasoned! Freshly made just as it's sold in McCanns big, clean kitchens! Why go to all the trouble of making your own? It's economical enough!

Pure Granulated SUGAR
25 lb. bag $1.00
Why not put in a supply of sugar at this low price. There's no telling when it will be this cheap again. Packed in immaculately clean white cotton bags!

Long Island DUCKLINGS
lb. 22c
The "F. C. H." tag on these ducklings identifies them as genuine aristocrats . . . bred on the largest duck farms in the world. Ten to twelve weeks old; weigh from five to six pounds.

McCanns RAISIN PIE
ea. 25c
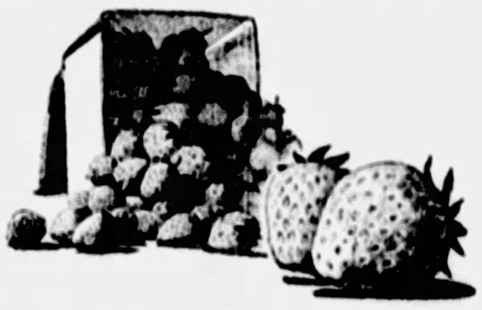
Crumbly-tender, oven-browned crusts brimful of luscious raisins . . . that's a McCann raisin pie. Breathes there a man who doesn't love it? Large size . . . cuts 7 generous slices!



Strawberries

are going fast at McCann's price

2 quarts 29c

To see these berries is to know why the best is cheapest in the end! Each box of McCann's strawberries is turned out and carefully checked for quality . . . we see to it that the berries in the bottom of the box are just as nice as those on top.

SEEKS BACK PAY FROM CITY

A city employe who [illegible] never was given his formal [illegible] charge from the city nurse[illegible] day demanded back pay [illegible] J. A. Holt, of 1510 Garfield avenue, North Side, informed Council he was hired at the [illegible] sery March 2, 1931, and worked steadily until October, [illegible] year. Then he said he was told by U. N. Arthur, of the Civil Service Commission, he would be given employment every other week. Holt wrote Council today:

"Since that time I have been given nothing but promises. All negotiations from the present time will be handled by my attorney."

Holt also has a claim against the United States government for back pay allegedly due him since 1899 when he served in the Quarter Master Corps as a civilian tenant. He was never paid and was discharged and claims $[illegible] back pay.

REPORT READY ON TUBE FUMES

The Board of County Commissioners was to be given a report late today on finding of the city carbon monoxide survey committee relative to presence of carbon monoxide fumes in the Liberty Tunnels. Dr. Charles B. Maits, chairman, said.

The report will be given the commissioners following a meeting in Dr. Maits' office. Dr. Maits, city health director, said the survey throughout the city was nearing completion and a final report would be ready within the next few weeks. Investigators have been testing density of carbon monoxide fumes at various street intersections throughout the downtown section. The United States Bureau of Mines, Mellon Institute of Industrial Research and the University of Pittsburgh collaborated in the survey.

Boy Scouts Plan Oakmont 'Camporee'

Boy Scouts and their leaders from East Boroughs Council will hold their annual "Camporee" at "Dark Hollow," Fifteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue, Oakmont, tomorrow night. The scouts will pitch camp tomorrow afternoon.

In the evening the program calls for story telling, singing and Indian dances around the camp fire. Church services are scheduled for 9:30 Sunday morning.

Greensburg Rejects Fire Station Bids

GREENSBURG, Pa., June 3.—[illegible] Council has rejected [illegible] submitted for the construction of a new fire station in the Seventh Ward because they were too high. The architect has been instructed to revise plans in order to lower construction costs.

FUNDS NEEDED TO FEED POOR

What would happen if the welfare activities among the poor and hungry that Father Cox of old St. Patrick's takes care of every day came to a sudden stop?

Father Cox

Of course this isn't going to happen but with other welfare agencies running completely out of funds the question is food for thought. Father Cox has a daily breadline of approximately 3,000 hungry men and boys. On top of that he fills the baskets every day of hundreds of families that otherwise would be starving. He provides clothing for those that need it—in fact the ramifications of his activities among the poor reaches in a hundred directions. And activities of this character require money. Father Cox is never sure as to where he is going to get the necessary funds to buy tomorrow's food for his hundreds of dependents. He is $25,000 in debt. Consequently he needs money and needs it badly.

Father Cox acknowledges that the Sun-Telegraph is of great aid to him and his work. He has already received a gratifying sum from this newspaper as a contribution to his activities. For every subscription that comes in on the special home delivery blank herewith printed and for every subscription otherwise secured through the efforts of the father of the jobless" and his aides, Father Cox gets a liberal commission in cash which is employed to furnish food and clothing to his army of destitute men, women and children. Here is your opportunity to help a more than worthy cause and at the same time bring a GOOD newspaper to your home.

Wealthy Baltimore Husband Divorced

LAS VEGAS, Nev., June 3.—(INS.)—On grounds of cruelty, Josephine Placone Lord today had divorced Llewellyn Williams Lord, said by attorneys to be a member of a wealthy Baltimore (Md.) family.

Penna. Oil Leader Sees Business Gain

BRADFORD, Pa., June 3.—(INS.)—Revealing that Bradford residents receive a monthly income of $1,757,000, of which 62 per cent remains in local banking institutions, and that at the present time there are 118 strings of tools running in the Bradford-Allegheny oil fields, T. P. Thompson, Jr., leading oil producer, went on record with the assertion that business will receive a better outlook in the near future.

Thompson declared that the oil industry, which recently underwent "the most severe housecleaning that the industry has ever known," may lead the country out of the depression and enable Bradford to be one of the first cities to return to normalcy.

GREEN BLAMES TRADE EXPERTS

MANHATTAN, Kan., June 3.—(AP.)—Failure of business experts to plan for expansion of buying power and enlargement of the home market was blamed in an address yesterday by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, for the present economic situation.

The labor leader told the graduating class of Kansas State College that instead a false policy of displacing workers with machinery was followed and that the challenge to education's forces is to right that wrong.

Wider diffusion of created wealth and reductions in the working week and day were advanced by Green as pressing needs.

Man Jailed for Stealing Backstop

SHARON, Pa., June 3.—Because he stole the wire from a backstop at the Patagonia baseball field, John Bella, 52, was sentenced to 30 days in the Mercer County jail by Alderman W. C. Applegate, Sharon restaurant proprietor.

Waynesburg Man Robbed of Jewelry

WAYNESBURG, Pa., June 3.—(AP.)—Theft of diamond rings, pearls and other jewels valued at $600 was reported to Waynesburg police by Nick Thomas, Waynesburg restaurant proprietor.

TO FLY ROUTE OF WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(AP.)—A dawn-to-dusk flight over the route covered by George Washington in his travels—including the Pittsburgh district—will be made next month by Maj. James H. Doolittle to commemorate the part played by the first President in founding the United States postal system.

The flight, planned by the National Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, will be made by the holder of the transcontinental speed record during the anniversary celebration of the founding of the postal service on July 26.

Doolittle expects to demonstrate the great advance made in transportation by covering some 3,000 miles in one day—a distance which would have required about 150 days in Washington's time.

Starting at Kittery, Me., the proposed route will include Boston, Providence, Newport, New London, New Haven, New York, Brooklyn, Hackensack, Morristown, Princeton, Trenton, Philadelphia, Germantown, Valley Forge, Brandywine, Baltimore, Annapolis, Washington, Alexandria, Mount Vernon, Fredericksburg, Wakefield, Yorktown, Williamsburg, Richmond, Winchester, Pittsburgh, Schenectady, Albany, West Point, New York and Newark.

Excavators Find Post-Glacial Skull

TORONTO, Ont., June 3.—(AP.)—The well preserved skull of a post-glacial buffalo, of the type which roamed this section many centuries ago, was found in an excavation yesterday. Archaeologists estimated that the skull may be 20,000 years old and claimed the find as one of the most notable in years.

LOCK BUILDERS NEAR RECORD

CHARLEROI, Pa., June 3.—Headed for a record, United States engineers today announced the new $2,000,000 Lock No. 4 for tow lockings on the Monongahela River at Roatraver, would be completed by August 30, two months ahead of schedule.

Last night the last of the concrete work was completed on the second section of the new dam, and today began the work of driving steel piling for the third section, which will line the chamber of the lock and dam.

With good weather and favorable river stage, every day has been made on the work now approaches completion in 19 months. Only once has high water has interrupted progress. A full crew has since been employed by the Drake Construction Company to finish the job, which will be the most modern in Pittsburgh district waters.

The force of form builders, carpenters, mechanics and laborers workers will be increased as soon as the cofferdam for the third section is completed and drained.

The new locks measure 900 feet, sufficient to handle an entire tow of eight barges with a single locking operation.

Fathers Join Sons' Quarrel; 1 Killed

MORRISTOWN, Tenn., June 3.—(AP.)—Two fathers took up a fight of their sons over a love affair last night and one was killed and the other was imprisoned on a charge of homicide.

William M. Raines, 32-year-old farmer, and John Senter, a neighbor, came upon the youths battling over attention young Raines had been paying to the other's sister. Shots were fired and William Raines fell dead.

LEGION VETS ASK CITY DONATION

Request of the American Legion convention committee here for a $7,000 donation to the decorating work in conjunction with the annual state conclave here August 28, 29, 30 was referred today to the Law Department for an opinion.

Should the donation be given there can be no competitive bidding on the decorations, the Legion communication said, because the Legion insignia and decorations are exclusive and protected by law against any manufacturer except designated by the National Legion organization.

The committee requested the warrant for the donation be paid to Raymond G. Flynn, 620 North Canal street, official decorator for the convention.

Several months ago First Assistant City Solicitor Thomas M. Benner ruled Council had no authority to donate taxpayers' money to conventions.

BACK-TO-FARM MOVE PUSHED

A back-to-the-farm movement was under way today as a means of aiding destitute families.

John F. Roth, president of the South Side Advancement Association, announced that the association had indorsed a plan suggested by John M. Phillips by which the State of Pennsylvania would allow part of its thousands of acres of forests and those farms which have been taken over for taxes to be tilled by the unemployed needy.

Mr. Phillips, former chairman of the State Board of Game Commissioners, today was touring the state to inspect available lands.

Mr. Roth said that one suggestion was that the unemployed might be set up on the farms by relief funds and public subscription.

Approve Bond Loan For Brackenridge

HARRISBURG, June 3.—(AP.)—The Department of Internal Affairs today had approved two bond issues totaling $40,000.

One issue of $30,000 is for Unity Township school district, Westmoreland County, for a public school building, and the other issue of $10,000 is for Brackenridge Borough, Allegheny County, for erecting and operating a water works.

2 Boys Hurt in Fall Through Window

Fred Malvito, 16, of 812 Lamont street, and Louis Marone, 16, of 18 Congress street, were treated at Mercy Hospital early today for lacerations to their wrists suffered when they fell through a window at the Chatham Street Y. W. C. A. while wrestling in the rear of the building.

CATHOLICS JOIN IN POPE'S PLEA

Special services are being held in all Catholic churches today in response to the Pope's recent call to the world for eight days of prayer and penance to save itself from "still graver evils than are threatening."

Sermons dealing with economic conditions marked the services in St. Paul's Cathedral, Epiphany and St. Patrick's churches, with special masses in all churches. The papal encyclical adjured the parishioners to save money that it might be given to the poor.

Tire Station Open From 7:30 A. M. Until 9 P. M.

Present prices of Sears Tires are the lowest ever quoted, and to add to that a SALE of HEAVY DUTY ALLSTATE tires is indeed an event. Buy 4 for your car now. If your present tires are good—buy 4 and place them away until needed. Such prices on this tire will never be quoted again.

The name of ALLSTATE is known from Maine to California. Allstate's quality is known the world over. But just to keep proving to ourselves that we have the greatest tire on earth for the money, we made this recent test: 251 tires, including the 4 biggest selling brands in America, were recently given exhaustive laboratory analyses, gruelling road tests. More than 2,000,000 tire miles were covered—over mountains, through desert lands—through snow, mud, ice, sand and gravel—day and night driving—as high as 800 miles a day. ALLSTATE WAS PRONOUNCED THE WINNER, ranking far ahead of every tire in the test.

It costs you nothing to try ALLSTATE TIRES. They are backed by a guarantee of absolute satisfaction or your money refunded.

MOVIE CONTEST TO AID BUDGET BALANCING

All Wishing to Compete for Sun-Telegraph's $2,500 Prizes Must Be Enrolled

Balancing the budget is not only a governmental problem but is also a serious problem in many homes throughout the nation. Pittsburgh like all other cities, is feeling the depression and hundreds of families are making strenuous efforts to balance their budgets affected by loss of employment or decreased income.

The Sun-Telegraph, however, is launching a plan that will, in a way, balance the budgets for a lot of families in this reading area.

$2,500 IN PRIZES

The Sun-Telegraph is going to give away $2,500 in cash prizes to readers who submit the largest number of correct answers in the new and unique Movie Lovers' Contest. This test will consist of a series of puzzle pictures for which readers are to find the correct titles. With each picture a list of popular movie titles will be printed and within this list can be found the correct answers to the daily contest pictures.

It's going to be a fascinating game offering an opportunity to win as high as $500 in one prize and other prizes of $250, $175, $125, $100, three at $75, seven at $50, 10 at $25, 10 at $15 and so on until at least a list of 148 prizes disposes of the entire $2,500.

In this contest prizes will be awarded solely on the number of correct answers submitted, the highest scores getting the awards. Contestants are requested not to make any unnecessary outlay of money for original or elaborate ideas in submitting their answers —just send in the pictures and your answers at the end of the contest.

STARTS MONDAY

The Movie Lovers' contest will start Monday with contest picture No. 1—not the picture appearing in the display advertising today. To enter, however, you must be enrolled or registered in the office of the Sun-Telegraph. There is a blank form for this purpose in another part of today's Sun-Telegraph. Use this blank or make a copy of it if you wish.

But, by all means, enter today. You'll get a lot of fun out of the contest with an opportunity to win big and much needed cash awards. Don't delay. Send in your registration blank today.

Parking Receipts Increase in May

Parking receipts at the various city wharves increased $685.40 to $4,868.70 in May compared to $4,183 for May, 1931, City Treasurer Richard W. Thompson revealed today in his monthly report to Council. Similar increases have been noted for several months since Thompson took over operation of the parking wharves from the Department of Public Safety.

GROUP TO STUDY TABLELANDS

Pittsburgh businessmen, interested in developing the Allegheny Tablelands as part of this city's trading area and a recreation center, will leave here June 16 for a two-day study of the region, under auspices of the Allegheny Tablelands Council of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce. Joseph T. Miller, council chairman, announced yesterday.

Plans for the trip call for stops at Morgantown, Kingwood and Terra Alta, W. Va., and Oakland, Mountain Lake Park, Accident and Grantsville, Md., and Uniontown, Meyersdale, Berlin and Somerset, Pa. Meetings will be held at various points along the route where exhibitions of local products will be on display.

Among those who will make the trip are President Thomas A. Dunn, and Frank C. Harper, manager of the Pittsburgh Chamber, Chairman Miller and representatives of the local radio stations, department stores, the University of Pittsburgh and industrial concerns.

ON THE AIR TONIGHT :-: 'Listening In' on Studios And Broadcasters :-: RADIO PROGRAMS

Address by W. R. Hearst On 'Painful and Painless Taxation' on WCAE

"Painful and Painless Taxation" is the topic of a radio address by William Randolph Hearst over a coast-to-coast network of the National Broadcasting Company including WCAE tonight at 10:45 o'clock. Mr. Hearst outlines a plan of taxation which would not lay a burden upon the poor or those of moderate means.

The address, originating in the studios of KFI, the Earle C. Anthony station, Los Angeles, is carried throughout the country over NBC networks and supplementary hookups [illegible] out the South, Northwest and West. Because of the nation-wide interest in this [illegible] to solve its tax problems and balance its budget, the address is scheduled for short wave broadcasting to foreign countries.

Erno Rapee, general musical director of the National Broadcasting Company, starts a new series of programs—a musical tour of the world—drawing a complete musical picture of each country visited, including everything from folk songs to grand operas and symphonies, on WCAE tonight at 10, when Madrid is visited. The programs will be presented weekly. A large orchestra will be heard throughout the series as well as instrumental and vocal soloists.

Program Pointers

Jean Wald and her girls' orchestra, frequently heard in broadcasts from Pittsburgh stations, presents a program of old and new tunes in dance rhythm from the studios of KDKA tonight at 10:45. The program includes the rhythmic "I Saw You Made the Night Too Long," "Crazy People" and "My Extraordinary Gal." On the same station at 8, Buddy Doyle, singing comedian, makes the first of a series of appearances as guest artist with Leonard Joy's orchestra and Allen Joslyn, master of ceremonies.

Miss Wald

Artells Dickson, singer of cowboy ballads and radio's leading exponent of western folk songs, is heard as guest artist during the Week-End Hour with Thelma Kessler, soprano; Jack Parker, tenor; Nat Shilkret's orchestra and the Kodak Ensemble on WJAS tonight at 9.

"Keep Away," a new tune by Fred Ahlert, is played on the air for the first time by Leo Reisman and his orchestra on WCAE tonight at 9:30.

A half-hour of dance music, from 11:30 until midnight, by Jean Goldkette's Casa Loma Orchestra from the Pitt Senior Hall at Hotel Schenley, is heard on WWSW tonight.

Gus Van, the Melody Man, pays tribute to the late Joe Schenck, for 21 years his stage partner and friend, when he sings "He's The King of a Pal" on WJAS at 9:45.

Fan Fare

Irma Glen, NBC organist, has declared for Freedom of Movement and now presents her programs wearing pajamas. Irma, by the way, when only 12 years old, was leading an orchestra of 12 men on Chicago theater stages.

Jacques D'Arrey's father has never seen or heard him perform. The young French tenor went on the stage against his parent's wishes but his radio work has met with approval although his father has yet to hear his son on the air.

Miss Glenn

Godfrey Ludlow, NBC violinist, spent four years in a German prison camp . . . With the exception of his last year he wasn't permitted to have his violin . . . Robert L. "Believe-It-or-Not" Ripley had 800 high school students as his guests during his broadcast the other night . . . Kelvin Keech, the NBC announcer who has a very persistant urge to travel, keeps away from the steamship and railroad terminals these days . . . Charlie Lyon, NBC announcer, would rather watch an airplane take off than eat . . . Ernie Hare sold books, pianos and baking powder before he discovered he had a voice . . . Graham McNamee is ga-ga-zy about apple pie . . .

Question Box

Over what station and at what hour is Hal Kemp now broadcasting? Where is his present engagement? M. C. F., New Kensington.

Kemp wires that he is broadcasting over a CBS Western network every Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 8:15 (Pittsburgh time), and over station KMBC daily at 2 p. m. and 1:30 a. m. (Pittsburgh time). He is playing an engagement at the Roof Garden of the Bellerive Hotel, Kansas City, Mo. Incidentally, the Columbia Western network includes KFCJ, KFAB, WIBW, KFH, WACO, KOH, KVOR, KOIN, KDYL, KGB, KOL, KLZ, KVI and KFPY.

Seibel on Network From Capital

The literary aspect of the life of George Washington will be revealed when George Seibel, literary and dramatic critic of the Sun-Telegraph, speaks over an NBC-WEAF network from the studios of WRC, Washington, D. C., on "George Washington Among His Books" at 4:30 p. m. tomorrow.

In his talk, heard in connection with the George Washington Bicentennial Anniversary Celebration, Mr. Seibel will discuss the contents of Washington's library, analyze the reasons for his literary tastes and enumerate the authors who provided the patriot's solace from his military and presidential activities.

Long's Sports Review On WCAE Tonight

James J. Long, sports columnist of the Sun-Telegraph, reviews and authoritatively comments on the week's activities in the world of sport on WCAE tonight at 7.

Cyrilla Tuite and Robert Topping, vocal soloists, are starred with David Levin's Orchestra during the Sun-Telegraph Nite Club of the Air on WCAE tonight at 11. Herb McGee is master of ceremonies.

A group of talented Pittsburgh youngsters come to the WCAE microphone at 4:45 today to present a half-hour program for the kiddies during the Sun-Telegraph Family broadcast.

Speaking from the editorial rooms of the Sun-Telegraph, Louis L. Kaufman, Globe-Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News, gives up-to-the-second flashes on news throughout the world at 9:05 a. m., 12:15 p. m., 2:30 p. m. and 6:30 p. m.

An interesting and educational program for boys of all ages is presented during the Sun-Telegraph Boys' Club broadcast on WCAE tomorrow morning at 11:45.

House Votes Medal To Spanish War Hero

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(AP.)—The House yesterday voted a medal of honor to Richmond Pearson Hobson, for leading the naval attack that sank the Merrimac in the fortified harbor of Santiago, Cuba, during the Spanish-American War.

Chippewa Chief Weds Princess

YAKIMA, Wash., June 3.—(AP.)—Chief White Eagle, of the Chippewas, and Princess Spotted Feather, of the Yakimas, were married last night, the culmination of a romance developed on the movie lots of Hollywood.

Among the guests was Gov. Roland H. Hartley, who saw the ceremony performed first in the Indian sign language by Chief Sit-on-the-Trail, of the Mohawks. A Christian wedding followed this time the principals using plain American names, Frank White Eagle and Agnes Winner.

Auto Kills Officer As Fire Jams Traffic

BETHLEHEM, Pa., June 3.—(AP.)—While directing traffic at a fire today, Capt. Moses Straus, of the Bethlehem Police Department, was struck and killed by an automobile. The car was driven by Douglas A. Rahn, of Easton.

Women said:

A fast working soap can't be safe!

BUT they didn't know about the New Oxydol then

● If sad experience with other soaps has convinced you that a soap able to soak dirt out quickly is too strong for colors and fine materials—try Oxydol. No longer need you spend extra time washing lingerie because you're afraid to use the same soap that whisks dirt out of sheets!

The New Oxydol's as mild as May—as kind to hands as it is to dainty things—yet it takes dirt out faster than any soap you've ever seen. Because it makes 50% more suds—richer, longer-lasting suds that float dirt out and hold it out so clothes are fresh and fragrant—clean-smelling suds that don't ball up or leave a scum.

Use it for dishes too. See how quickly those extra suds cut the grease—how easily they rinse off so dishes are sparkling clean. And remember that Oxydol softens water. Even the softest water turns hard when you put in dirty clothes or dishes.

Use enough to make rich suds—it dissolves instantly—and see how it lightens all your household tasks.

Trolley Service Critics Assail Byllesby Interests

COUNCILMEN WILL REFUND PART OF PAY TO CITY

PROTEST MADE BY NORTH BOROUGHS

Seek to Show Revenue Drain To Parent Company Hurts Trolley Firm; Delays Cited

Efforts are to be made by North Boroughs to show that the H. M. Byllesby & Co. interests are taking an excessive amount of revenue from the Pittsburgh Railways Company, causing the latter to curtail its service, William Walker, solicitor for Avalon Borough, said today.

An attempt was made yesterday to bring this out before Public Service Commissioner Samuel Walker, when testimony was taken on a complaint of the North Boroughs charging inadequate service, especially on the Bellevue-West View line.

OFFICIAL QUIZZED

C. S. Mitchell, vice president and controller of the Philadelphia Company, which with its subsidiaries, is controlled by the Byllesby interests, was asked if the Byllesby Engineering Company did not furnish supplies and do work for the Pittsburgh Railways Company. Mitchell testified he did not know.

Walker said efforts would be made to ascertain what relationship exists between the Pittsburgh Railways Company and the Byllesby company, and whether the latter has a contract to do repair and maintenance work.

Mitchell on the stand yesterday showed the Pittsburgh Railways Company revenues are on the decline. There was a deficit of $589,981 the first four months of this year, and a deficit of $889,000 in 1931. Revenues dropped from $24,000,000 in 1924 to $16,000,000 in 1931, he said.

CURTAILMENT CITED

Thomas Fitzgerald, vice president and general manager of the Railways Company, says a 10 per cent curtailment program was put into effect for 1932, which must now be increased to 15 per cent, on account of falling revenues.

Fitzgerald, asked concerning power rates charged the railways company by the Duquesne Light Company, could not give them, but said the contract was made in 1913 and has not been changed. Current is charged, he testified, as did also Mitchell, on a cost basis.

Attorney Walker said today there should be a reappraisement of the plant of the Duquesne Light Company and believes some action to have it done may be started.

Walker endeavored to obtain a continuance of the railways company hearing, in order to enable him to study the financial statements submitted by Mitchell, but Commissioner Walker said to go into such an investigation would take months and refused Walker's motion.

PASTOR SCORES DRY CRUSADE ATTACK

Dr. Orr Defends Appeal to G. O. P. Delegates Causing Church Meddling Charge

Charges by Charles Dorrance, coal operator and delegate to the Republican national convention from Lackawanna County, that prohibition propaganda now being sent out "is in line with the stand of Protestant churches in putting the pulpit into politics" were denied today by the Rev. J. Alvin Orr, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church. Dr. Orr had sent a letter to Dorrance who in his reply, attacked the ethics of the Presbyterian church in sending out the prohibition propaganda.

Dr. Orr branded Dorrance's statement as a misrepresentation of the truth. He said:

"I resent it with all the righteous indignation in the world."

LETTER TO DELEGATES

Dr. Orr said he had sent a letter and a pamphlet on prohibition to the Pennsylvania delegates to the Republican convention to be held in Chicago this month. He explained:

"The letter was sent as a representation of what friends of mine and friends of prohibition think. I sent it merely as an individual."

Asked whether the seal of the church was on the letter, Dr. Orr replied:

"I dictated the letter to my secretary and I cannot remember if the church seal was used."

DORRANCE FOR REPEAL

Replying to the letter from the minister, Dorrance wrote:

"There need be no question in your mind as to how I stand on the Eighteenth Amendment. The people elected me because I stood for repeal of the amendment, and I will stand for repeal at Chicago."

Dr. Orr said he had not received Dorrance's letter. He declined to reveal a copy of the letter which he had sent the delegates. He bitterly denounced attacks on prohibition and declared.

"In many of the wealthy homes you will find a cellar full of whisky."

2 Boys Found Hurt; Unable to Explain

Found injured in Forbes street, near Magee street, late yesterday, Sammy Reitter, 12, of 32 Reed street, and Willie Dixon, 13, a Negro, of 1819 Wylie avenue, were reported in a serious condition in Mercy Hospital today. The boys told police they were crossing the street when "something struck them." Police believe the boys were injured while stealing a ride on a street car.

PLAN DONATIONS TO AID BUDGET BALANCING

Willing to Do Share for Economy, Members Say; Stand of Kline Unknown

Assurance was given by City Councilmen today that part of their salaries would be relegated to the general city fund before the passing of 1932, as their contribution in attempting to balance the municipal budget.

Whether Mayor Charles H. Kline will do likewise could not be ascertained. Both the Mayor, his department heads and members of Council returned two weeks pay last November and December to the city coffers after issuing an order for all city employes to work without pay for a week each of the last two months of the year. All employes are being required to take a one-month's furlough during 1932.

Councilmen receive $8,000 annually, the Mayor $15,000 and department heads from $5,000 to $8,000.

Councilman Robert Garland said today:

"I pointed out during the budget session that Council should cut its salaries at that time, but the suggestion didn't meet with favorable action. I haven't changed my opinion since then."

COUNCILMAN P. J. M'ARDLE: Councilmanic salaries are protected by an Act of Assembly. We are not permitted to set up payrolls for any amount other than for the sums prescribed by law. What we can do is donate part of our salaries to the treasurer's office when we receive them. No doubt this will be done before the present year ends.

COUNCILMAN CLIFFORD B. CONNELLY:

I am sure Council will do its part in taking a salary cut the same as the other servants of the municipality. We donated two weeks' salary in 1931. No doubt this and more will be returned before the end of the year.

COUNCILMAN WILLIAM J. SOOST:

Why stop at Council? Why not demand that the County Commissioners and the highly salaried school officials take a blow from the financial ax as well. We are willing to do our share but I don't think it is fair to stop with Council. Have no fear that something won't be done before the year ends.

COUNCILMAN MICHAEL J. MULDOWNEY:

The majority rules. Whatever the majority does, you can rest assured I'll do.

COUNCILMAN HARRY A. LITTLE:

I'm sure Council will do what the public wants us to do.

President John S. Herron and Councilmen Charles Anderson are out of the city.

MINERS BALLOT ON PAY CUT

More than 2,000 miners, from four mines of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation, today were voting on acceptance or rejection of a proposed wage cut averaging 10 per cent. Mines involved are No. 2 at Castle Shannon, No. 3 at Mollenauer, No. 4 at Horning and No. 8 at Coverdale.

The demand for the reduction was made by the company under an agreement with the United Mine Workers last year, which provided that conferences of wage questions and working conditions be held every three months.

Drop Plan to Reopen Bank in Bellevue

Failing to raise sufficient capital to satisfy the requirements of the State Banking Department, efforts to reopen the closed Citizens Trust Company, of Bellevue, were dropped last night. Nearly 600 depositors of the bank, after hearing a report submitted by Thomas A. McNary, committee chairman, voted unanimously to discontinue plans for the reopening.

Congress Finishes Tax Job, All But Collecting Them

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

In balancing the budget it seems that Washington has used a rubber yardstick.

It has added up a lot of figures that balance. But it is going to be tougher to collect than a bootlegger's income tax.

This time the grocer didn't weigh his thumb. He put his elbow on the scales until he got the total he wanted.

Europe is delighted with our budget. That's enough to make us suspicious.

Right now we are after a billion dollars based on business profits.

That makes us like Simple Simon. If there is a whale in the pail he's ours.

92, ADVISES 'NIP' TO REACH 100

Joseph Funk, who had lived to be 92 yeas old without ever being inside a police station, was the guest of the officers at the South Side station yesterday. Patrolman Andrew Aul became acquainted with the aged visitor by meeting him every morning as he walked from his home, at 2832 Arlington avenue, to mass at St. Peter's Church, South Twenty-eighth and Sarah streets.

After carefully inspecting the station, Funk admitted it was "a pretty fine place," but said:

"You wouldn't need such a big place if it wasn't for prohibition."

His advice to patrolmen on how to live to be 100 was to drink a "snip" of whisky every morning.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

PALO ALTO, Cal., June 3.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Back here again today looking for Mr. Hoover's house. Saw a sign "To Let" on it, so that don't look any too nourishing for you Democrats. Had a talk with Herbert, not Herbert Hoover, but "the" Herbert. Herbert Fleischhacker, who is the J. P. Morgan, Owen Young, Carter Glass and Andy Mellon of the Pacific Coast. And he is one rich man who didn't start out by saying, "Well, I am an optimist." He said, "I don't know any more what's the matter with us, or what is going to happen to us than the U. S. Senate does." Imagine a big banker admitting that.

Yours, WILL.

Removal of Customs Office Held Likely

From all indications the customs office here will be consolidated in the near future with that of Philadelphia because of reduced appropriations, City Council was informed today by the United States Treasury. The notification was the Treasury's answer to a letter from Council as to the status of the local office.

Council asked officials in Washington to avert the consolidation because of the large amount of customs tolls received here and because of the hardship that would be wreaked on a number of employes who would be dismissed.

Three Injured When Auto Strikes Pole

Two sisters, their escort, were injured when the automobile in which they were riding in Shady avenue near Fifth avenue, skidded and crashed into a pole last night.

The victims, Rosaline Rosenfield, 23, and Helen Rosenfield, 22, both of 106 Whitfield street, and Ben Leventon, 25, of 4 Oakland square, driver of the car, were taken to Pittsburgh Hospital.

North Siders Fight Wabash Tube Deal

With a score of veteran members as "honor guests," the North Side Chamber of Commerce last night adopted resolutions protesting the expenditure of funds for the Wabash Bridge and tunnel project. Albert O. Horner, of the City Planning Commission, addressed the chamber on the proposed purchase. The program was observed as "old timers" night.

Man Held, 31 Routed In Dice Game Raid

County Detectives Philip Goldberg and John Burke interrupted a dice game in the basement of a building at Frankstown avenue and Oakwood street and ordered 31 players to leave, last night. Ben Gazzo, 32, who gave his address as "city," was arrested on a charge of operating a gambling house.

2,000 CHILDREN IN WASHINGTON PAGEANT

Brilliant Outdoor Spectacle Presented in Mt. Lebanon; To Be Repeated Tonight

By PENELOPE REDD

All Mt. Lebanon participated last night in the "George Washington" pageant given by 2,000 pupils of the elementary grades at the Washington School Athletic Field. The spectators overflowed to near-by hillsides. Houses with balconies overlooking the field were crowded, the brilliantly-clad players were grouped on the adjacent green, while tall poplar trees bound the spontaneous composition of spectators and actors into a series of shifting, vivid pictures.

Commencing with Sulgrave Manor and an Elizabethan episode, dancers attired in farthingales and doublets of yellow, orange and brown, established a sturdy English note.

Miss Redd

Then George Washington as a lad is seen "among the green Virginian hills" at Mt. Vernon. Blithe pickaninnies in multi-colored garments shower themselves onto the field, to be followed by a fine chorus singing spirituals. A Maypole dance with lambkins gamboling about in Georgian costumes of rose and blue and gold closed the epoch of Washington's boyhood.

COSTUMES BRILLIANT

An unexpected and entertaining episode was the third graders' version of the battle commanded by Braddock. As stubborn British red coats and frontiersmen, routed by the French and Indians, they scampered back to Fort Necessity with undignified haste. The costumes in this scene were particularly happy in color balance with the Indians effectively chromatic.

The greatest number of children in any one group was concentrated in Washington's army mimed by the fifth and sixth grades. As Washington, played by Charles Ruch, mounted on a truly noble white steed, observed those small figures in buff and blue and red going resolutely through their military drill, valor was re-created. Their maneuvering in the fast-gathering twilight, with the erect figure watching, summoned the fancy of loyal little ghosts moving on and on into time.

The pageant was concluded by Washington's triumphant entry into New York, his inauguration, and the succeeding festivities. In this episode the pictures produced a garden-like effect through the adroit manipulation of complicated color arrangements in the costumes.

BLEND INTO FLAG

The winsome second graders arrived in red, white and blue to blend by dancing, into the Stars and Stripes. The tiniest ones appeared in bevies as Miss Columbia escorted by duplicate Uncle Sams with toppers aspiring to the skies.

Walking about the field, putting a question here and there to a quaint or saucy or grave little person, one discovered that all of the children knew what they represented and what the pageant signified.

The annual pageant at Mt. Lebanon is a community affair anticipated with pleasure. Jeannette Blair plans and co-ordinates the whole; Jean Morrison and Lucille Nay arrange the dances; the costumes are designed under the direction of the art supervisor, Aileen McClain, and every mother in Mt. Lebanon has a hand in transforming her bairn into an historical accessory.

Mt. Lebanon has achieved a spendid community project which might well be emulated widely in this bicentennial year. The pageant will be repeated tonight at 6:30 p. m. at the Washington School athletic field.

GIRL AMONG 9 HELD IN QUIZ OF HOLDUPS

One Arrested at Hearing When Police Announce Cafe Robbery Solution

Eight men and a girl were held for further investigation today when arraigned in Morals Court after two of the men had been arrested as hold-up suspects, leading to the arrest of the girl and five of the other men in the Stone Garden Club, 14 Elm street.

The eighth man, Raymond Parker, 22, of 920 Collmbus avenue, was arrested in the courtroom this morning.

ALLEGE CONFESSIONS

North Side police arrested Charles Grundneber, 20, of 4086 Cabinet street, and Jacob Russell, 19, of 4029 Eden way, last night and said the pair confessed to holding up the Welcome Inn Barbecue on the Butler plank road, the Jacktown service station, a restaurant at 1808 East Ohio street, a pedestrian in Frankstown avenue and the theft of two autos.

Police said the youths told them the gun used in the restaurant holdup had been hidden in the Elm street club.

PISTOL SEIZED

There the police reported finding the gun and arresting Winifred Cavanaugh, 19, of 910 East Ohio street; Martin Jenkins, 17, of 1008 Sheffield street; Robert Pennington, 19, of 4 First avenue; Peter Antone, 21, of 1853 Bedford avenue; Midval Toomey, 33, of 609 Elm street; Joseph Jacoby, 27, of 72 Elm street. They were charged with being suspicious persons. A pistol, which police said Jenkins kicked under a sofa in the club, was seized by police.

At this morning's hearing, Antone admitted he was in charge of the Stone Garden club, where the others testified they had purchased drinks. Antone said the club was owned by Louis Stone, whose whereabouts he did not know.

Mrs. Mary Sunday, 910 East Ohio street, sister of the Cavanaugh girl, testified Raymond Parker, 22, of 920 Columbus avenue, came to her home this morning and told her of Winifred's arrest and gave her a revolver to keep while he went to court to aid the arrested girl.

Parker was called from the courtroom to the stand, and unable to explain the possession of the gun to the satisfaction of Magistrate Thomas D. Jones, was held for investigation with the others.

Xenia 'Grad' Called To Rochester Church

ROCHESTER, Pa., June 3.—The Rev. Chester T. R. Yeates, of Buffalo, graduated last month from the Pittsburgh-Xenia Theological Seminary, has been called to the pastorate of the First United Presbyterian Church, to succeed the Rev. Dr. W. B. Smiley, deceased.

Five Men Quizzed As Holdup Suspects

Five men are being held in the Butler state police barracks for questioning in connection with a series of robberies and holdups in the Allegheny Valley district.

The men held are: Alex Morris and Wasset Kravenko, both of R. D. No. 1, Cheswick; William Medsky, an Armetonia farmer; Ignatz Krivingnia and Fred Pojolski, of Bairdsford.

MRS. FERDINAND BAILEY MRS. JOHN JOY EDSON III

Pittsburgh society women, tarrying at the rail with ice cream cones, at the annual Sewickley Horse Show at Allegheny Country Club, closing tomorrow. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

What's what in sport costumes for the summer months may also be seen at the Allegheny County Horse Show, opening today and continuing tomorrow in the ring at Sewickley Heights for the benefit of the Animal Emergency Relief Association.

Cotton has burst into society, and several of the many crisp printed frocks seen yesterday at the show were of this fabric.

White felt hats, as well as the popular white Panamas were seen, but horn hats are being worn in coarse straw and also in knitted tuftoms of the Tyrolean berets.

Among those exemplifying fashion vogue was Mary Mason Mellon, who wore a white felt and brown kitten's ear hat.

Cotton Vogue

Mrs. James O. Flowers wore a charming green and white printed lawn dress with white touches at the neck and sleeves and her hat was of lemon straw.

Rebecca Mellon wore a white cotton frock printed in green and white and black. Its flounced skirt, white, and a white felt hat. Her sister Virginia chose a white cotton sweater and a powder blue skirt.

The Collin girls, Katherine and Georgianna, chose smart costumes. Their sun-tan frocks of chartreuse green, wide-ribbed pique had jaunty jackets of dark green flannel fastened at the neckline only. They chose white turbans to complete their costumes. With them in a sunny box was Mary Colwell Jennings in a white crepe dress and a red straw hat.

Madelaine Alexander chose a red and white printed cotton frock and a white felt hat, and Margaret Holdship wore a blue and white diagonally striped cotton frock with a red leather belt. In the same group was Virginia Willock, wearing a white crepe dress and a yellow jersey sweater and a white felt hat.

Mary Elizabeth Floyd chose a white silk jersey frock having a smart vest and back of green and white plaid silk.

Jersey Favored

Betty Childs chose apricot mesh with a beige hat, and Mrs. W. P. Roth, of San Francisco, wore a black crepe frock printed with a Paisley design and a black hat. With her was Mrs. Raymond Morris, of Coronado, Cal.

Sitting in a box chatting with friends were Jane Allderdice in a plaid and navy blue crepe frock and a navy blue beret, and Mrs. James McKay in a riding habit.

Mrs. Joseph M. Scribner chose a green tweed dress with a cape jacket and a green straw hat. With her were Louise and Phyllis Totten.

Among those in their cars parked by the ringside were Susan O'Neil, Mary Louise Bickford and Lydia Irish and Jane Marshall in a yellow crepe frock with a brown and yellow jacket and a brown hat and Rita Bornstraeger in a pink crepe frock.

Also at the ringside were Virginia Jones in a pink mesh knit and crepe frock and Betty Higgins in white crepe and Mrs. Alexander Laughlin Robinson in a green silk and Mary Franklin Robinson in white crepe with a blue and white striped cape.

Mrs. Morgan B. Schiller chose an old blue linen lace frock and a leghorn hat. Mrs. T. J. Hillard a navy blue and white printed dress. Mrs. Arthur P. Woolfolk a pink and red printed dress and a white hat.

Colorful Costumes

Evelyn Evans was smart in a beige crepe skirt and a blouse of navy blue and red crepe having the sleeves of the red. With her was Clodagh McCune in white crepe.

A yellow crepe suit was the choice of Mrs. Francis Burke Rodgers and a navy blue crepe dress with the cape collar having bands of white of Katherine Fraser. Lucretia Billings wore a navy blue crepe frock having a pin stripe.

Miss Margaret Coulter and Stella Coulter were there. Mrs. Roger Gilbert, of New York, Mrs. Elmore Earp and Gertrude Walton, and Mrs. George A. Benney, Janet Stevenson and Mrs. William Walker.

Bertha Brooks chose a yellow dress having black dots. Mrs. E. V. Babcock wore a beige shantung suit and a large beige straw hat. Others there were Martha Yost, Betty Higgins, Mrs. Harmar D. Denny.

Mrs. Edward McKinney chose a brown and white plaid dress with a cape collar and a brown hat, and Janet McKinney was in white crepe. Mrs. George Phelps Rose was there. Mrs. Fred Haworth, Mrs. George C. Hutchinson, Mrs. William E. Frick, Miss Alice Grey and Mrs. John W. Lawrence in a blue crepe suit, and Mrs. William Penn Snyder, Jr.

Mrs. Ralph H. Binns is among the travelers this month. She is in New York at the Hotel New Weston, en route to her country home in Williamsburg, Mass., for the summer.

Dickens Fellowship to Be Host To 100 Children From Homes At Outing in Park

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

As one of the Fellowship members puts it, "100 or more Tiny Tims" will attend the Tiny Tim picnic—the seventh annual one—which the Dickens Fellowship will give next Friday in Rhododendron House, Highland Park. The little guests will be taken from various homes and institutions to the park where all sorts of entertainment and a picnic supper will be provided, the former including toys and games, a magic performance, a Punch and Judy show, a hurdy gurdy and a program by the young folk from the Industrial Home for Crippled Children.

After the youngsters are safely escorted home, the Fellowship members will have their own picnic supper. J. G. Howard, welfare chairman, is arranging the Tiny Tim affair with E. Willis Whited in charge of transportation. The new officers of the Fellowship are: Mrs. Florence W. Fairman, who was re-elected president; L. C. Edgar, re-elected vice president; Mrs. T. C. Clifford, who is now secretary, and C. D. Claney, who has again undertaken the duties of treasurer. Mrs. David H. Anderson is program chairman; Mrs. Arthur J. Howe, social chairman, and M. Howard remains chairman of welfare.

To complete its pledge for this year's scholarship donations, the Sarah Sloan Scholarship Club will have a benefit bridge luncheon Monday afternoon in the Dormont New Century Club. Mrs. W. C. McClure, Mrs. S. J. Corbett or Mrs. John S. Sloan will accept reservations.

Planning Benefit

The Swissvale Woman's Club will replace its annual luncheon with a tea this year and will hold it in the Edgewood Country Club on Thursday, June 16.

The Carrick Mothers' Club is changing the character of its annual baby day this year and when it is held on Wednesday from 10:30 to 1 o'clock it will be in the nature of a health clinic and not a contest, as in former years.

* * *

Dr. Ben G. Graham, superintendent of city schools, will address the Lee Parent-Teacher Association at its final meeting on Thursday evening. Music will be by Miss Ilen Grey, violinist, and the school orchestra and chorus.

Graham To Speak

A picnic luncheon in Frick Park has been chosen to close the year for the Women's Club of Regent Square on Tuesday.

* * *

The nineteenth anniversary celebration of the Zoar Home is set for Thursday at the home in Allison Park. The Woman's Auxiliary will have charge of the affair as usual, and supper will be served from 5 until 8 o'clock. A musicale is to be the program feature. On the invitations which have been sent out are directions to take the Harmony Short Line bus at Tenth street to the home.

Annual Affair

The annual luncheon of the Beechview Women's Civic Club, honoring Mrs. George Smith, retiring president, will be held tomorrow at the Hotel Henry. Mrs. Clyde Shellito, chairman of the social committee, is in charge, and Mrs. Ross Allwater has prepared the program, which will be supplemented by bridge.

The season's final luncheon of the Ohio State Woman's Club will take place tomorrow at the Edgewood Country Club. Hostesses are Mrs. George Thomas, Mrs. Florence Kinney, Mrs. H. E. Cameron and Mrs. D. C. Davis.

A part of a child's world of fancy will come to the University of Pittsburgh Alumnae's sunset dinner tomorrow at the Hotel Schenley, when the puppet shows "Cinderella" and "Little Black Sambo" will be given. Miss Elizabeth Hamilton will review some recently found facts concerning the origin of puppet shows, such as their existence in the days of the Egyptian kings.

Shows at Dinner

A bridge luncheon on June 18 is the concluding event of the Dormont Juniors' season.

Louise Wright's Marriage Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wright, of Morehead place, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Louise Wright, to Harold Henderson Meanor, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Meanor, of Coraopolis, which took place December 31, 1931.

Mrs. Meanor, Jr., is a graduate of the Birmingham School for Girls, and the bridegroom of Culver Military Academy. He is now a student at Washington and Jefferson College.

Elizabeth Hershberger Weds Victor W. Pickard

At a simple home ceremony last evening Miss Elizabeth Norma Hershberger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Herbert Hershberger, of North Emily street, Crafton, became the bride of Victor W. Pickard, of Pittsburgh, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Pickard, of Hamilton, Ontario. Officiating was the Rev. Harry Allen Price, pastor of the Crafton Methodist Church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white chiffon and carried an arm bouquet of bride's roses, sweetpeas and lillies of the valley. Her sister, Miss Grace Hershberger, was maid of honor, wearing a frock of blue and yellow printed chiffon and carried garden flowers. Frederick M. Hodd, of Pittsburgh, served as best man.

Virginia Robertson Marries H. P. Schaffer

Wednesday morning in St. Cyril's of Alexandria Church, Miss Virginia Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Robertson, of McClure avenue, became the bride of Herman P. Schaffer, son of Harry Schaffer, of Washington, Pa.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Paul W. E. Robertson, wore a simple gown of ivory georgette, and a veil of tulle finished with a cap of tulle edged with rosepoint lace, caught with orange blossoms. She carried Killarney roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Thomas F. Pickett, Jr., of Washington, as matron of honor, wore a gown of flax blue mousseline de soie with a pink satin girdle, and hat of pink mousseline. She carried Madame Butterfly roses. Gilbert Schaffer was his brother's best man, and another brother, Robert Schaffer, and Edward L. Schmidel were ushers.

Walter Winchell ON BROADWAY

Interview

(Or Winchell Returns as Columnist)

Q. Well, well, well, Mr. W——. Welcome home and all that sortathing. When did you get back? How—and why?

A. Oh, now—no hero worship, please.

Q. Very funny the other day Ed Sullivan was the first to announce you were back. He got a good laugh when he said that he saw you and that you looked better than your enemies hoped.

A. Please go away. There's mail to read and throw on the floor. And fevvensakes take that police card out of your hat!

Q. But you must have dozens of things to tell us about your holiday. How's like California, Hollywood and so forth?

A. Very much lovely, please go away, please.

Q. Notice much change on Broadway, or the natives?

A. No, just as dull as ever. Those groups of nobodies however, are still sitting around complaining about those who get the juciest breaks, or telling those who are sticking how it ought to be done.

Q. Texas Guinan, you know, is back, too.

A. I know. Broadway just couldn't function without us.

Q. What happened to you, anyway? Gosh, you should have heard all those wild legends about your sudden retirement!

A. I did hear them. That's why I came back. I figured that if I hurried home I'd make thousands of people a little ill. They had me paralyzed in both legs, dead shot by gangsters, run out of town by them, and all sorts of wild reports.

Q. I didn't hear all those. The alleged low-down however, is that you were supposed to have been promised faithfully by the Lindbergh baby kidnapers that you were going to solve the crime. Thus crowning your career with the great achievement. Then, the story went, they crossed you, and you collapsed from a broken heart and ran away.

A. I heard that one, too. The truth is that after nearly a dozen years of striving to be clever, I got a little weary.

Q. Did you see Garbo in Hollywood or did she leave you alone?

A. She was grand. I thought at first she might bother me the way I bothered her when she came here for a little privacy.

Q. Is it really true, Winchell? I mean about Garbo being indifferent to people even out there in Hollywood?

A. She has her friends and avoids all others. I understand her better, now. Edmund Goulding, the director, Mrs. Goulding, the former Marjorie Moss, the dancer, Adrian, her male dressmaker, and two or three others are her intimates. Zasu Pitts, who dwells next door, has never met her. And Greta won't even let her servants and gardeners swap the time of day or any wordage with the Pitts attaches. And for a mighty good reason. Almost everybody out there peddles things to magazines and papers about anybody.

Q. What's all that talk about Jack Dempsey carrying on with Line Basquette and George Raft with Billie Dove?

A. Dempsey is playing the field. I saw him with his ex-wife, Estelle Taylor, at the Cocoanut Grove there one night. And Estelle was holding his hand and pointing out various beauties she thought would appeal to him. She still uses the Dempsey name, though. He's still a big-timer. Billie Dove is having herself a time with the crowd. And Bobbe Arnst feels terrible because the New York press tried to alienate Weissmuller's affections.

Q. Did you see my favorite, Barbara Stanwyck?

A. Yes, she's high on my list, too. She can't wait to get to New York to see Len Hall, who writes pieces for photoplay mags. Hall, it appears, wrote a devastating story about her husband, Frank Fay. And Stanwyck, who hits too hard, is plenty burned about it. She took an oath that as soon as she saw Hall she was going to flatten him.

Q. Talk about writers being slugged, oh boy! Some of the local purels are going around socking columnists. Jerry Wald, for example.

A. Yeah, I heard about that. One wag suggested that Jerry change his title to "The Waldo Have Cauliflower Ears!" One of the boys was straightened out with some mobsters the other night, and I understand that Helen Hayes' husband is after Skolsky.

Q. Oh, well, you shouldn't make fun. How's Earl Carroll?

A. The only reason I'm not giving you a hard shove is that there isn't a flight of stairs behind you.

Q. Tell me more about Garbo and Hollywood.

A. The MGM studio executives would have listeners believe that Greta ranks 4th on their list of box office attractions. Dressler first, Crawford, second, Shearer, third, and Greta, fourth. They say that Garbo is big-time at the box office only in the major cities.

Q. Why Dressler has had only two great pictures!

A. That's what I said. At any rate, Greta is supposed to leave for Sweden soon to remain there a year, at least. Then, if she feels like it, she will return, but won't agree to any sort of a contract. She will work on a picture to picture basis at $250,000 a flicker. If paid, it will mark the highest wage ever paid a movie star. John Barrymore got $200,000 and Constance Bennett 150 Gs.

Q. What happened to the Wheeler-Woolsey duet, anyway?

A. They got on each others' nerves. Woolsey said that the gags ran out and Bert told me he wanted to quit while on top. He has plenty. Bert and his wife, by the way, are definitely done. Mrs. W. will get their daughter and he will establish a trust fund of $125,00[illegible] for the child.

Q. Do you believe that story given out by Harry Bannister and Ann Harding on why they decided to divorce?

A. Of course not. The Carlotta Monti gossip was wrong, too.

Q. What was the low-down on Margaret Perry's "broken heart?" We heard here it was over a sour notice on her first picture.

A. His name happens to be Joel McCrea.

Q. What's the dope on the Gibson-Ellers sitch-ee-ay-shun?

A. The patch-up between Hoot and Sally isn't. Under California law, if Sally started suing Hoot, she would automatically get custody of Lois, Hoot's child. As Hoot loves the girl, Sally, who also adores her, doesn't want to take her away from him. So Hoot and Sally are "together" so they can figure a way for Hoot to keep the baby.

Q. Thank you very much, Winchell. In return I'll say in my story that you're a nice guy and can't possibly have many enemies.

A. Don't be inaccurate. Merely insert the adverb "importantly" before your very last word. See you around.

Lucas Given Butler Role

BY HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, June 3.

Servants have been furnishing comedy relief in the movies long enough. Their affairs will be glorified in John Gilbert's new picture, "Downstairs." And never such a household staff before. In addition to Jack as the chauffeur and redheaded Virginia Bruce, this inclined as a maid, it now develops that the suave and dignified Paul Lukas will portray the butler of the menage.

Mr. Lukas, who complained bitterly of playing Counts, etc., at Paramount, is quite reconciled to his lower estate in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture. He'll be joining the Gilbert troupe as soon as he completes a role opposite Elissa Landi at Fox.

Paul Lukas

Did you know that Lukas was born on a railroad train just before it arrived in Budapest?

Though not a prominent figure in Hollywood society, this Hungarian actor is looked upon with respect by his cinema associates. His chief hobby, aside from acting, is aviation.

Saturday saw the Marion Davies company go into rehearsals for what is expected to be the star's best picture in some time. It is an original story by Frances Marion, with a New York setting. Miss Davies will play a Broadway chorus girl. She'll have Edmund Goulding for director and a supporting cast of real distinction. Billie Dove plays another chorus girl. Jimmie Gleason, Marion's father; Robert Montgomery, the hero, and Zasu Pitts, Marion's elder sister. A last minute addition to the cast was Sidney Toler, who'll be comedy foil for Zasu.

WHAT GOSSIPS SAY

Can there be any hard feelings between M. G. M. and Garbo when Irving Thalberg presented her with a handsome fitted traveling bag as a going away gift from the studio? . . . Mae Clark, still looking very weak, has been taking short walks near her home, accompanied by her mother and a nurse. It still will be weeks before she can return to work . . . Herman Brix, of the University of Washington, unofficially broke the world's shot put record this week during his training at United Artists studio. With his right hand, he threw the missile 51 feet 9 inches, then countered with a left hand toss of 42 feet. Just as he did before the last Olympic Games. Doug Fairbanks is offering training facilities for any contending athletes. Brix uses Doug's steam-room and gets his rub-down from the star's attendant, Joe . . . When Ruth Chatterton sails on the Europa, June 15, she will be accompanied only by her maid . . . Gary Cooper is another star to take up the fad of introducing a chimpanzee to his guests.

Plays and Players

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Maude Adams, who emerged from a long retirement from the stage to make a joint starring tour with Otis Skinner in "The Merchant of Venice," has been engaged by Robert McLaughlin, of Cleveland, to be a guest star in his stock company there. Her appearance, in all probability, will be in a try-out of a play in which she is interested as a legitimate production possibility. The "news" of it all appears to be that Miss Adams, after again standing in the spotlight, and finding it agreeable, is determined that the folks who sometimes are called the theater-going public shall not be given another opportunity to forget the lady who did so much to make Barrie famous. As to the stock part of it, Miss Adams was a stocker as a child in Salt Lake City, where she was born at a time when her mother was a member of a resident company in that city. When she was not more than 18 she was playing ingenue parts in the famous stock company of Charles Frohman in New York.

Nixon Chosen as Sole Subscription House

The Nixon has been selected as the theater that will house all of the presentations of the American Theater Society next season. Mrs. Fitzwilliam Sargent, of Philadelphia, one of the organizers of the Professional Players, has arrived here to confer with Mrs. H. C. Bushman, Jr., and Mrs. T. M. Jones III about details of the subscription plans. The American Theater Society represents a merger of the Theater Guild, Professional Players, which is the Shubert subscription unit, and the Erlanger Amusement Enterprises.

Comedy

Swor and Goode take over the comedy end of the stage show opening in the Stanley today.

'Young Bride' In Fulton

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

"Young Bride," in which Helen Twelvetrees and Eric Linden have the featured roles, is the principal photoplay of the screen bill in the Fulton. Its qualities are mostly negative. Mild and inoffensive, it has no outstanding merit and no particular fault. Everybody acts well enough, and the story is on a par with most young-love romances that reach the screen, but it is depicted on a plane that is so flat that even a fist fight that brings Eric to his senses doesn't appear anything like an upheaval.

Miss Twelvetrees is a dreaming young person who looks for plumed knights to live just as they do in the stories she tells the kiddies in her character as an assistant librarian. "And there are no knights these days, as she finds when she weds Linden, who is just a young bounder and bluffer, loafing while his wife works, always claiming he is going to put over a big deal. And so it goes until he finally discovers that he really is a sap and asks for and receives his old job of broker's clerk.

Arline Judge is a gold-digger who helps him to arrive at a true knowledge of himself, and Roscoe Ates and Cliff Edwards have comedy character roles that create no laughs.

Hearst Metrotone News and other short films add to the interest in the program.

New Talkies To Open

Earl Hines and his orchestra is the feature attraction today on the Stanley stage. On the screen is Kay Francis and Roland Young in "Street of Women."

Johnny Weissmuller, swim star, opens an engagement today on the Penn stage. On the screen is "Reserved for Ladies," featuring Leslie Howard and Benita Hume.

Today the Fulton is showing Helen Twelvetrees in "Young Bride." Supporting Helen is Eric Linden and Arline Judge.

Joan Blondell has the feature role in "The Famous Ferguson Case," opening today in the Davis.

"Man About Town," starring Warner Baxter, is on the Warner's screen today.

Peggy Shannon and Theodore von Eltz, in the mystery play, "Hotel Continental," come to the Sheridan Square tomorrow.

Beginning Monday the Avenue Cinema will show "Alone," Russian film, with Aline Kuzmina in the lead.

The Enright tomorrow will screen "Two Seconds," starring Edward G. Robinson. "The Famous Ferguson Case," with Joan Blondell, opens Wednesday in the Enright.

BITS OF LIFE — All in a Day — By MARK HELLINGER

A WELL KNOWN speakeasy owner recently encountered some difficulty in finding the right man for a combination job. The position called for a man who would be able to act as cashier for the spot and who would also act as bartender behind a small bar on the upper floor of the speakeasy. The work really called for two men. But, under present conditions, the owner didn't feel that he could stand the expense.

He engaged one chap after another, but none of them was quite satisfactory. One man was a fine bartender, but he wasn't so hot on the cashiering angle. Another gentleman could handle money so rapidly that his right hand often shortchanged his left. But, sad to relate, he didn't know a Bronx cocktail from a brandy sour. And that let him out—fast.

The speakeasy proprietor was growing a trifle discouraged. He talked the situation over one night with one of his silent partners.

"I hate to do it, Jack," he asserted, "but I'm afraid I'll have to get two men for that upstairs job. I can't seem to find a right guy who can take cash and also mix a few drinks when the occasion demands. There must be plenty of them around, but I can't find them."

His partner, one of those interesting gentlemen of Broadway who share in the profits, but do no active work, clapped his hands.

"Your worries are over, Billy," he chirped. "You should have told me about this before. I've got a grand kid for you. And if you'll give him half a chance, he'll more than make good.

"This boy comes from Tenth avenue and he's not so hot on the parlevoos. If you're looking for the last word in class, you won't get it from him. But you will get a hard-working mug who'll handle your cash, mix your drinks, slave for you and be as honest as the night is long. I'll send him around to you tomorrow evening."

The next night, at the appointed time, in walked the chap from Tenth avenue. He said his name was Tom, and he assured the boss that he would most assuredly make good.

"I'll be absolutely okay," he chirped. "Things is plenty tough for me right now an' I'm just as anxious as you are to see things on the up-and-up. Pay me anythin' you like until you see that I know every onion in the bag. An' then if you want to gimme a boost, everythin' will be hotsy-totsy. When do I start?"

The proprietor was a trifle doubtful. He had always attempted to run his spot from a swanky angle, and all of his waiters tossed French around in mean accents. Exactly how this Tenth Ave. youth would fit into the scheme of things was something to be considered.

He looked at Tom very carefully. The boy had a strong face and, after all, his partner had recommended him most highly. What could he lose by giving him an opportunity? He certainly couldn't be any worse than the others he had tried out. So he nodded.

"You start right away," he announced. "Follow me upstairs."

In a place such as this, as you doubtless know, a drink on the house is dignified by the name of "maison." They could say "house," but they feel better when they call it "maison." In other words, when the proprietor feels like buying a customer a round of drinks, he takes the check and scribbles "maison" across it. Like so many other things in our modern speakeasy, it doesn't mean anything but it looks nice.

During his first night on the job, the new man received three or four such checks. He would mix his drinks and hand them to the waiter with a check. A few minutes later the waiter would be back with the check and the word, "Maison," written across it. Tom took these checks, muttered something to himself and tossed them into a drawer.

After a week's time had elapsed the proprietor found himself more than satisfied with his new man. The latter chap was plenty rough, it was true, but he more than made up for that by his willingness and his very evident desire to do everything possible for the proprietor. Shortly before the place closed on a Saturday night the boss walked over to the youth.

"Tom," he said, "you've been swell. You've handled your job in great fashion and you can stay with me as long as you wish. You've had no difficulties at all with the checks, have you?"

The young man shook his head.

"Not a bit," he returned. "But, boss, I got to tell you somethin'. As long as I'm workin' for you, I'm with you 100 per cent. An' there's somethin' on my mind."

"What's that, Tom?" inquired the proprietor.

Tom pounded the bar.

"It's this guy, 'Maison,' boss," he muttered. "If he don't settle up for his checks pretty soon, I'm gonna slap him right in the kisser!"...

ONE OF THE best liked men in the Broadway field conducts a luxurious gambling house at a popular resort in New York State. He has a fixed rule in his house that none of his friends is ever permitted to gamble in his establishment. And he is such a decided square-shooter that his simple explanation is readily acceptable.

"I don't want to take money from my pals," he says, "and I don't want them to take money from me. There are plenty of people in this world with whom I am only too happy to gamble. It's my business to play with them. But my friends are an entirely different story. They come outside of business."

A short time ago a very close pal visited this magnificent gambling house and spent several days with the owner in question. The friend was a wealthy man and he fairly pleaded for a chance to buck the wheel. But the gambler was steadfast in his refusal.

"Nothing doing, Charlie," he asserted. "You're my guest and you're my pal. You're not going to gamble in my house and you might as well make up your mind to that fact right here and now. Enjoy yourself—and forget the gambling."

At the end of the third day, the pal could stand it no longer. He had a natural desire to gamble heavily and it irritated him to see all the others playing while he could take no part. Stating that he was going out for a short drive, he took his machine and drove to a rival gambling house about three miles away. He planned to play for an hour and then call it quits.

But the three days of forced inactivity proved too much for him. The fever ran high. And when he finally drove away after six hours of continuous play, he had dropped $170,000 to his pal's rival! . . .

Modern progress [illegible] means of bringing many obscure foods [illegible] prominence. This is particularly so in the [illegible]

There was much superstition attached to this [illegible] tomatoes. Many people believed that [illegible] cause cancer, but others maintained them to be a [illegible] liver" and promoted [illegible] tomatoes do thinking.

None of these claims [illegible] proven. But it is true [illegible] toes are rich in vitamin [illegible] C, and because of [illegible] uable addition to the [illegible] cold tomato juice [illegible] just before the [illegible] of increasing the [illegible] siding digestion.

There are many [illegible] tomatoes. The [illegible] all know as [illegible] den, the [illegible] the sweeter flavored [illegible] ones that make [illegible] —all these have [illegible] diet. Personally, I [illegible] matoes just as they [illegible] from the bush, [illegible] delicious.

Some few people cannot [illegible] matoes. These unfortunates [illegible] from a digestive [illegible] casionally from a skin [illegible] tunately they are [illegible]

One of the reasons [illegible] tomato juice enjoys [illegible] ity is due to the [illegible] ily and successfully [illegible] den, too, they may be [illegible] an inexpensive yet valuable [illegible] whether used canned or fresh.

There are numerous ways [illegible] serving tomatoes. Peeled, [illegible] and served as salad or stuffed [illegible] vegetable or chicken salad [illegible] with pot cheese, they make a delicious luncheon dish. They may be scalloped with bread crumbs, a bit of onion, green pepper and seasoning. Broiled or treated as the filling for fritters, they are an addition to the meal course. And of course there are [illegible] able jams, sauces and ketchups made of this once scorned vegetable.

In infant feeding tomato juice has an important place. Given [illegible]

LOS ANGELES, June 3.—(INS)—A. H. Rifkind, apartment house owner, objected to his tenant, Mrs. Rifkind, using too much water when she bathed. Mrs. Rifkind, 19, his pretty wife, Rose Rifkin, 19, [illegible] yesterday [illegible] separate maintenance.

4 Teachers to Wed From One School

TROY, N. Y., June 3.—(INS)—Cupid found a good hunting ground in the Latham Corners district school. Four of the nine teachers there today announced [illegible] engagements and forthcoming marriages this summer.

Prudence Penny's Recipes

The month of June weddings is here. For hundreds of years jokes have been made about the hard-rock quality of the new bride's biscuit. But science this year has pursued in the pursuit of less weighty matters to make the biscuit joke pointless forevermore.

No more broken off teeth for the man whose bride uses a new kind of biscuit flour, which has just been perfected for inexperienced cooks according to local culinary experts. After several years of experimenting with a new type of flour, laboratory workers have produced a flour which insures the kind of biscuits mother used to make the very first time with the addition of only milk or water, experts say.

FROZEN CUSTARD—Three-fourths cup granulated sugar, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1 cup milk, 2 egg yolks, ½ cup cream, 2 egg whites, pinch of salt, 2 teaspoons vanilla, 1¼ cups heavy cream.

Mix sugar and cornstarch. Add scalded milk gradually, stirring constantly. Cook in double boiler 25 minutes. Stir several times during cooking process. Combine with well beaten egg yolks. Cook about 5 minutes or until thick, stirring constantly. Add salt and cream. Mix well, strain and cool. When custard is cool, add vanilla, chilled whipped cream, and fold into custard. Pour into tray and freeze. Before dessert has frozen solid enough to serve, remove tray from refrigerator and stir well with a spoon. Then carefully fold in stiffly beaten egg whites to which salt has been added. Return to refrigerator and allow to finish freezing without further agitation.

ICE CREAM PARFAIT—2 cups milk, 4 tablespoons cornstarch, 4 egg yolks, ⅔ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, whites of 4 eggs, 1 cup heavy cream.

Scald the milk in the upper part of a double boiler. Mix the sugar

FRUIT MOUSSE—Cover 1 pint canned pineapple, fresh raspberries or any fruit, with 1 cup powdered sugar.

Let stand an hour, then crush through a fruit press or sieve.

Add ½ pint whipped cream.

Mix with ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Put in small molds or one large fancy one; cover closely and freeze.

PEACH MOUSSE—½ pint heavy cream, ¼ cup confectioner's sugar, 1 cup peach pulp, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Mash canned or fresh cooked peaches to a pulp. Add sugar and vanilla. Whip cream and fold in peach mixture. Turn into refrigerator tray and freeze three to four hours.

FROZEN FRUITS—Canned pineapple, strawberries or other fruits may be turned into a refrigerator tray right from the can, frozen to a mush and served in sherbet glasses topped with flavored and sweetened whipped cream. The length of time required in the refrigerator depends on the amount of sugar in the fruit syrup and the amount of fruit placed in the tray, but most fruits will freeze to the desired consistency in from 30 minutes to one hour.

BUTTERSCOTCH COOKIES—1½ cups butter, 2 cups brown sugar, 3 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 2 eggs.

Cream butter, add sugar and well beaten eggs. Mix well. Add flour and baking powder sifted together. Mix to a dough. Shape in rolls, wrap in waxed paper and store in a refrigerator. Slice thin and bake on a floured cookie sheet in a hot oven (375 degrees).

"But lately she has developed a few things I have objected to. One night some boys called here at 11 o'clock p. m. for her. At 12 they wanted to go for a ride. A girl several years older was visiting us and she wanted to go.

"I felt responsible since at the same time that I had no authority to forbid her to go whether could I let her go alone. So I made them see that all the clocks and watches were the same, and allowed them one half hour, no more.

"They returned all right, but what an old-fashioned prude I was! No other mother would have been like that. And then the boys wanted to come over to stay longer. I refused. And everybody was mad.

DRINK AND SMOKE

"That was not the first time nor the last that boys have arrived here any time between nine and midnight to spend the evening. What is the matter with parents that they can't teach their children a few rules and don'ts?

"I believe in doing everything for our children that we can, ...

COMPLICATIONS

And I wrong in forbidding these late callers and rides. And I stuffy as they think because I feel that my girl should be in bed at a reasonable hour and get her rest? She is up at 6:30 every morning.

I have been a social service worker, and has eye-teeth re-garding parents and children have been cut permanently. I have time to strike a balance toward the latest things seem complicated. Can you help me?

MRS. ADAMS.

Am I wrong and stuffy and an old fogy?

Indeed you are not. You are right. Stick to your guns. But explain to the kids why they need rest and sleep and can't gallivant day and night without harming their unfinished young bodies.

And now, how about the rest of you parents? How do you manage? What hours, if any, have you set in your home?

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Vaccination Is a Preventive of Smallpox

A recent newspaper report stated that a severe epidemic of smallpox was sweeping China in the area of the war maneuvers. Famine and unhygienic conditions have resulted in a most unsanitary existence in that densely populated country. By speedy administration of smallpox vaccination and improvement in sanitary conditions, it was hoped this dread disease might be controlled and prevented from spreading to other parts of the world.

Dr. Copeland

At one time smallpox was known as one of the most serious of all diseases. Each one of us is indebted to Edward Jenner, the man who first introduced vaccination in 1796. The value of vaccination came to be recognized throughout the civilized world, and it has become a compulsory procedure in many countries.

In the United States many states insist upon every individual being vaccinated. Vaccination for school children is compulsory in New York City, and the value of this is apparent when we realize that there are 7,000,000 inhabitants in New York, where in the last 19 years there has been but one death from smallpox. The few cases reported were unvaccinated persons who contracted the disease outside the city.

It is well known that wherever smallpox vaccination is compulsory, smallpox is rare. Unfortunately many of our states do not make vaccination compulsory.

I would like to impress upon readers that smallpox, though a rare disease, still exists in North America. More than 150 deaths were caused by smallpox in the United States in 1929. That number could be greatly reduced, if not entirely eliminated, if compulsory vaccination were enforced throughout the country.

Contrary to the claims made by socalled anti-vaccinationists, vaccination is a simple and safe procedure.

The first vaccination should be given between the ages of 8 and 11 months, but if the child is in poor health and has a skin disease, vaccination should be delayed until good health returns. The first vaccination should not be considered successful unless a small scar is left.

The second vaccination may be given when the child enters school. It may be on the arm or on the leg, but preferably on the arm, where the part is free from dust and moisture, and where it heals more quickly.

Please do not be misled by unscientific propaganda against vaccination. If everyone were vaccinated every seven years, smallpox undoubtedly would disappear completely. Smallpox is preventable, and it is a shame to have it included among the dangers of present civilization.

A delightful hand lotion is made by combining four ounces of glycerine, four drams of clarified honey, eight fluid ounces of distilled water, one-half ounce of gelatine and 12 drops of oil of lavender flowers. Soak the gelatine in water and honey for three hours, add other ingredients.

Summer Romances Often Beginning of Wonderful Love, Says Fay King

By FAY KING

Summer is the time for romance.

With all the world abloom and bright it is the proper setting for loving hearts.

For some a summer romance may not be serious. But for others it is the beginning of a wonderful love that will last a lifetime.

No success story surpasses in sweetness and inspiration that of an aged couple who have come to the end of life's road hand in hand as they began it together long, long ago.

Times of trouble, discouragement, sickness and poverty may come, but where love and loyalty remain unchanged the same summer sunlight will be shining in life's darkest hours.

There are millions of happy marriages. That's why they are not news!

OFFICIAL SYSTEM As Adopted by Leading Authorities

By E. V. SHEPARD

End Play Problems

Problem 71 and its solution are given below. Spades are trumps. A is to lead. How many tricks can A-B win against the best defense of Y-Z?

The safest and most obvious method of obtaining maximum results for A-B is as described below.

Lead A's Ace of diamonds, ducking B's Q upon the trick to avoid later blocking of the suit and consequent loss of tricks. Having won the single trick in diamonds another immediate lead of that suit of hearts will cause A's side a needless loss. Maximum results may be obtained by having the second lead of A's top club. Y can gain nothing by refusing to trump the club. If he trumps with his 4, B will overtrump, then lay down his J of spades, picking up both outstanding trumps and allowing A to win the two remaining tricks with his good diamonds. This will give A-B all five tricks. If Y is to trump he must use his 10, forcing B to overtrump with his J and insuring Z's later winning one spade trick with his 9.

When Y trumps with his 10 and B overtrumps with the J, B must lead back his last spade, putting Z in the lead. Z cannot lead anything except a diamond, and A must win the last two tricks. This will give A-B four out of five tricks as their maximum winning against perfect defense.

Aside from the entertainment furnished many players by problem hands is the quickening of perceptives and the knowledge gained by odd bits of strategy that often prove useful in actual games. Whether or not students of the game like problem hands, teachers find such hands useful in teaching the strategy of play.

Household Hints

Sliced fruits intended for salads can be given a distinctive and piquant flavor by marinating them for an hour or so in a liquid composed of eight tablespoons lemon juice, eight tablespoons orange juice, 10 tablespoons oil, two tablespoons sugar and one-half teaspoon salt. When ready to serve, drain and serve with mayonnaise or other cooked dressing. The liquid, known as a marinade, keeps well in a covered jar and makes an excellent dressing for green salads.

Apples that have been peeled and sliced for stewing sould be soaked for 10 minutes in cold water to which lemon juice has been added.

To remove stains from a carpet first brush the carpet to free it of all dust, then apply rice flour by sprinkling it liberally upon the stained portion. Rub well in with a clean rag, and brush off. A second application may be necessary, but if the stain is still obstinate, then wash it with very hot water and carpet soap.

For Your Information!

Aside from the 75 years of quality leadership enjoyed by Anheuser-Busch, their products come from the largest and finest plant of its kind in the world. This plant comprises 110 individual buildings covering 142 acres—the equivalent of 70 city blocks. Into this plant go the very finest raw materials that can be bought. Out of it come products such as BUDWEISER, "The Nation's Favorite Brew," BUSCH EXTRA DRY "America's Finest Ginger Ale" and BUDWEISER MALT, "The Best Money Can Buy"—products which excel in purity, quality and goodness.

Remember there are 186 cash prizes to be awarded to those sending in the best titles in the opinion of the judges.

HERE ARE THE SIMPLE RULES GOVERNING THE CONTEST

1 You are not required to buy anything.

2 Write your title with your name and address plainly on one side of paper only, preferably on a sheet of paper the exact size of a Budweiser Malt Label.

3 You can use more than one word for your title.

4 Do not use the word "Teamwork" in connection with your entry.

5 No titles will be accepted that bear a postmark later than midnight June 15, 1932.

6 In case of ties, full amount of award will be paid to each of the tying contestants.

7 Do not enter more than two titles.

8 Suggestions must be mailed to: "Budweiser Malt Contest," Anheuser-Busch, Inc., St. Louis.

Important: If you send a Budweiser Malt can label with your entry you will receive an attractive Budweiser Malt novelty savings bank, regardless of whether or not you win one of the 186 prizes. These little banks will be sent to every contestant who sends a label. But remember, it is not necessary to send a label to enter the contest or to win a prize.

The opinion and decision of the judges will be final. No communications will be answered other than those selected by the judges. This contest is open to everybody except employes and executives of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., members of their families and their advertising agency.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Shower

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My brother is to be married soon and I would like to have a shower for his bride-to-be either the latter part of this month or early next month.

I know that this is not the best form, but as we are very good friends, and as she has no mother or sisters, and does not get along with her aunt, I thought it might be all right.

My mother is not living either so any help you can give me will be greatly appreciated.

MARY.

I wish that I could say "yes" or "no" definitely about this sort of shower-giving, but you see there are no definite rules about this, and so we must use our own taste and discrimination. There is a feeling (quite justified I think) against the giving of showers by people who are very closely related to the bride-to-be or to her fiance. For a mother or an aunt or a sister of the bride or groom to plan such a shower is to give the party a little too much of a "bid-for-gifts" atmosphere.

It is charming and appropriate for a group of the close friends of the bride, or her club, to give her a shower.

A Letter

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please be kind and help me. I am very much in doubt in regard to a letter I received from a young man. This letter is not the first I have received from him, although it is the first one that he omitted the complimentary phrase and his signature. What do you think of it? Should I mention this fact to him when I answer his letter? L.

No, don't mention this to him . . . he may have done this for one of many reasons. Perhaps he was interrupted while he was writing the letter, and forgot to sign it, as he later put it into the envelope. Or perhaps he was trying to register an especially personal touch by taking for granted that only his handwriting needed to be recognized! Don't give it special notice . . . just accept it.

Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Dicky's Ire Is Aroused by Madge's Story

There were several things in Dickey's speech which jabbed me as with a stiletto, though I knew that he had no serious intent in the whimsical tirade just uttered. Inconsistently enough, the spur which hurt me most was that contained in his incredulity of Philip Veritzen's offer to give me the leading role in my play. Mr. Veritzen himself had qualified the proffer of the role with the proviso that I must spend a year's intensive training under him before I took it, and the reason that only a year was necessary was because my speaking voice had been trained under Madame ——, a famous actress and teacher of my mother's generation.

But while I realized the truth of this myself I was just pettily feminine enough to resent the distinctly mirthful incredulous note with which Dicky had greeted my statement. Most women I think subconsciously if not consciously wish their husbands or sweethearts to have extravagant ideas as to their abilities, and to wear rose-colored glasses when looking at their faults. Jerome's famous and pungent apostrophe, "Heaven help you, Madame, if your husband does not love you because of your foibles instead of in spite of them!" has always found welcome in all feminine hearts.

MADGE CHEERFUL

There is another unpleasant jab in the speech with which Dicky had just favored me—that was his gibe concerning Phil Veritzen being "still crazy about me," as he had crassly expressed it. But it was not the words in which he had couched the thought which annoyed me, but the fact, unmistakable to anyone hearing his voice, that he believed what he was saying.

I knew, and I was vain enough to believe that no one was in a better position to judge than I, that there was no vestige of romantic feeling left in Philip Veritzen's heart for me, but if Dicky believed otherwise, I could see many shoals ahead. There was no use, however, in letting Dicky know that I saw anything at all serious in his little tirade. So I swallowed both my chagrin and my anxiety and made him a laughing answer.

"Sorry, you're so skeptical, old dear," I said airily, "but I'm telling you the truth, upon honor, about the offer Mr. Veritzen made me. I did not say that he meant the play to have an immediate production, and you gave me no chance to tell you that he wished me to take an intensive course under him for a year and that he wished to postpone the production of the play until I should be ready to act in it."

TELLS OF HER DECISION

Dicky's smile vanished from his face in much the same fashion that figures are erased from a blackboard, and in his eyes admiration, amazement and resentment struggled for mastery.

"The devil you say!" he exploded at last. "That old fellow has more crust than a bride's first apple pie. Intensive training' my word! That would mean you'd be away from home for a year. But" with a complete change of tone "it isn't up to me. I'm not going to emit a single yelp about it. You must do whatever you think best. And, of course, you'll take it. Any woman in her senses would jump at that chance."

There was a heaviness in his voice—void of anger, but with a note of bitterness, that made me say quickly, gaily:

"Then this particular woman must be out of her senses."

"What d'ye mean," Dicky's tone was suddenly raucous. "Are you going to pass it up?"

"Of course. I'm going to pass it up, silly! It's very flattering, of course, and I'm properly thrilled and all that"—I purposely made my voice faintly derisive—"but if you think anything on earth—and especially being a Veritzen star—is worth going away from you and the children, for that's what it would amount to—practically—for one year, you have another think coming."

The last words were smothered as Dicky's arms went around me tightly.

"My own girl," he said huskily. "If you could know what that means to me! But tell me, was that what you meant when you said he would not do so much posing after this morning's interview?"

Partly," I stammered with a sudden realization of what else I must tell Dicky. "But what gave me the biggest feeling of triumph was the way he backed down not only about my refusal to go under stage training, but when I told him I could not go into the city to work with him upon the casting and production of the play until school commenced, he insisted that I go next Tuesday and threatened not to produce the play unless I agreed."

Dicky sprang to his feet with clenched fists and eyes in which a tempest of temper was gathering.

"He did, did he?" he stormed.

A Word of Thanks

Don't forget the quiet word of thanks to the gentleman who gives you his seat in a public conveyance. He does not have to, you know, and the omission of thanks is a sign of poor breeding.

Encourage Talent

If the child shows a degree of talent along any line at all, do everything possible to encourage it. Provide a suitable working place for him even if it means a sacrifice of some pet corner of yours. It may form a great influence on his future.

Sometimes a colored pottery bowl gets broken, but it can be mended very effectively with sealing wax in the same shade. Provided the bowl, jug or other article does not have to hold hot liquids, this method will serve admirably.

Better Looking

It is said that potatoes lose much of their food value if pared before boiling, but it takes an adept to pare a hot boiled potato without spoiling the appearance of the surface. If you require the small amount of food value, bake them.

A little ammonia added to the water in which woollens are washed will improve them immensely. If a little is added to the water in which white clothes are soaked they will be much easier to wash.

Easily Found

At the back of our medicine closet is a row of tacks on which we suspend the eye dropper, thermometer, tweezers, etc., and other small articles that are so hard to find when left on the shelf among the various bottles of medicine.

You need not wait until the last minute to mix up the dough for hot biscuits. Mix them in the morning and keep them in the ice box until ready to bake. They will be just as light and good as if mixed in a hurry at the last minute.

No Harm Done

If the milk has been burned, it need not be thrown away. Mix together two tablespoonfuls cornflour, one heaped tablespoonful cocoa, chocolate powder, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, mix to a smooth paste with burned milk, then stir in the remainder when boiling and cook slowly 10 minutes, stirring meanwhile. Allow one pint of milk to these quantities, and an excellent chocolate blancmange is the result.

Cubs Face Pennant Test. Single Parks Advocated. Mungo Newest Iron Man. Hammer Record Safe. More Farrells Coming Up. Dayton's Unique Fight.

TRIP TO SHOW CALIBER OF LEADERS

THE SERIES OPENED here yesterday marked the starting point in the real test of the Cubs, a test that is expected to show either that they've got to be accepted at their face value to date as pennant possibilities, or that their present position at the head of the race is due mainly to their ability to win on their own grounds. It was home success that put Rogers Hornsby's club in first place. In Chicago the Bruins have won 19 games while losing only 10, a percentage of .655, and on the road up to today they had won nine and lost seven, a mark of .563.

Rogers Hornsby

After playing at home in 29 of their first 44 games, the Cubs have entered upon a tough trip calling for 23 games on the road, broken only by the single encounter with the Bucs in Chicago next Sunday. They are to play two more here, following yesterday's successful start, in which Charley Root broke a losing streak of five straight, and then four games each in Brooklyn, Boston, New York, Philadelphia and St. Louis in the order named. A champion club must be able to win abroad as well as at home, and the present trip is a test that will show whether or not the Cubs are of that caliber.

VAN LINGLE MUNGO looms not only as Dazzy Vance's successor as the ace speed-ball pitcher of the Dodgers but also as a bigger for a high ranking among the modern iron men of the mound. At the early age of 26 the rocky, savagely determined recruit is piling up a remarkable record for durability.

Mungo won five straight victories before losing yesterday, and from May 21 to 30, inclusive, started and won four games in a space of only 10 days, defeating the Giants twice and the Braves and Phils once each. In four games he allowed only 25 hits and struck out 25 men. Yesterday's start was his fifth in 13 days.

ACCORDING TO THE Dodgers, Mungo will never lose any games through lack of confidence in himself. They say he doesn't merely think he is the best pitcher on the Brooklyn staff, if not in the whole league. He is sure of it.

Told that Terry and Klein were pretty good hitters, Mungo replied "I guess they haven't been loosened up enough." In action, he promptly proceeds to knock down Terry or Klein or any other good hitter two or three times during a game. Names and reputations mean nothing to him.

THE DELAHANTY FAMILY sent five brothers to the major leagues, but in time they may be surpassed by the Ferrells. Attention is drawn to this possibility by the appearance in Pittsburgh of Pete Ferrell, a husky right-hand pitcher, brother of Wes, the slab ace of the Cleveland Indians, and Rick, crack catcher for the St. Louis Browns. Pete is spending a few days here recovering from the effects of an operation for appendicitis, performed in a New York hospital. He pitches for Greensboro in the Piedmont League, and is scheduled to go up to the big show next year. So is a fourth brother, Marvin, also a right-hand pitcher, now with Wichita in the Western League and the property of the Browns. And that's only part of the story, for Pete says there are three more brothers at the family home in Guilford, N. C., all preparing for baseball careers.

Col. Jacob Ruppert

THAT THIS YEAR is going to be a rough one for baseball in some spots is admitted by Col. Jacob Ruppert, Yankee owner, while his own club is having a successful season, but he predicts the sport will come out of it all right. He thinks the year may impress on the major league clubs the need for a more rigid economy.

As the first step in that direction, Col. Ruppert suggests the elimination of the system of double ball parks. He says that no city except Chicago requires more than one field. "The Giants and Yankees could very well play in the Stadium and get the fans accustomed to going to one ark," he adds.

THE YANKS MIGHT still be playing at the Polo Grounds if the New York National League club had not pulled a business boner by insisting on their finding a park of their own, which led to the construction of the Stadium prior to the season of 1923. It was equivalent to setting up an establishment across the street in opposition to your own business.

The Yanks had been paying to the Giants a larger rental for their share of each season at the Polo Grounds than the Giants themselves were paying per year. In addition, the Nationals were in line to get all the big football games and flatic shows.

THEY MAY SAY that no record is safe in these days of athletic advancement, but there is one that looks like an exception. That is the mark of 189 feet 6½ inches which Pat Ryan set for the 16-pound hammer throw in New York in 1913, and to which attention has just been called by John E. McManis in expressing the opinion that it might just as well be framed in a class all its own as a relic of a golden age of weight men, an age that saw, in addition to Ryan, such stars as Matt McGrath, John Flanagan and Pat McDonald. Nowadays a first-class hammer thrower is just a little beyond 160 feet. The college men do only around 150.

THE DROP IN distance is due, for one thing, to the fact that the hammer is frequently omitted from present-day meets. It is an outdoor event, entirely, few high schools give it a place on the program, and many colleges have dropped it. Therefore, the opportunity for throwers to be developed is limited.

Besides, you won't find many men combining the necessary strength, speed of arm and leg, with the willingness to practice hour after hour and day after day to perfect themselves in the specialty at which Ryan was the all-time standout.

BOXING FOLLOWERS ARE still arguing as to how the recent bout in Dayton, O., between Joe Sekyra, of Dayton, and Larry Johnson, Chicago Negro, who meets Maxie Rosenbloom in the feature event of the Greenlee Field opener next Wednesday night, should be officially recorded. It was one for the book.

Boxing before a slim house, the men were putting up a tame exhibition that did not meet with the approval of Referee Babe Bright, and he warned them that if they did not put more effort into their work he would call it no contest. Finally, in the fourth round, Bright stepped between the principals, announced it was "no contest" and hopped out of the ring.

Joe Sekyra

THE BOXERS STUCK around, and after a hurried consultation with newspapermen, Chairman Charles Goldzwig, of the Dayton Boxing Commission, sent in another referee. Nip Howell, whereupon the fight was resumed. After that the battlers fought furiously, with Sekyra taking a bad beating and the decision, at the end of the twelfth round, going to Johnson. Many fans contend that the fight should go into the records as "no contest," and that the fighting after the referee declared it "no contest" in the fourth round was merely an exhibition. Or, at best, they argue, the fight after the referee stopped the original going was a brand-new bout. According to established ring custom, the referee is supreme, and the scheduled bout therefore ended as "no contest" in the fourth round. All wagers were off at that instant. Whatever went on later was a different fight. In other words, Sekyra and Johnson fought twice in one night in the same ring. Old-timers can recall no parallel. The one gratifying feature was that the customers got a break, which was unusual.

LOCAL HUNTER PRIZE WON BY M'GOLDRICK

Billy Arnold, entered by George H. Chubb, won the touch and go sweepstakes feature event of the second day's card of the annual Allegheny Country Club horse show at the club's Sewickley Heights grounds today.

The show, a benefit this year for the Allegheny County Emergency Association, will be concluded tomorrow. A large and enthusiastic crowd witnessed today's competitions.

Billy Arnold was a post entry in the touch and go sweepstakes, an open event over jumps of four feet, six inches, and Princess Pat, another post entry, captured the second award. David I. McCahill's Desmond was third.

One of the surprises in the competition was the failure of Dr. Ralph Lynch's Westmoreland Lad, a big winner in previous shows here, to win an award.

McGoldrick, from the Green Valley stable of Mrs. R. E. Earp and Miss Alice V. Walton, annexed the blue ribbon in the competition open to hunters owned by residents of Allegheny, Westmoreland and Indiana counties and ridden by local amateurs. Miss Margaret Coulter's King Edward was second, Miss Nancy Louise Patterson's Prince F. third, and Dr. Ralph Lynch's Westmoreland Lad fourth.

Prince F also won the event for thoroughbred hunters up to 165 pounds. The summary of today's jumping:

Saddle horses, novice (three gaited)—Won by Diana Bee, Miss Florence B. Harrington; Renata, Eden Hall Farm, second; Hes Bullard, W. H. Kilgawley, third; Bob Wire, William W. Wright, fourth.

Ponies in harness, 13 hands and under—Won by Mandy Mac, Hey Pony Farm; Hey Presto, Eva Mae, Mrs. Lewis A. Park, second; Rummy, Janet Merrill, Hey Pony Farm, third; Haroonah Queen Bee, Hey Pony Farm, fourth.

Thoroughbred hunters, up to 165 pounds—Won by Prince F, Miss Nancy Louise Patterson; Miss Edward, Miss Margaret Coulter, second; Thunderwrath, Mrs. W. P. Booth, Jr., Patterson, third; Fancy, A. B. Davidson, fourth.

Five-gaited saddle horses (novice)—Won by Chubb's entry, Mrs. W. P. Booth; Easter Stockings, Miss Florence B. Harrington, second; Hallelujah Rose, W. H. Kilgawley, third.

Saddle horses, pairs (three gaited)—Won by J. Kuhns entry, Mrs. W. P. Booth; entry, second, Green Valley Stable entry, third; W. H. Kilgawley's entry, fourth.

Horses in harness not exceeding 15.2 hands—Won by Hats Morgana, Mrs. W. P. Booth; Perentia, Hey Pony Farm, second; Gilded Triumph, Emile Philip Schanbeck, third; Tootsie, G. L. Lenhart, fourth.

Local hunters, open to hunters owned by residents of Allegheny, Westmoreland and Indiana counties—Won by McGoldrick, Green Valley Stable; King Edward, Miss Margaret Coulter, second; Prince F, Miss Nancy Louise Patterson, third; Westmoreland Lad, Dr. Ralph Lynch, fourth.

Heavyweight saddle horses (three gaited)—Won by Glory of Rome, Mrs. W. P. Booth; Brown Man, J. C. Kuhns, second; Guinea Artisan, Green Valley Stable, third; Highland Lad, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis A. Park, fourth.

Combination class, five-gaited, cross and ride—Won by Floradora, Mrs. W. P. Booth; Trade Kid Dare, Miss Florence B. Harrington, second; Captain King, J. C. Kuhns, third; Hallelujah Rose, W. H. Kilgawley, fourth.

Jumping class, touch and go, open to all—Won by Billy Arnold, George H. Chubb; Princess Pat, John Beach, agent, second; Desmond, David I. McCahill, third.

CHICAGO BOOKS DARTMOUTH

HANOVER, N. H., June 3.—(AP)—Dartmouth and Chicago will meet on the gridiron in 1933, it was disclosed with the announcement of the Green football schedule for next year.

The game, to be played at Chicago, November 25, will be the first return engagement between the Indians and Maroons since Swede Oberlander and the team of 1925 opened football relations with a 33-7 victory.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: THE TRAGEDY OF ROBERT MORRIS—At the beginning the American Revolution, Robert Morris headed one of the largest and most prosperous commercial houses in Philadelphia. He was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. As the financier of the American Revolution, he gave the government of his cash and credit so unstintingly that it is said that the American campaigns in 1780 would have been impossible without Morris' aid. He procured the munitions for Gen. Green, he raised a federal loan of $1,400,000 to finance Washington's army in 1781, and organized the Bank of North America. He refused the post of Secretary of the Treasury and eventually returned to his business. But his private undertakings failed ultimately and the great financier of the American Revolution was clapped into a debtor's jail to spend the declining years of his useful life in a cell (1798-1802).

A. M. A. MEET STARS READY

By JESS CARVER

With an entry list culled from all tri-state area colleges and universities and from no fewer than 37 high schools, track and field stars of the district will make initial bids for Olympic team consideration at the A. M. A. junior championship meet in Reeves Stadium, Beaver Falls, tomorrow.

District scholastic, college, A. M. A. and Reeves Stadium records of all sorts and descriptions will get a thorough going-over.

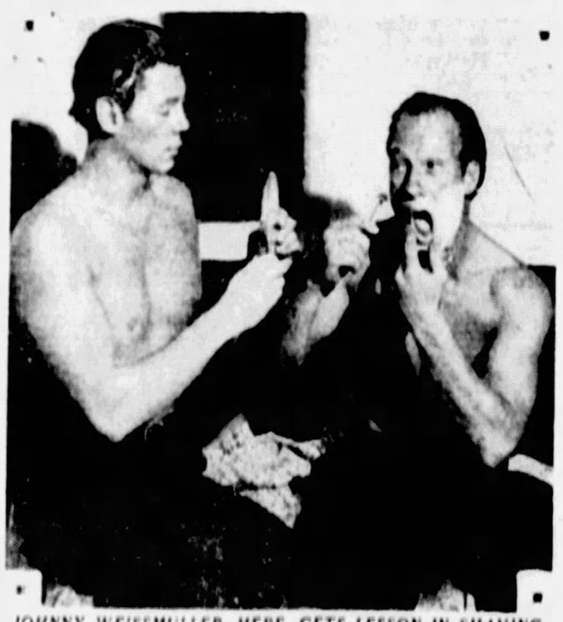
Geneva, Pitt and West Virginia have entered full varsity teams, and, as the three are the ranking collegiate track powers of the section, their point score tomorrow will come close to settling the otherwise debatable college title.

The carnival promises a peck of thrills, with two events standing out above all others. In one, Howard Spencer, Geneva's crack high jumper, will attempt to set a new world record. His best effort to date, 6 feet 5⅝ inches, is the best that ever has been recorded hereabouts.

In what promises to be the piece de resistance on the cinders, two crack relay teams, Pitt's and Geneva's, will hook up in the college class mile relay. Geneva will use Thomas, Evans, Sauer and Brust, with Thomas, the Negro sprint star, running as anchor man. Pitt's lineup will consist of Woody Harris, Bill Keller, Capt. Len Monheim and either Jim Watkins or the sensational Panther freshman star, Kiger.

Major letters for boxing have been awarded to two Duquesne University athletes, Elmer F. Layden, director of athletics, announced today. Fred Moore, of Youngstown, O., won the Eastern Intercollegiate boxing conference title in the 145-pound class this year. Fred (Speedy) Vitulla, also of the school of pharmacy, was the other recipient of the "D."

TEACHING TARZAN HOW



JOHNNY WEISSMULLER, HERE, GETS LESSON IN SHAVING

Hero of the "Tarzan" role in the jungle motion picture, Johnny Weissmuller, famous swimming star, arrived in town today to begin a personal appearance at the Penn Theater. He was accompanied by his old friend, Stubby Kreuger, also a noted swimmer, who is pictured above showing the Tarzan man a few tricks about shaving in his dressing room. Weissmuller will perform with the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Trained Seals over WCAE next Wednesday evening. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

Northwestern Cuts Grid Ducat Prices

CHICAGO, June 3.—(AP)—Down comes the price of football tickets at Northwestern University.

Heretofore, tickets for all games sold for $3. Today the committee announced $3 would be charged for only two games, Purdue and Ohio, with the others reduced to $2.50. The price of season books also was slashed from $14 to $10.

SCHOLARSHIPS BANNED

ALLENTOWN, Pa., June 3.—(AP)—Athletic scholarships were abolished and a system for aiding deserving students adopted at the annual meeting of the trustees of Muhlenberg College. Eight honor scholarships will be awarded each year to men who are needy and a loan fund will permit students to borrow up to two-thirds of their tuition.

MANGIN, PERRY DEFEATED

AUTEUIL, France, June 3.—(AP)—Gregory Mangin, last of the Americans in the men's singles of the French tennis championships, was eliminated today in the quarter-final round by Henri Cochet, France's great champion, 6-3, 7-5, 5-7, 6-3.

The New Jersey youngster followed Sidney Wood, of New York, only other American in the men's singles, to the sidelines when he failed to solve Cochet's fine chop strokes.

Mme. Rene Mathieu, France's leading woman tennis player, defeated Betty Nuthall in the semi-finals of the women's singles, and will play Mrs. Helen Wills Moody for the title. The score was 6-2, 6-4.

Two upsets marked quarter-final play in men's singles, Roderich Menzel, the Czech star, defeating England's Davis Cup hope, Fred Perry, 2-6, 6-1, 1-6, 6-3, 7-5, and George de Stefani, of Italy, defeating H. G. N. Lee, of England, 6-3, 9-7, 6-2. Lee yesterday put out Rene Lacoste, former French ace.

Mrs. Moody is scheduled to play against Mme. Mathieu in the final on Sunday. The American star said she hoped to be able to compete, but doubt was expressed over her ability because she is now confined to bed owing to blistered feet.

PIRATES LOSE TO CUBS IN OPENER, 9-5

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

The morale of his club suffering on account of his prolonged absence, Capt. Pie Traynor, of the Pirates, will make a determined effort to go to his third-base post this afternoon when the Buccos and Cubs tangle in the second game of their series.

Pie Traynor

Manager Gibson and Capt. Traynor sat side by side on the bench yesterday and witnessed the worst reaction the Free-booters have shown since they started their magnificent drive about two weeks ago. It is out of the question to ask the willing Canuck to take a place in the lineup, but Pie will be out there today if he is able to put anything at all on the ball as he throws it around the diamond.

Traynor remained in the Pirate clubhouse for 30 minutes last night taking special treatment for his sore shoulder. He was back on Doc Jorgen's operating table this morning for more treatment. The good doctor gave Traynor's right arm some strenuous action, after which Pie said he felt a lot better; in fact said he would give the doctor a written testimonial, and, provided he is able to play today, Traynor will buy Jorgensen his dinner.

SWETONIC TO HURL

Steve Swetonic will twirl for the home team this afternoon. He is likely to be opposed by Bob Smith.

The Bruins were mean bat swingers yesterday as they landed a 9-to-5 triumph over the Oaklanders. Glenn Spencer, with 20 innings of consecutive pitching to his credit, was the principal victim of the Chicago barrage. Spencer was given loose support in the first inning when the Cubs scored twice.

Shortstop Floyd Vaughan had another bad day afield. The Pirates might as well assume a defense handicap on the part of this fine boy. Floyd has done wonders in less than two years of professional baseball, but the fact remains he does not have the finesse necessary for the position, and probably won't have until he gets a full season under his belt.

Paul Waner continued his great hitting by banging out a homer, a double and a single. Secondbaseman Herman robbed Paul of a hit on his fourth attempt as the clever recruit nailed a hot liner in one hand.

VAUGHAN KICKS TWO

Vaughan's two errors gave the Bears two runs in the first round. The Waner Act went over in a hurry to score one for the Buccos, but others folded up in the inning. The Waner skit went over in a big way in the third as the Pirates scored twice to take the lead, but the Bruins came back with two in the fourth and refused to yield. They counted five times in the sixth and seventh to put the game on the ice. Leon Chagnon and Ervin Brame followed Spencer to the mound.

Charley Root worked the entire game for the Cubs. Root had been far off form in the early rounds of yesterday's fight, but as the game progressed he looked more like his oldtime self.

The home officials will inaugurate children's day at Forbes Field this afternoon. All children up to and including 12 years will be admitted free to the park. The plan will be carried out on Mondays and Fridays during June, July and August.

BROWN AND BETTS KEEP BRAVES IN RACE

GOMEZ TRIMS MACKS AGAIN; NATS WIN

Associated Press.

Bobby Brown and Huck Betts, of the bouncing Boston Braves, a youngster of 20 and a veteran of 33, are putting on one of the greatest pitching acts seen in the National or any other league in recent years.

A club that can pick up one winning rookie in this day of keen competition is doing pretty well, but here Manager Bill McKechnie has found a pair who look like world beaters. Each has contributed five victories to the Braves' pennant fight and neither has met defeat.

Brown has been particularly poisonous to Brooklyn, beating the Dodgers four times. Twice he has limited Max Carey's pupils to four hits and again to five. His second four-hitter was achieved yesterday, when he clipped the Dodgers, 5 to 1, in the second game of a doubleheader after Brooklyn had beaten Socks Seibold, 6 to 1, in the first.

The Braves, however, lost ground to the leading Chicago Cubs, who beat Pittsburgh 9 to 5.

Lefty Gomez rang up his ninth victory against one defeat as the Yankees trimmed the Athletics, 5 to 1. The Castilian beat the A's for the fourth straight time.

Washington strengthened its hold on second place in the American with a double win over the floundering Boston Red Sox, 6 to 4 and 8 to 1. Buddy Myer drove out his one thousandth hit in the first game.

The St. Louis Browns beat the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 2. Cleveland's scheduled doubleheader at Detroit was rained out.

SET MARKS IN SCHOOL MEET

Musico, Langley, setting a new record in winning the mile run in the annual city high school championship track and field meet at Schenley Oval yesterday.

Jim Fassinger, Carrick, winning the discus throw and Bob Gillander, Perry, winner of the shotput (inset). All three athletes in these Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph pictures set new records.

SCHOOL NINES IN BATTLES TODAY

The baseball nines hold the scholastic sport spotlight today as City League and W. P. I. A. L. nines clash in championship tests.

In the City League, Westinghouse and Allegheny battle in the second game of the annual three-game series for the league crown, with Westinghouse, champion of Section I, needing a victory to tie the North Siders, leaders in Section II. Allegheny won the first game of the series, played Tuesday, in 11 innings, by a 5-to-4 score. Today's encounter will be staged at Greenlee Field and is scheduled to get under way promptly at 4 o'clock.

Ambridge, champions of W. P. I. A. L. Section II, meets Carnegie of Section I, conquerors of the defending champs, McKeesport, at Forbes Field for the league championship. The contest will get under way at 6 o'clock.

In the third and deciding game of the series for the junior high school title, Herron Hill and Gladstone clash this afternoon on the Taylor Allerdice Field.

C. Lawrence Walsh, director of physical education in the city schools, and Bill Evans, chairman of the W. P. I. A. L. baseball committee, are striving to arrange a benefit game between the City League and W. P. I. A. L. champions.

Oakland to Play Games at Night

OAKLAND, Cal., June 3.—(AP.)—Night baseball outdraws day games by between 15 and 20 per cent in Oakland, so the fans will get their Coast League offerings of the national pastime here after dark for the balance of the season.

Victor Devencenzi, vice president of the Oaks, said he and his associates had given day and night games a trial of two weeks each. By their turnouts the fans showed they preferred their baseball at night.

Columbus Woman Wins Shoot Title

VANDALIA, O., June 3.—(AP.)—Mercedes Huff, of Columbus, defeated Mrs. H. E. Worth, of Dayton, 85 to 84, to win the Ohio state singles trapshooting championship for women at the annual tournament here yesterday.

Charles Bogert, of Sandusky, won the men's singles title by a total score of 198 out of 200.

BAN ON NEGRO STARS ERROR

BALTIMORE, June 3.—(AP.)—A pronouncement that regulations prohibited Negroes from appearing on athletic fields at Johns Hopkins University, which threatened to bar four youths entered for the Olympic qualifying meet there tomorrow has been termed an error.

Henry Iddins, auditor of the university, announced the supposed regulation yesterday, and the barring of two Morgan College and two St. Paul's school athletes followed.

Iddins communicated with William Hartung, chairman of the South Atlantic Athletic Association, and told him that he had made a mistake, and there was no restriction which would bar Negroes from the meet.

Before the announcement Hartung and Joseph T. England, chairman of the American Olympic Track and Field committee, said the Negroes would be allowed to participate in the final Eastern trials at Harvard without qualifying here.

Perfect Caddies To Get Scholarships

CHICAGO, June 3.—(AP.)—The Western Amateur Golf Association is going to look around each year for three "perfect caddies" and send them to college.

Dean James W. Anderson, of Northwestern University, Evanston, announced yesterday that three caddies will enter the institution on one-year scholarships supplied by income from a trust fund of the golf association. Each club member will be permitted to nominate its "perfect caddie" as a candidate.

A committee, including Chick Evans, former national amateur and open champion, will make the final selections.

Good class work by three caddies who are attending Northwestern prompted the idea.

Martens and Martin Named Captains

PHILADELPHIA, June 3.—(AP.)—George (Sonny) Martens today was elected captain of the University of Pennsylvania baseball team for 1933, while John K. Martin was named as leader of the varsity crew for the intercollegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie, June 20.

Martens, star first baseman, is a junior in the Wharton School. His home is in Snyder, N. Y., a suburb of Buffalo. Martin, who rows No. 6 on the crew, is a senior in the Wharton School and is from Quincy, Mass.

The crew today awarded the Thomas Reath trophy to John Cadwalader, of Ambler, Pa., as the most inspiring senior among the oarsmen.

WESTINGHOUSE TEAMS WIN

The city scholastic track and field championship trophies will remain in the custody of the senior and junior teams of Westinghouse High School for another year. Yesterday the Silver Lakers successfully defended the honors they won a year ago by finishing in front in the annual championship meet at Schenley Oval.

Westinghouse's senior team tallied 90½ points, against 74 for Oliver, 31 each for Langley and Schenley, 25 for South Hills, 19½ for Peabody, 16 for Allerdice, 14 for Carrick, 12 for Perry and 4 for Fifth Avenue. The Westinghouse juniors counted 37½ points, with Herron Hill taking down 20, Somers 12, Fifth avenue 8½, Liberty 7, Baxter and Oliver 5, Overbrook 3, and Gladstone 2.

Four senior records toppled. Thomas, of Oliver, covering the 220-yard dash in 22.6. Musico, of Langley, state champion and record holder in the mile winning the event in 4:40.6; Fassinger, of Carrick, hurling the discus 119 feet, 2 inches and Gillander, of Perry, the shot 47 feet, 5 inches.

Westinghouse's junior relay team cracked the record for the 440-yard relay by turning in a 47.6 quarter.

The Princeton Alumni Association of Western Pennsylvania, through B. F. Horne, Jr., presented the victors a fine trophy, which must be won three times before becoming a permanent possession.

Hot Springs Play In Semi-Finals

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., June 3.—(AP.)—Three Southwestern golfers eliminated their Southern rivals and advanced to the women's Southern golf tournament semi-finals today in which a lone player residing east of the Mississippi will seek to prevent the title from moving west of the river for the first time.

The Dixie woman, Mrs. Ben Fitzhugh, of Vicksburg, Miss., comedalist and champion of her state, yesterday eliminated Miss Margaret Maddox, of Atlanta, 3 and 1.

Gene Venzke Out Of N. Y. Meet

POTTSTOWN, Pa., June 3.—(AP.)—A slight hip injury will keep Gene Venzke, world champion indoor miler, out of the New York A. C. meet tomorrow.

Venzke was taken to the Philadelphia University Hospital today, where an examination revealed the athlete had suffered slight ligamental strain in his right hip.

Venzke's trainer, Michael F. Sweeney, said the injury was not serious.

THOMPSON TO QUIT

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 3.—(AP.)—Young Jack Thompson, twice holder of the world welterweight title, has announced that he is all through with the boxing game. The Negro flier stopped here en route to Los Angeles from Seattle, where he fought last week against Leonard Bennett.

GROGAN TO BOX PETROLLE HERE

OMAHA, Neb., June 3.—(AP.)—Tommy Grogan, Omaha lightweight, has been matched to fight Billy Petrolle, Fargo (N. D.) boxer, in a 10-round bout at Pittsburgh, June 15, Grogan's manager said today.

Matchmaker Jules Beck today confirmed the report that he has signed Billy Petrolle to box Tommy Grogan in the main bout of his second show, at Greenlee Field, one week from next Wednesday.

Central Track Meet Opens in Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, June 3.—(AP.)—A general onslaught on Central intercollegiate outdoor track and field records, some of which have stood since the first program in 1926, was predicted as athletes from 18 midwestern colleges and universities met this afternoon and tonight in the Marquette University Stadium for the seventh annual central games.

Particular assaults are expected in the dashes, 880-yard run, mile relay, the hurdles, the shot put and the high jump.

The Universities of Wisconsin and Chicago provide the first Western Conference opposition in the Central meet. Other title favorites are Notre Dame, Butler, Marquette and Michigan State.

Chilly Sauce

"I'll probably get hit in the head with a line drive, but even if I do I'll still be as good as a few other outfielders in the league," opined Rogers Hornsby, as he discussed his outfield plan.

The Rajah did not mention any names, but apparently he thinks there are quite a few boys in the pasture who need some cultivating.

Charles (Gabby Gump) Grimm is having another great year for the Cubs. Lefty's pet drives were being caught in the early weeks of the season, but recently they have been tearing up the turf.

Grimm is still the past master of first-sackers. His scoop shovel digno of a double play grounder after the ball had been flipped around second base was a work of art.

Lance Richbourg was the Cub leadoff hitter. Lance is suffering from a lame hip, but he is one sweet performer.

Pirate fans liked what they saw of Tommy Padden yesterday. The clever young catcher is pretty around the plate and apparently he is a sure-fire hitter. He socked one for a single in his one trip to the plate.

A deluge shortly before starting time last night washed out the Buck McTiernan-Tommy Freeman boxing show at Hickey Park, Millvale, giving the Pittsburgh district its first postponement of the outdoor boxing season. Weather permitting, the show will go on tonight with the card intact.

Tommy Freeman

Freeman, former welterweight champion of the world, weighed in at 158 pounds at 3 p. m. yesterday. McTiernan scaled 156½. The weight had been set at 160 pounds, the middleweight limit, but both trained well and came in comfortably under that figure.

Young Rudy, of Charleroi, scaled 146½ pounds and Red Artis, of Philadelphia, 148¼ for the six-round semi-final.

Jack Watson, of Erie, stablemate of Freeman, weighed 156½ pounds, and Bearcat Jones, local Negro, 157, for the third bout, and Johnny Hazel, of the Hill, 135, and Chink Rosanna, of Uniontown, 134½ for the other six-rounder.

Bobby Rowe, East End Negro, weighed 120 and Jimmy White, of the Hill, 124¼ for the four-round opener.

The crowd already had begun to gather when the downpour appeared on the scene last night. The only show of the week here, the card of five bouts is not expected to suffer in the matter of attendance through the postponement.

Between Rounds

Ray Conlan, of Erie, is definitely off the Meyers Bowl card for next Monday night. A new opponent will be signed today to oppose Marty Gerbick in the 10-round opener.

Tony Marino is working out at the Lenwood gym with Jackie Wilson and other fast partners for his windup battle with Midget Wolgast, the bantamweight champion, at the Bowl. A speedy boxer himself, he is preparing to combat the champion's quick-shifting attack.

Both the Meyers Bowl and Greenlee Field are dickering for kid Chocolate's services.

Red Hutton, the light-heavyweight whom Pete Canay has been grooming for a year at New Castle, is ready to be turned loose and wants to box in local rings.

Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, boxes Marty McHale, of McKeesport, in the main bout of 10 rounds at Jim McGirr's new club at Steubenville, O., tonight.

Joey Speigal, of Uniontown, is hot on the trail of Marty Gerbick, whom he boxed several times in the amateur ranks. He also would like to wipe out his recent defeat by Marty Oldach in their fourth meeting, after they had boxed a draw the first time and Speigal had won the next two bouts. Speigal has just only to Davy Grove and Marty Oldach in 24 professional fights. He also would like to get another crack at Grove.

The Twenty-seventh Ward A. C. stages its first open-air amateur boxing show of the season in its North side arena, 2600 California avenue, this evening. Russ Alig and Bill Keburtis, heavyweights, are in the main event of a six-bout bill.

The card has been completed for the all-star show of four 10-rounders at Greenlee Field next Wednesday night with the signing of Jimmy Belmont and Billy Heir for the opener. Maxie Rosenbloom, the light-heavyweight champion, meets Larry Johnson, of Chicago, in the main bout, a non-title affair. Johnny Datto and Ray Miller are in the semi-final and Henry Grundberg, of New York, opposes Paul Perone, of Cleveland, in the second event.

MAT MEET CARDED

NEW YORK, June 3.—(INS.)—The national amateur wrestling championship will be held here in the new Garden Bowl the week of June 27.

WOMEN PLAN NET DUELS

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Pittsburgh's tennis renaissance waxes stronger daily. Comes word now that informal women's team play involving feminine stars of the Allegheny Country Club, the Fox Chapel Golf Club and the Edgeworth Club looms in prospect for Thursday or Friday of next week.

Plans for the competition are as yet more or less tentative, but it is certain that the initial contests will be staged on the grass courts of the Allegheny Country Club.

Mrs. W. C. Robinson, Jr., and Mrs. W. L. Standish are prime movers in the new undertaking and it is their hope that, if the impending activity meets with enthusiastic response, next year it will prove feasible to organize a women's net league here.

Allegheny will feature a powerful contingent, including Mrs. Felix B. Snowden, Mrs. Stuart Brown, Jr., Mrs. W. P. Snyder, Jr., Mrs. J. H. Richardson III, Miss Nancy Lee Byers, Mrs. William Trimble and Miss Peggy Painter. Miss Dorothy Jarvis heads the Edgeworth roster, which also flashes Mrs. D. M. Simmons, Mrs. C. A. Jones, Mrs. K. J. Tener and Miss E. Gillette, while Mrs. John Crossan Hays, Mrs. Ralph Lynch, Mrs. J. Henry O'Neill, Miss Louise Totten and Miss Phyllis Totten are aligned with a promising Fox Chapel delegation.

Pittsburgh racqueters provided exhibition hostilities yesterday as four new clay courts were opened to the McKeesport citizenry at Renziehausen Park. In singles, Julius Boise downed Paul Sullivan, P. A. A. performer, 6-3, 6-1, and Bill Servick, University of Alabama ace, nosed out Sam Keller, former Duquesne University captain, 6-4. In the doubles, Boise and Sullivan came from behind to down the Keller-Servick combine, 2-6, 6-2, 6-4.

The fine court battery is the gift of Miss Millie Renziehausen to the City of McKeesport. That the rectangles will see constant use is a foregone conclusion. Even thus early it is the aim of Tube City officials to hold a municipal tourney before the end of the current campaign.

JOHNS REGAIN LOOP LEAD

Johnstown regained possession of first place in the Middle Atlantic League yesterday by defeating Charleston's Senators, 6 to 2, at Charleston. The Johnnies hit at opportune moments to win.

Huntington got off to an early lead and defeated Cumberland, 9 to 6, at Huntington. At Beckley, Dick Montague won his sixth game in a row for the Black Knights by beating Clarksburg, 11 to 6. Chiozza, Beckley shortstop, hit safely in his thirteenth consecutive game.

Sectional Amateur Ring Meets Proposed

NEW YORK, June 3.—(AP.)—A plan for staging the annual Amateur Athletic Union boxing championships in six sections, with the finals bringing together no more than 48 boxers in a two-night competition, has been advanced by Daniel J. Ferris, secretary of the A. A. U.

Hitherto the tournament has brought together a field of 100 to 175 youngsters in half a dozen successive sessions, with most of the boys exhausted by the time they had fought their way through half a dozen bouts to the finals.

Under the new plan, Ferris said, Chicago, Los Angeles, or New Orleans would support next year's tourney.

Tokio to Make Bid For 1940 Olympics

TOKIO, June 3.—(AP.)—Tokio is going after the twelfth Olympic games, to be held in 1940.

Four members of the municipal assembly have been named to travel to Los Angeles to place the claims of Japan's capital before Olympic authorities during the tenth Olympics this summer.

Supporters of the scheme are confident Japan's athletic showing in the games this year and in 1936 will place her among the leading athletic nations of the world.

NEWARK GETS OWES

NEWARK, N. J., June 3.—(INS.)—The Newark Bassha Club announced today that Bobby Brewer, shortstop, and another player not yet named have been traded for Marvin Owen, shortstop, formerly of the International League.

The first half championship of the City League probably will be decided this evening when Books and Dormont clash in the season's feature game at Dormont.

The Books have been playing sensational baseball, and apparently the cities did not miss their losses before the season started when they picked Heinie Ball and his comrades to give Dormont the big fight.

The defeat of the champions by Homewood shows just what can happen in baseball. With every team in the loop kicking Homewood around, the Dalymen turned around and beat the champs.

Dormont fans still are confident that Billy Fuchs and his team will stop the pennant dash of the Bookmen. With Stewart and Steele to hurl against either Carroll or Martin, there is every reason to feel that the fans will see the outstanding battle of the season.

The Homestead Grays and the Baltimore Black Sox battling for the lead in the East-West League, transfer the scene of their activities today to Cycler Park, Mc-Keesport, where they'll clash in the second fray of a four-game series. The Grays won last evening's encounter at Greenlee Field, 6 to 4, and tightened their grasp on first place.

Books won over Reliance Life, 8-3; North Siders walloped the Frank Ferris nine, 10-3, and Geislers downed J. L. Thomas, 6-3, in City League tussles.

The OLYMPIC GAMES

By Lawson Robertson

Head Coach American Olympic Teams

California will have much to say about the make up of the American Olympic team this year.

Always blessed with great college athletes, as well as graduated stars who are members of athletic clubs, California this year has one of the most remarkable collections of all time to make the bid for Olympic honors.

The list of sprinters is topped by the great Frank Wykoff. Also has a sensation in Bob Kiesel. He, Over is a grand runner. There are other 100 and 200-meter men out there who will give a good argument to rivals from all parts of the United States.

EASTMAN WONDER RUNNER

Bill Eastman had been performing miracles at 440 and 880. This fellow seems to be a superman on the track. He has shattered records without real effort and so repeatedly has distanced fields of good quarter and half-milers that he is in a class all his own.

Dick Barber is a wonder at broad-jumping. They have some high jumpers who negotiate 6 feet 6 inches apparently without nearing the limit. Leo Barnes is a record-holder in the pole vault with 14 feet 1 inches and Bill Graber of Southern California has been soaring to dizzy heights.

California always has had great ones with the weights. Herman Brix is the bright flaming star in shotputting. La Borde and Hall of Southern California are stars at both the shotput and discus throwing. They have a half-dozen other men out in that country who may electrify with their throws in the tryouts.

MAY LEAD ALL STATES

Jimmy Demers and Ken Churchill rate as the best javelin throwers in this country. California has some others who have performed brilliantly, and one of these plus Demers and Churchill may crown out all eastern competition and make the javelin squad an all-California aggregation.

Just how many of the 60 places on the team will be won by California is a guess, but it is an established fact right now that California will have more representation than any other state in the Union.

(Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Nick Altrock Baseball's Humorist Says:

BOSTON, June 3.—What baseball needs more than anything else this season is a third division for the Red Sox team. There's a rumor around town the Boston club will be put on the market. Well, if they sell it for what it's worth, you should be able to buy the team at Woolworth's notion counter.

Nick Altrock

When the Giants did a nose dive this spring, the critics said it was because McGraw's club was principally a hot weather team. Well, we've had a couple of heat waves since then and the only result was more Giant pitchers took shower baths. From what I make out of this year's Giants, it's more a hot water team.

ALUMNI STARS PLAY TODAY

By TOM BIRKS

The big golf event of today will find the Western Pennsylvania alumni of Yale, Harvard and Princeton staging their first annual golf, tennis and field meet at the Fox Chapel Golf Club. This is the first time in the history of the local Big Three alumni group that a golf tourney has been arranged. The committee in charge is looking for a turnout in excess of 200. J. Bernd Rose, popular Allegheny Country Club star, will be in charge of the golf tourney. Individual cups will be presented low scorers in each group, and the Yale, Harvard and Princeton Club has donated a cup for the team trophy.

Walter F. Arensburg will captain the Harvard tennis team. W. W. Parshley, Stanley Brown, William A. Gordon, Wells Fay and William G. Soule will complete the Crimson squad.

Charles Lockhart will captain the tennis team for the Tigers and McCook Reed will select the aggregation that will represent Yale.

A mushball game has been arranged and devotees of bridge also will engage in competition.

The Western Pennsylvania Women's Golf Association will hold a one-day tourney over the links of the Youghiogheny Country Club today.

Amateur Tourney Titles Decided

UNIONTOWN, Pa., June 3.—(AP.)—Championships in the Golden Gloves boxing tournament were well distributed. Only one bout failed to go the limit of three rounds in the finals last night. The summary:

112-pound—Jimmy Asto, Sands A. C., Uniontown, stopped Fred Krause, Pleasant Valley A. C., 2 rounds.

118-pound—William Morgan, Brownsville, outpointed Mark Andreoli, Grindstone A. C.

126-pound—William Kier, Pleasant Valley A. C., won over John Matthews, P. V. A. C.

135-pound—James Boy Evans, West Newton A. C., outpointed Nick Dudzic, Sands A. C.

158-pound—Steve Sierra, Sands A. C., won from Vince Browning, Fayette A. C., Connellsville.

175-pound—Jack Smith, Fayette A. C., outpointed George Bittner, P. V. A. C.

Akron Loses Berth In Central League

AKRON, O., June 3.—(AP.)—Akron apparently has lost its baseball franchise in the Central League, although definite statement to this effect has not been made by President Frederick Howell.

It had been previously announced that unless at least $500 cash was raised today the franchise would be transferred at once, probably to Canton, Massillon or Mansfield. All attempts at raising the sum have failed.

Reports were the franchise will go to Canton, which will have big league backing.

Ted Luther, popular Valley Heights professional, is suffering from hay fever this is one time when Ted will keep his head down on the issue, though.

Sam Parks Jr., professional at the Summit Hotel and Golf Club at Uniontown, played a practice round at Oakmont yesterday afternoon. Sam, who always liked the Hilltop layout, wants to qualify for the National open in his first attempt since leaving the ranks of the amateurs.

The qualifying round, scheduled next Monday at Oakmont, will find Charley Manning and Fred Baroni absent. Neither is keen to make the trip to Fresh Meadow.

Toots Erath, likeable pro at Edgewood, shot a 77 over the Oakmont layout in a practice round. Two rounds like that Monday will land him in the select circle.

Sweepstake events at Bobkeley are barred permanently, following an unexplained edict handed down yesterday by Director of Public Works Edward G. Lang.

Capt. W. A. Palmer, athletic director at Shady side Academy, is contemplating holding an open scholastic golf tournament this summer. A meeting will be held next week to arrange the affair and the sanction of the educational board will be sought.

A 72-hole tournament for tri-state professionals and a select group of amateurs will be staged at the Oakland Beach course, Conneaut Lake, June 13 and 14. Namacolin also will hold a pro-amateur tourney the latter part of the month.

Columbus to Open New Stadium Today

COLUMBUS, O., June 3.—(INS.)—Notables of the baseball world, including former Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of organized baseball, gathered here today for the formal opening of Columbus' new $400,000 Red Bird Stadium.

Approximately 15,000 fans were expected to jam the new stadium for the inaugural ceremony, at which the Columbus club will play an official American Association contest with the Louisville Colonels.

In addition to former Judge Landis, the guest list includes President John Heydler, of the National League; President Thomas J. Hickey, of the American Association; Govs. Ruby Laffoon, of Kentucky, and George White, of Ohio; Mayor Henry Worley, of Columbus, and the mayors of 30 central Ohio cities.

VINES BEATS SHIELDS

NEW YORK, June 3.—(INS.)—Ellsworth Vines, holder of the national tennis singles championship, today held a victory notch over Frank Shields, his Davis Cup teammate, in an exhibition match at Forest Hills. Vines won, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3.

WHITE SOX GET PITCHER

CHICAGO, June 3.—(AP.)—Completion of a deal was announced today by the Chicago White Sox whereby Pitcher Hal Mc-Kain and Outfielder Hal Anderson of the Rose were traded to Toronto, of the International League, for Pitcher Art Smith, a right-hander.

Pacific Phone Dividend Indicates No Change In A T T Rates

In some quarters in Wall street it is felt the action of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company in declaring the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 on the common stock may be taken as an indication that the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, which controls, has no present intention of changing its own annual dividend rate of $9. Pacific is one of the largest of the American Telephone and Telegraph subsidiaries and American Telephone and Telegraph owns more than 83 per cent of its common stock. The Pacific company in the first quarter earned $1.49 a share.

Vacancies on the directorate of the Associated Gas and Electric Company caused by the resignation of C. W. Bell, W. E. McGregor and George D. Woods, of the Chase Harris Forbes Corporation, were not filled at the annual meeting of stockholders. The company, in a statement issued last week, said its financing program was such as to warrant less representation on its board by the Chase Harris Forbes Corporation its bankers. The company announced that plans are under consideration for financing the maturity on June 15 of $7,500,000 Staten Island Edison Corporation, one-year 3 per cent notes. This company is a subsidiary.

A number of large blocks changed hands at intervals yesterday, some of which attracted more than passing notice. One such transaction involved a block of 5,873 shares of United States Pipe and Foundry first preferred. Another equally interesting was a block of 9,300 shares of General Electric special stock at 10¾, duplicating the year's low. Other transactions of more or less unusual character included a series of sales of Corn Products preferred, which broke par for a spell, but rallied quickly, and the shifting of several large blocks of Brooklyn - Manhattan Transit, which likewise rallied after changing hands at new low levels.

Although conservation rules in the motor car industry, both in manufacturing and merchandising practices, the more optimistic among the sales division personnel are losing sight of no opportunity to support their contention that the moderate upward trend has not yet reached its peak. Because a counter-trend in motor car sales developed during the last few weeks considerable talk has been heard in trade circles of the sales possibilities of the coming weeks. Not a few of the sales executives have voiced the belief that because the Ford company has just begun to get into heavier production the belated upturn may continue on into June and July.

Until the collapse of the automobile industry's market in the fall of 1929 its prosperity was measured almost invariably by production figures. Much was said of how many million cars the industry would produce in the current year; "the industry has now decided that 4,500,000 units constitutes a normal production," or "replacement demand alone requires 3,000,000 new cars," were expressions frequently heard, while relatively little was said about new car registration.

Authoritative figures on the registration of new cars from January 1 to April 30 of this year show a total of only 378,374 new passenger cars sold in the United States. Even if this figure is maintained throughout the balance of the year, which apparently is unlikely, the total sales of new cars will fall considerably below last year's total, in round figures, 1,900,000 units.

American industrial concerns have found the services of their trade associations extremely valuable in recent months. This is indicated by a survey of trade association membership and income changes made by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. The survey revealed a general condition of strength among trade organizations. As compared with much larger percentage declines in most lines of industry, the trade associations included in the survey reported an average falling off of only about 6 per cent in membership and a decline of a little more than 10 per cent in income in 1931 as compared with 1930.

New Oil Production Gained Last Month

OIL CITY, Pa., June 3.—(AP.)—The Derrick says May oil well completions east of the Rockies totaled 1,257, with a daily initial production of 167,482 barrels. There were 258 dry holes and 77 gassers.

In April there were 1,073 completions, with 168,727 barrels daily initial production, 282 dry holes and 81 gas wells.

In East Texas the completions in May were 601 wells, 44,192 barrels initial production, and in April 439 completions and 34,074 barrels initial production.

CREDIT POLICY CONTINUED

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(AP.)—The Federal Reserve System continued its open market policy of injecting strength in the credit situation of the banks of the country during the last week by buying government securities totaling $50,000,000.

The amount was $9,000,000 less than last week and approximately half what the Federal Reserve banks purchased each week for five weeks in April and May. The $50,000,000 brought the holdings of government securities by the reserve banks to $1,575,000,000, $377,000,000 more than a year ago.

On June 1 the total reserve bank credit amounted to $2,122,000,000 an increase of $74,000,000 for the week and of $1,184,000,000 in a year. On the other side of the ledger the gold movement continued away from American shores and the country lost $101,000,000 of the yellow metal. This still left it with the largest supply of any nation in the world, amounting to $4,106,000,000. The loss for the year on June 1 totaled $687,000,000.

Currency which has been returning to the banks and the Treasury from circulation again spurted upward to a total of $5,467,000,000 which was an increase of $57,000,000 over last week. The total was $794,000,000 more than was in circulation on June 3, a year ago.

TRADE GAINING DUN'S SAYS

NEW YORK, June 3.—(AP.)—There have been no developments in trade and industry to stimulate enthusiasm during the past week, but in a few special lines of retail activity business has been on a more active plane by reason of seasonal demand, according to the weekly mercantile reviews.

Dun's review looks at the situation with some degree of optimism, declaring that wholesale and retail distributive totals made the best showing in volume of any month this year, with tonnage handled and unit sales increasing moderately.

To Bradstreet's, the general business and industrial outlook appears less favorable. It states that although the weather during the past week has been ideal for a seasonal growth of business activity, whatever there has been of an uplift has been so slight as to be of but little benefit.

This review comments that indecision and delay on the part of Congress and restriction of credit by banks, are believed largely responsible for the present dormant state of business. Because of new activitie in automobile manufacturing, business has improved in the centers of that industry, the review states.

COAL RECEIVERS APPOINTED

NEW YORK, June 3.—(AP.)—Following an original equity action in Baltimore yesterday, Federal Judge Julian W. Mack appointed Robert C. Hill, Frank R. Lyon and Howell Fisher ancillary receivers in equity for the Consolidation Coal Company, which owns 300,000 acres of bituminous coal fields in Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky.

The funded debt of the company amounts to $25,000,000 and its current liabilities to more than $1,000,000. A statement issued after April 30 listed assets of that date at $83,524,378. Lack of liquid assets is blamed for the company's position. An announcement by the company said:

"Appointment of the receivers was made upon application of George H. Whitten, of New York, a bondholder, and Emma V. Sweeney, a stockholder, in order to conserve the assets and business of the company for the benefit of all parties concerned, and followed the filing by the company of an answer joining in the request for appointment of receivers."

The application stated, continued the announcement, that the company omitted payment of June 1 interest on its 5 per cent bonds "because conditions in the bituminous coal industry have caused a drastic decline in the company's business and net revenues are not equal to the annual interest charges on the funded debt."

Stanolind Calls $10,000,000 of Bonds

CHICAGO, June 3.—(AP.)—The Stanolind Crude Oil Purchasing Company, subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, announced it would redeem, August 5, $10,000,000 in outstanding 5½ per cent gold series bonds, series A, due January 1, 1938. The redemption will be at 102 and accrued interest. The bonds were originally issued by the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Company, the Stanolind's predecessor, and are part of a $42,000,000 issue of which $31,000,000 were outstanding May 27.

Wall Street Spectator

Stock Rally May Prove More Than Flash in Pan

NEW YORK, June 3.—(INS.)—The market is staging the first rally in some time, with possibilities of its being more than a flash in the pan. Appearance of organized support in the bond market is the big factor. To this is the understanding that efforts are under way to end bank liquidation of securities except where this can not be avoided. The latter is extremely significant since stocks at present prices could have quite an automatic rebound if liquidation is checked.

The market will have to prove this, however, and the test will come on the first reaction. If no selling develops then, there will be more confidence in the advance.

The canny ones, though, are contenting themselves with covering short lines. Still from Missouri.

There was important speculative buying yesterday, largely in the leaders and in Auburn. The latter is said to harbor quite a big short interest. Europe bought a little stock too. Sentiment on the other side is understood to be a little more kindly toward American securities in view of the better action of the dollar and realization that apprehension over the American gold position was highly exaggerated. Recent pressure on Standard of California represented forced liquidation of the holdings of an insider. Some of the selling in Consolidated Gas and Public Service of New Jersey came from an estate, 'tis said. Stories also are current of liquidation of these stocks by a leading railroad family which needed money, since their own stock is no longer paying dividends.

RUGGED RALLY SENDS STOCKS SKYWARD

Advances Maintained When Year's Most Determined Rally Shows Tiredness

NEW YORK, June 3.—(AP.)—Securities markets pushed forward in one of the most determined rallies of the year today. The upturn in shares showed some signs of having spent its force by early afternoon, but advances were well maintained.

Expectations of an early announcement of formation of a banking syndicate to stabilize the bond market, together with the quick agreement on taxation by Senate and House conferees in Washington, were remarkably effective in buoying Wall Street's spirits. Stocks apparently gained much of their strength from the impressive upswing in bonds.

Outstanding groups in the share market were the rails, and such recently depressed issues as the utilities, tobaccos, foods and chemicals. Gains of a point or so were numerous, particularly in the rails. By early afternoon, the market quieted down somewhat, and United States Steel sagged 1 and American Telephone 2 from their best levels.

The appearance of impressive bids in the recently demoralized bond market was probably the most cheering development of the day. Important banking quarters have maintained for some time that there could be no basic improvement in stocks until a fresh glow of health could be infused into bonds. The rail liens which had been most severely depressed led into recovery. Receivership for the Mobile and Ohio Railroad did not hamper the recovery of these issues, since that carrier was regarded as relatively unimportant.

While the upswing in shares undoubtedly gained impetus from short covering, brokers reported considerable buying of preferred stocks and bonds in small lots, suggesting some return of investment buying.

Week-end trade surveys failed to shed new light on the outlook. Dun's found considerable cause for encouragement in the volume of retail trade, while Bradstreet's was again inclined to stress general quiet. With the approach of summer, of course, there is a tendency to look for little change in the general business situation until toward autumn.

GRAINS FOLLOW STOCK UPTURN

CHICAGO, June 3.—Responsive to unexpected downturns in wheat quotations at Liverpool, grain prices here averaged a little lower early today. For the time being, the Liverpool weakness more than offset the influence of stock market strength, opening at ⅜ decline to a shade advance. Chicago wheat futures tended afterward to sag. Corn started ⅛ to ¼ off and subsequently held near the initial range.

Rallies that followed early downturns of wheat values were attributed to indications of large export business in North American wheat overnight, including a liberal amount of United States hard winter. Corn and oats followed wheat. Provisions reflected steadiness of hog values.

Sugar Market.

NEW YORK, June 3.—The raw sugar market was steadier today. Sugar futures opened unchanged to 3 points higher and later showed net advances of 2 to 3 points. The demand was soon supplied, however, and there were partial reactions in the late afternoon. September contracts, after selling up to 88, reacted to 86 with the general market at midday about 1 to 2 points net higher.

Refined was unchanged at 3.75 for fine granulated with a little better inquiry reported although still limited to nearby requirements only.

Rubber Market.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Futures opened quiet: July 2.65, September 2.76, December 2.92, March 3.09-10.

Stop Cutting! International Confab Timely

By B. C. FORBES

NEXT TO unemployment the gravest evil afflicting our economic system is ruinous price cutting. There has been lamentable lack of effort to [illegible] every industry from steel to shoes has slashed its prices. Every industrialist should [illegible] correct the crime which hurts wage-earners, investors hurts tax-payers.

Mr. Forbes

While much could be done and should be done within our own borders to modify this evil, something may be accomplished by the proposed international conference to stabilize commodity prices. Americans have been led to understand that British prime minister Ramsay MacDonald originated the conference idea, but the British have been led to understand that America's ambassador to England, Andrew W. Mellon, was responsible.

"Nobody buys in a falling market," is one of Wall street's seasoned axioms. There is hardly one basic raw material or commodity which is not today selling under the cost of production. Could all prices be raised to a live-and-let-live level conditions would be very greatly improved. The prosperity dating from economic history that as soon as it becomes evident that prices have entered a definite upward movement there will be a scramble on the part of buyers. This applies not only to agricultural commodities but to raw materials of all kinds and also to securities.

It is extremely important therefore, that the downswing be checked and the upswing set agoing. I am assured by influential circles that, provided Congress does its duty in a reasonable way and reasonably promptly, effective steps will be taken to inaugurate recovery in this country. The prediction is freely made that June will mark the culmination of the too-long period of nervous uncertainty and that the advent of the second half of the year will witness a transformation—provided, always, that Washington doesn't make recovery impossible.

SAYS HERBERT N. CASSON Britain's foremost writer on business:

"There are signs that the price-cutting craze is coming to an end. It has never been as bad in Britain as in America. But it has been bad enough. Price-cutting is all smash and no grab. It prevents sales as well as makes them, because it destroys confidence in prices.

"Whenever a man who is a 40 per cent fool starts to cut prices, there is always a man who is a 60 per cent fool who cuts them lower still. To sacrifice profit to volume means to do a lot of work for nothing. And working for nothing isn't business."

President I. S. Call of Calls Bankers' Service Corporation writes this column:

"The bankers of the nation must ease up on credits or else through their own acts they will destroy themselves. Better conditions do not spring from destructive action. Destruction can only be arrested through constructive action."

A BLACK-BORDERED envelope just received contains this black-bordered card:

"The stockholders of the cement industry announce with profound sorrow the passing of dividends. Gone never to return unless through resurrection by good business sense."

JOHN A. BEELER, of the Beeler organization, calls "pertinent" the writer's recent comment in this column:

"A temporarily unbalanced budget would be preferable to an unbalanced social order."

He adds:

"Unusual expenses are amortized and paid for out of future earnings. That is the way the nation paid for the war. Some such plan would be only common business sense now."

ANOTHER READER, Joseph Lewis, writes:

"From now on let our slogan be 'Buy America.'"

Many of us by and by will regret not following that timely advice.

Illinois Central Seeks R. F. C. Loan

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(INS)—The Illinois Central Railroad has asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to approve an application for a three-year loan of $11,000,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. The purpose of the loan is for the payment of interest and other obligations. The road offered as security a sufficient amount of bonds to meet requirements of the corporation.

The Western Pacific asked for a loan of $759,000.

Real Rehabilitation Plan Must Aim at Building Up Consumer Buying Power

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

Universal Service

NEW YORK, June 3.—The recent hysterical markets constitute a reaction to the attempt of business and political management to equivocate and delay when well conceived affirmative action is needed.

They represent a rebuke to [illegible] and belated attempts to deal with symptoms instead of causes.

Mr. Rukeyser

Any real rehabilitation program must aim to augment the gross national income of the United States which has slumped some 35 per cent from the 1929 level. This involves building up consumer buying power, through accelerated public works or private construction, or in any other way.

Farm relief, which would give the farmer a spendable cash income would also and greatly help the [illegible] farmers' purchasing power [illegible] re-employ some of the idle.

In this connection, Thomas D. Campbell, biggest wheat grower in the Northwest, has developed a plan for relief. Incidentally, Mr. Campbell in a message to this column says:

"I believe the passage of a duty on oil, copper and lumber by the Senate is the first step in the return of normal conditions, particularly the duty on oil. The petroleum industry ranks near the top and it is obvious that this duty will greatly stimulate this industry. I feel the next step in the return of prosperity will be a better price for wheat this fall. There is every indication of a short winter wheat crop, and the spring wheat acreage has been greatly reduced.

"I believe that there will be very little surplus this fall after we make provisions for our ordinary carryover of 150,000,000 bushels. A better price for oil and a fair price for wheat and cotton will affect the affairs of many millions of people, and, I believe, will start us back to reasonable normal conditions."

Mr. Campbell's plan is similar to that suggested by W. G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury. He urges Congress to pass an act authorizing the Secretary of Agriculture to establish a daily price on wheat based on the world's price, plus 42 cents a bushel tariff, less freight throughout the United States each day, the same as the daily price is now established for the future sale price in our terminal markets. He proposes that this price apply only to that three-fourths of the crop normally taken for domestic consumption, whereas the other quarter would sell at the world price.

Mr. Campbell would apply the same principle to cotton.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, June 3.—The long suppressed and depressed bond market took a firmer hold on higher price levels today and various issues that have recently been plumbing record depths staged a buoyant upward movement. German government bonds recovered moderately, but French 7s and British 5s eased. United States government issues were fractionally higher.

NAME RECEIVER FOR M. & O.

ST. LOUIS, June 3.—(AP)—The Mobile and Ohio Railroad was thrown into receivership in Federal Court here today and Ernest E. Norris, St. Louis executive vice president of the road, was appointed receiver by Federal Judge Charles B. Faris.

The railroad in an answer filed to the suit admitted allegations of financial distress contained in the suit and joined in the petition for appointment of a receiver.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation recently denied the company a $1,000,000 loan.

NEW YORK, June 3.—(AP)—Difficulties of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad brought to light by a petition for receivership were laid to unregulated bus and barge competition and failure to negotiate a loan with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation by Fairfax Harrison, president of the Southern Railway Company, in a statement last night.

The Southern Railway Company is the largest stockholder in the M. & O. although the latter always has operated as a self-contained property.

BROKERS LOANS TURN UPWARD

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Loans on stocks and bonds to brokers and dealers by reporting Federal Reserve member banks in New York City increased $16,000,000 during the week ended June 1 to $409,000,000. This compares with $393,000,000 in the previous week, the record low, and with the record high of $6,804,000,000 on October 2, 1929. The increase was the first recorded in several weeks.

Hawks Soon to Fly New, Speedier Plane

NEW YORK, June 3.—(AP.)—Capt. Frank M. Hawks, still in a Boston hospital recovering from injuries suffered in a crash in April, will soon be in the air again, and this time in a faster plane than the one in which he established innumerable speed records.

W. S. S. Rodgers, vice president of an oil company, for which Hawks is technical adviser, announced today that a new plane was being built for the injured aviator and will be ready in September.

Leland Hides With His Sister As Jeanette Searches In Vain for Him

CHAPTER III

Lola was fast losing her nerve.

"You mustn't write notes—no one must ever know where I am, Lee!" she cried.

"No one will ever know," he assured her. "Remember you are a Forbes—keep your head and your nerve."

"But think—I have killed my son's father!"

"He deserved killing. Don't talk, sit quietly. I will see you through. I must plan. I must make it appear as though I had gone into Northern Canada."

"But, Lee, think. I left him—he was going to kill me. It was self defense. But my relatives will——"

She broke down at last and Forbes knew enough of women to have her agony of weeping over so she would be calm and sane again.

He sat silently trying to plan. He must get her away before daylight, for it was known that he was her brother, they would come directly to his place to see if Lola had come to him.

LEAVES FALSE CLUES

He recalled all of the "wanted" people caught because of some woman. No, he could never tell Jeanette the truth for, all innocently she might say something to give him away and put the authorities on his trail.

He wrote a memo for tickets to Montreal and left it on his desk. He also left a Canadian Pacific time table beside it. This would give an impression that he had taken that route. Then he packed a suitcase, putting into it the pitifully few things of her own and baby's that Lola had brought. He would not call a taxi. Instead he took little Leland, his baby nephew, and the suitcase, ordered Lola to come with him and appear unconcerned and they walked half a dozen blocks away before taking a taxi.

He bought tickets for Richmond, knowing that he would get off at Baltimore and go another route. Fortunately he got a compartment. Once inside Lola whispered, fearing to raise her voice, "Leland, it's dangerous to take me to your Wytheville place, they know you have it; they'll follow."

"I'm not going there—please trust me. I am going into the Grayson hills—I know them there and they know and trust me. Most of them are moonshiners. They have been making moonshine for fifty years there. In such a hidden locality that no revenue officer ever found them, we shall be entirely safe."

"No woman ever had so wonderful a brother," she said, and, to his delight, she went to sleep.

JEANETTE PUZZLED

The next morning they had changed trains and were going down through the Roanoke Valley.

When Jeanette Morse received the note from Leland she naturally couldn't make a thing out of it.

But she had a feeling woman's intuition perhaps, that it was a very grave matter.

She went directly to the office of Mr. Maxin and asked him if he had received any message from Mr. Forbes. He looked at her queerly for a moment and parried with: "Did you?"

She handed him the note Forbes had written her and in turn he showed her this one:

"I must disappear for reasons I can never explain. I shall continue to write, but under the name of Paul Justin. My copy will be mailed from Portland, Oregon, but I assure you I shall not be there or within thousands of miles of there.

LELAND FORBES."

"What do you make of it?" Jeanette asked anxiously. Old Mr. Maxin was sorely troubled.

"It is something serious, else he would never have done this to me and especially to you."

"I know it is, but, Mr. Maxin, I have full faith in Leland Forbes and I shall trust him implicity. Some day he will explain."

"He says in his note he can never explain."

"Not in my note—and I trust him. I——"

Jeanette turned and hurried out, lest the old man see the tears that suddenly came to her eyes.

Meanwhile, the second train took Leland, his poor sister and the baby on through Wytheville and to a little platform called "crocketts," where trains stopped only on signal or to let off passengers.

REACH DESTINATION

In Roanoke Leland had secured a newspaper. It carried a brief article with this head: Vance Harlow Shot Dead in Home; Wife and Son Missing.

Leland let Lola see it, for he knew it would be better. Here as they got off at this platform in the woods Leland was delighted to see Harvey Orson, a native of Grayson Hills. He rushed up, shook hands, winked at him and said: "I was sure you would meet me and my wife, Harvey."

Orson understood that something was up and played the game. He got his freight, took them in his wagon and drove away over the rough road up into the lonely hills.

Once the deep forest settled around them and the hills hid any habitation for miles, Lola felt more at ease.

Leland knew these moonshining mountaineers and liked them. They trusted him thoroughly, although they thought he was rather cracked to be writing about birds all the time. They never asked questions and resented any questions being asked.

"Harvey," Leland said to Orson, "this is my sister and her baby. We are hiding out. Tell everyone in the hills that we are hiding out and that no one is ever to mention a word."

"Mr. Forbes, I reckon you can trust we all," he answered, and Leland assured his sister that they were safe.

"There's the Burgess place—he died and she married Sam Jackson; you can live in that, hit's plum offen the trail."

"Good," he exclaimed.

LOLA EXPLAINS

Harvey Orson's wife brought over temporary bedding, food and dishes and Orson went to Abingdon and then to Bristol during the next few days, buying all that was needed in the way of bedding, clothing, preserved food and the like.

Moreover, Orson agreed to leave fresh milk daily, and eggs, bread, bacon and vegetables twice a week.

By the time they were settled and a room partitioned off for Lola, Leland felt that his sister was sufficiently herself to give him some details.

Everything seemed perfectly secure. Adams, Leland's lawyer, handled his business, sent his writings to an Oregon lawyer to be mailed back to the publishing house, and looked after the estate in Connecticut.

So, when Leland asked for details, promising never to bring it up again, she told him.

"Vance demanded that I sign a paper," she said, "ordering you to turn my share over to my own management. Lily was out—my maid. He threatened to beat me and when I refused he struck me. I ran to my room, but stopped as I passed through the library and got Vance's revolver, for I feared he would use it on me. If I had only let it alone——"

"He would have used it on you, Lola—you were right."

"He pounded on my door and threatened to kill me. Then he went away. I heard the front door slam and the car motor start and after a long while I packed the little bag, took my baby and started to get out and come to you. I wrote a note telling him that I was leaving forever and left it on the library table. Just then Vance stepped in. I knew he was going to beat me, so I put baby on the divan—he would have struck me even if I held baby. I dreaded the beating and took the revolver from my handbag to scare him away."

SEARCH FOR LELAND

"But, Lola, you could have claimed self defense for you and baby," her brother said.

"With no witnesses? And with his relatives all to testify that I had threatened to kill him? They hated me; they would have perjured themselves to send me to the chair."

"Yes, that's right," Leland agreed and again he knew that there was yet no way for him to go to Jeanette or explain.

"Vance saw the revolver and made a leap for me. He grabbed it and in the struggle I knew he would kill me, but the revolver was discharged and then I fainted from fright. I must have come out of it speedily. Vance was on the floor, dead, but still warm—then I grabbed baby and came to you—and that is all, Leland—all, but enough to ruin my life and yours—"

He quieted her after a while and they tried never to mention it after this.

Back in New York, after the first lot of copy came to Mr. Maxin, mailed from Portland, Oregon, and signed by Paul Justin, Jeanette, notified by Mr. Maxin, took a trip out there. For three long weeks she searched everywhere and even secured a detective but there was no trace of any Paul Justin or Leland Forbes.

Naturally there wouldn't be, since Lawyer Adams of New York sent this copy to a brother lawyer in Portland to remail to the publishing hourse of Maxin & Co.

Heartbroken, discouraged, but still with an abiding faith in Leland, Jeanette came back east.

The winter was not very cold down there in the Grayson Hills. An enormous stove and fireplace kept the little house warm. When Spring came with its flowers and myriad birds, Leland was busier than ever.

FAITH LIVES ON

Baby Leland was then able to walk and to talk a little. Leland built a sunny enclosure outside where he could play.

They knew that Forbes was "hidin' out," not an uncommon thing to them. It was none of their business. If Forbes wanted them to know, he would tell them. There was no danger of their ever telling about it outside.

Jeanette went down to Wytheville.

Old black Mose and Violet greeted her kindly.

"Naw, somebudy sends us money to get erlong, but we aint seed him since he lef' with yo'," they told her and she knew they were truthful.

Jeanette did not wear the beautiful engagement ring. That is, not on her finger, but she wore it on a fine chain, inside her clothes.

Seldom did she discuss it with her sympathetic married sister, Mrs. Kellog.

"I still have faith in him," Jeanette declared, "and until such time as I know there is anything wrong, I shall simply regard it as a mystery."

While her sister was sympathetic, she secretly believed that Leland Forbes had backed out at the last moment for some reason that had to do with his past—and with a woman.

STRANGER PAYS VISIT

Down in the Grayson Hills Leland worked harder than ever. Lola had become rugged and strong and about as happy as she ever expected to be.

After a few years, Leland planned, they would go to South America, sail from some port there, and live in Italy or southern France under assumed names so that the youngster could be properly educated.

All of these discussions were ordeals to Lola, because she realized that she had just about ruined her beloved brother's career.

One day a "furriner" came. Now a "furriner" is anyone who doesn't live in those parts. He rode a handsome horse, was well dressed and keen.

Leland happened to be working in the house when they saw him ride up and stop.

"A detective," Lola gasped, clutching up her baby boy.

"Stay hidden—I'll face him. He looks very much like a detective," Leland agreed.

He stepped out and faced the man, who slid off his horse and strode up to him.

"He deserved killing—don't talk, sit quietly, I will see you through."

Synopsis

Leland Forbes, author of many volumes about bird life, has never met Jeanette Morse, who illustrates his books, until they come together by accident in Virginia. They promptly fall madly and sincerely in love. They plan an early marriage and then Leland's sister, Lola, whose husband is a worthless brute, sends for him. She is too proud to let the world know that her baby son has such a worthless father and Leland promises never to tell. A few days before Leland and Jeanette are to be married Lola comes to her brother and begs him to take her away and hide her, for she has killed her husband. To protect his sister Leland agrees and sends a note to Jeanette telling her he must go away and cannot explain why.

Now Go On

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

The youngsters of Washington, Pa., have been in the habit of attending the regular meetings of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club at the State Theater, will find tomorrow M. M. Wear, manager and his entire personnel ready and waiting to greet them at the Washington Theater which will be opened tomorrow and will remain open until the State Theater, which was destroyed by fire early Tuesday morning, can be rebuilt.

East Liberty's own Dick Powell is returning to the Enright Theater tomorrow, to sing and play for the youngsters who attend the regular meeting of the Junior Komic Club.

FOR KOMIC CLUB ONLY

Dick will be there only for the Komic Club meeting and he is bringing with him a bag full of new songs which he will sing for the youngsters. With Dick will be Bernie Armstrong, popular organist of the Stanley Theater, who will accompany Dick at the piano.

After Dick has completed his part of the program Bernie will play the organ for the boys and girls. He has promised to bring along a set of song slides and it looks as though the members of the Enright chapter will have one of those old-fashioned song fests.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAYS

Congratulations to the following boys and girls, all members of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, who are celebrating their birthdays today:

A MIGHTY PRETTY ROMANCE, IF YOU AST US

(From the Lamar, Missouri, Democrat)

John Blan, of Minden, is the owner of a confectionery where he sells sweets. Some time since, John had occasion to open a box of candy in his store and therein he found the name and address of a Nevada, Missouri, young lady. John wrote the lady, seeking correspondence. His letter was answered, the reply showing the writer was a lady. It was arranged that a meeting should take place, the lady stating she would wear a red rose in her corsage. John was to wear a rose also. John boarded the Missouri Pacific and got off at Nevada. After what seemed an interminable time there was the girl with a rose in her corsage. They repaired to the lady's home. A pleasant evening was spent. John's friends are looking for him to take a partner.

In Refreshing Contrast

It Is Noteworthy That the County Graft Investigators Do Not Require Prodding.

As the investigation of corruption in the county government under the old regime proceeds, it threatens to reveal a scandal scarcely less great than that uncovered in the city government under Mayor Kline.

Payroll padding, extravagant misuse of the taxpayers' money, huge payments for services and materials that could have been obtained much more cheaply, favoritism in the awarding of contracts, the employment of county labor and supplies in improvements at the private homes of county officials, are among the things the investigators say they have found.

It will be observed that corruption in the county, as charged by the witnesses, took somewhat the same form as was revealed in the city inquiry. The gangs in control of the city and county governments were often in alliance and followed the same methods. They belonged to the same school of machine politics.

There is a marked difference, however, between the city and county investigations. The city investigation was started ... ed on by private citizens, against the opposition of ... authorities who should have done the work. City ... refused to investigate, and District Attorney Park did not institute the grand jury inquiry until after an audit had been made at the expense of public-spirited businessmen.

The county inquiry is in refreshing contrast. No need for constant prodding by the newspapers now. No need for a Citizens' Committee. No need for action by the League of Women Voters.

The County Commissioners are conducting the inquiry of their own initiative, and with a zeal that leaves nothing to be desired.

The fact that it was a regime of their political enemies that they are investigating does not alter the fact that they are doing good work—work in the public interest. On with it!

Pinchot's Good Example

The Governor Sets the Pace for the Reduction of Expenses by the State Government.

Gov. Pinchot has set a good example for co-ordinate branches of the state government by cutting $5,300,000 from the annual budgets of departments directly under his charge.

The cut comes from appropriations totaling $35,600,000 and permits a saving of 15 per cent in expenditures that were proposed for the fiscal year that started Wednesday.

There are other appropriations totaling about $60,000,000 over which the Governor has no control—appropriations for the judiciary, for the Legislature, for state-aided hospitals, universities and the like.

If other branches of the government follow Gov. Pinchot's example in pruning it should be possible to balance the budget and do something for the unemployed without imposing unduly severe new taxes.

Nevertheless the tentative program for a special session of the Legislature, as disclosed by the Republican State Chairman, Edward Martin, mentions as among the new measures proposed emergency taxes on domestic power, amusement admissions, cosmetics, cigarets, chain stores, soft drinks, a sales tax and a tax on the gross revenues of public utilities now exempt.

Cuts in the state appropriations will bring protests. So will the proposed new taxes. It is up to the people to decide which they prefer and to let their representatives in the Legislature know.

The Legislature is going to be required to make a difficult decision. The problem should be faced courageously.

Another Loan Argument

Veterans' March on Washington Calls Attention to the Need of Federal Aid for the Unemployed.

An impressive demonstration of the need of a $5,000,000,000 Federal bond issue for public works is furnished by the hundreds of war veterans who are passing through Pittsburgh on their way to Washington.

Without jobs or money, they are riding on freight trains and depending on the bounty of the communities in which they stop. It is a satisfaction to be able to report that the veterans have met with nothing but kindly treatment in this territory. The Pennsylvania Railroad authorities have not even protested against "commandeering" of their freight trains.

Public opinion does not condemn the march because it is realized that the condition of the veterans, like that of millions of other people, is desperate.

They are going to Washington to demand immediate payment of the adjusted service certificates.

Congress owes it to the veterans to do something for their relief. If it does not give them their bonus now, it should at least help them, and the rest of the American people, too, at the same time, by providing for the construction of public works, to be financed with the $5,000,000,000 prosperity loan.

Life for Old Offenders

There May Be Mitigating Circumstances Which Should Give Criminals Another Chance.

The Legislature enacted a law in 1929 which authorizes the courts to sentence criminals convicted for the fourth time to spend the rest of their life in prison.

The law is said to have been invoked for the first time in Philadelphia Wednesday when Howard Beverly, 31, a burglar, who has been behind the bars most of the time since he was 18, was sentenced to life imprisonment.

The District Attorney at Philadelphia mentioned in connection with the case that he had found, in scanning the records of prisoners there, four others who had been convicted for the fourth time, and would ask the court to sentence them to life imprisonment, too.

Probably an examination of prisoners at this end of the state would also disclose some who had been convicted four times.

Four convictions certainly suggest that a prisoner is a confirmed criminal and should be permanently segregated.

Nevertheless there may be, even in the cases of such old offenders, mitigating circumstances that entitle them to another chance.

It is just as well that life imprisonment is not mandatory, ... n after the fourth offense.

Trying by His Bootstraps

In much the same predicament as a man trying to lift himself by his own bootstraps is Congress in its blundering attempt to do something for the millions of willing workers who want work and cannot get it.

A gigantic public improvements scheme, financed by the Federal Government by means of a Prosperity Bond Issue, would create the much needed jobs. Once the workless were back on regular wage schedules again buying power of the nation would be enhanced, brisk business would ensue; there would be ready markets for products of the farms and the factories; every class in the nation would benefit.

A $5,000,000,000 Prosperity Loan is a feasible, practical method of meeting the unemployment emergency.

The Senate Tax Measure

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

AFTER CONGRESS had thrown the business of the country into the jitters by six months of nerve wracking delay on the tax and appropriations legislation, the country breathed a sigh of relief when the Senate finally passed a bill.

But on analysis there is little reason for dancing on the streets.

In many respects, the Senate bill, adopted in the conference, is more OPPRESSIVE, more DISCRIMINATORY, and more INIMICAL to a return toward fuller employment than the hodge-podge House bill.

To a larger degree than the House bill, the Senate version falls like a ton of bricks on the creative, intellectual workers of the country—the business managers, professional classes, artists, actors, writers, and others who contribute so largely to a balanced life.

For example, the Senate bill strikes out the 25 per cent deduction from taxable income of earned income.

This was inserted into the tax procedure in 1924 to end the discrimination against human beings and in favor of capital.

Up to that time, corporations were permitted, as they still are, to deduct from taxable income reserves against wearing out and becoming unfashionable. Technically, these charges are known as charges against depreciation, depletion and absolescence.

TO THOSE WHO faced the facts it became apparent that human beings ought to be allowed to make similar deductions, and since 1924 they have been permitted to do so. The prudent man recognizes that part of his current income must be reserved for old age or periods of illness, when he will no longer be able to work or to render services which are in fashion.

A singer in time loses his voice. A baseball player knows that in due course his batting eye will be impaired. An actress finds that a few years wither her beauty, and ultimately relegate her to retirement.

The 25 per cent deduction for earned income was the all too slight recognition of these truisms.

But the United States Senate, once called the greatest deliberative body in the world, has rescinded this wise provision.

THE SENATE bill only nominally soaks the rich. In reality, it SOAKS especially THE SALARIED CLASSES—the fit, the able, the creative leaders of the country. It tends to paralyze initiative and to discourage success at a time when the nation needs these qualities more than ever before. It thus indirectly SOAKS THE POOR who are denied opportunity for employment.

The rich—those who live on accumulated capital rather than on brain sweat—will not be unduly harassed by the Connally amendment, because they can find avenues of escape in interest-bearing tax exempt bonds and in temporarily non-income producing common stocks, which may possibly have an untaxable economic increment through the years in appreciation in market value.

In spite of the President's belated personal plea for a manufacturers' sales tax for the period of the emergency, under the disguised name of manufacturers' excise tax, the Senate again rejected this singularly wise and uniquely applicable tax principle.

Instead of an easily borne sales tax, spread thin over many articles, the Senate, like the House, preferred a group of onerous sales taxes spread thick on individual unfavored commodities and industries.

The fundamental objection to such an unscientific procedure lies in the fact that such discriminatory, unevenly levied taxes tend to distort the channels of distribution.

They favor one item and penalize another in the present general competition for the consumer's dollar.

In terms of trade and employment, they tend to unbalance business by necessitating widespread additional readjustments.

AT A TIME when the paramount need is to adopt economic policies which will encourage businessmen to project new job-creating activities, the Senate proposes a tax measure which will accelerate the vicious factors making for continuing depression.

With the profits of 387 corporations down 73.8 per cent in the first quarter of 1932, as compared with the same quarter in the depression year of 1931, and with the TREND STILL DOWNWARD, it is doubtful whether the estimates for revenue on which the Senate has depended will be fulfilled.

In the light of the decline of profits, on which corporate and personal incomes depend, the CONNALLY AMENDMENT FOR RAISING HYPOTHETICAL RATES ON HYPOTHETICAL INCOMES CONSTITUTES CHILDISH ECONOMICS.

Like the House, the Senate has followed the will o' the wisp leadership of a new KNOW NOTHING PARTY.

Enlightened statesmanship would have searched out new and comparatively painless sources of revenue, such as a widely diffused manufacturers' sales tax, modeled after the Canadian experience, and an excise tax on light wines and beer, which should forthwith be legalized.

Political prejudice alone stands in the way of sensible Congressional action, which could contribute substantially to a revival of unemployment.

The price which the country has already paid for unsound policies has been prodigious.

If members of Congress stubbornly refuse to change their minds, it is up to the voters of the United States next November to CHANGE THEIR CONGRESSMEN.

Jackass economics is ruinous at a time when delicate social engineering is eminently necessary.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Putting the 'Sin' in Sincerity

The most unfortunate moment in a love affair or a marriage is that in which a woman stops cooing "I understand you, darling," and begins saying "I see through you, old dear."

No man wants to be "seen through." And the woman who really "understands" him is the one who never lets him know it! The average man is much shyer and more reserved than a woman. His mind is as full of "reservations" as a popular summer hotel; and most of them are as personal and sacred to him as his toothbrush and his razor.

It isn't that a man really wants to hide anything from the woman he loves. It is just that he likes to feel that there are a few secret corners in his soul, his mind and his life which have never been exposed or explored—a few unseen places where he can tuck away his private thoughts and emotions.

Oh yes, I'M a woman—and I know what a temptation it is to let a man know that you are "ON to him!" But, no matter what a man does, no matter what you discover about him, it is always fatal to love, for you to let him know that you are "wise" to him.

It doesn't make him sorry—it only makes him resentful. It doesn't make him more frank and sincere—it only makes him more cautious and secretive.

Every man likes to feel that he is just a little bit mysterious and "inscrutable." Why can't a woman let him go right on feeling that way—even after marriage? Why must she be constantly prying into his thoughts and making him feel that he is guilty of "immodest exposure" of the mind?

Any bright, modern girl knows that the quickest and most effective way to start a man thinking about her is to make him feel that she finds him "unfathomable." That there is a hidden side to his nature which mystifies and intrigues her. Any girl knows that the most effective line with which to flatter a man is, "I just can't make you out! I simply can't fathom you!" Nothing makes him feel so impressive as not to be "understood."

Once he discovers that a woman is "on to him" (And aren't we all on to them?) it's just as though the game were all over and the school-bell had rung for the end of recess. He is no longer a "deep, dark, fascinating mystery." Ho-hum!

* * *

All of which is a big handicap to a modern, intelligent woman, to whom a man is just a piece of windowglass. But, why not humor him? The girl who can open her baby eyes wide and look up at a man with admiring awe and astonishment, has won a whole lap in the race for his affections.

* * *

Of course lovers and husbands should be frank and sincere. But the woman who never lets a man have a private thought is putting the "sin in sincerity."

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, June 3.—Thoughts while strolling: Wonder if they still twirl drinking horns out of copy paper in newspaper shops? And after "30," wonder how long the city editor will last? Dave Apollon is a miniature of Chalif, the Russian dancer. Ed Sullivan, Brummel of the Broadway columnists.

Westbrook Pegler, a Minneapolis, Minn., boy, who made good in the city. Victor Moore and Emma Littlefield strolling. Rich show folk. The Dutch Treat president—"Bud" Kelland. The Astor now has a small electric sign. One of my favorite people—Gene Buck.

A coach dog in the front of an auto. Wonder what he thinks? An old-time hotel. With a glass of shot for pen-holders, middle-aged bell boys and curb chairs. Gene Tunney could stand a feather-edged hair-cut. Vagrant thought: Gandhi would be great for a strip poker game. Von Hindenburg walks like a penguin.

A few more George Olsens and Gene Crawleys and dentistry would become a lost art. Overheard: "I've hocked my last jewel for you." (A lady to a gent, by the way.) There's a double for Webster's "Timid Soul" in Bryant Park every afternoon. Even to the saucer hat.

Sorry to hear Elmer Rogers left the Palace. Gone are the familiar faces—A. L. Erlanger, Walter Kingsley, Wilson Mizner, "Stuffy" Davis and Acton Davies. A Rolls lettered "Zit's." The boarding house where I first lived on West Fifty-seventh street. Now a speak.

A Lillian Russell type of landlady presided there. And the star boarder was a one-armed leopard trainer, like the heroine in the Bromfield novel. Board and double room $14.50 weekly. In advance or else. Dick Berlin, Tom White and Dave Towne, triple tycoons of the magazines.

The dying sun on the Empire's thumb-like spire. I'd like to tick off a sonnet. The Earl Carroll, now Ziegfeld's Casino, in Broadway's up and down tempo. "Deke" Aylesworth's dandy simile: "As annoyed as a pearl diver with the hiccups." Bruce Barton's brick red, curly hair.

At the N. V. A. they were discussing pioneer acts in vaudeville. Conspicuous were McCay's Dancing Ducks. They waddled from stage pedestals up an incline to a dancing platform, where they immediately began to lift their feet grotesquely. In the argot it was "box office." The chink in the armor was rarely suspected by audiences. The platform was electrified. "One old duck," said Hap Ward, "got so used to electricity he wouldn't blink in the electric chair."

In those days, small wagon shows were largely decoys for looting small towns. Some even sold safe blowing privileges to expert yeggs. A species of circus crooks were known as "Monday Guys." During the parade, when everybody rushed to the front of the house, "Monday guys" stripped the week's wash from the clothes lines in back yards.

New York pickpockets in this unregenerate era worked in packs. One set was privileged to work at prize fights. An interloper was usually found in an alley with a cracked skull. At a fight in Harlem some dip lifted the time keeper's watch. The irate manager summoned the chief of the mob and told him the ticker must be returned. And pronto. The victim was taken to the basement where the loot was piled on a table, prior to being carted to a fence. The timekeeper picked out his watch and to the late Boze Bulger, who accompanied him, said: "Have one on me!" And the scribe got the finest watch he ever owned.

Perhaps the reporter who knows Broadway best—the brittleness of its shell and the yellowness of its yolk—is Damon Runyon. He has cruised through its highlights and shadows for 25 years, sipping coffee at cafe tables and grimly studying its epileptic intensity. It's not excitement for Damon, for he was a reporter in hell-roaring Cripple Creek in boom days. As a cub he chased items from mining camp to mining camp, from gambling halls to brothels. Few know the clotted colorings of the seamy side so well or write about them so engagingly.

My little balloon was neatly punctured at precisely 6:24 p. m. as of even date. A man I had not seen in years looked me over and exclaimed: "You look 20 years younger." Hopping a few clouds home, I relayed news to my wife, who beamed brightly: "He means 20 years younger financially." No wonder I'm about half crazy.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Ever get a wood tick in your neck?

Well, you needn't get so snooty about it! Some of our best necks have harbored wood ticks, dearie. And your turn may be next, so you might as well listen and learn.

The wood tick is a curious creature. Not at all impressive in his original state. Looks like a flake of animated dandruff as he sprawls on a chaparral twig, waiting for his victim to come along.

Presently a neck appears. Sheep or human, it's all one to the tick. Whiff-f-f down he drops. Then the fun begins!

Into the helpless flesh goes the wood tick's head. Five minutes after you wouldn't know him, so plump is he with gore. And still swelling. Ugh! Nasty pest. You make a grab. But be careful! It's easy enough to get a wood tick on you, but getting him off is quite another matter. That tiny, gouging head is buried deep. Pull too hastily at the tick and maybe he'll leave his head behind, as a festering nuisance, to bother you many a day.

Yes, the wood ticks are certainly a blight, and the wise avoid them. Pity we can't be as wise about other pests.

For wood ticks aren't the only pain-in-the-neck. Life's full of them.

Trifles, they appear, at first. Mean little hurts. Petty little slights. Tiny stabs, some of them deliberate, some of them accidental, but all of them dropping on your unprotected consciousness, burrowing in.

You try to shake them off. You think you have shaken them off.

But what makes you so touchy sometimes?

Who do you get those blue spells?

How come those spasms of self-pity?

Those miserable periods of self-consciousness?

They're the old "wood tick" poison still rankling, stranger.

You thought you had "yanked out the wood tick." You thought you'd gotten over that hurt, that slight. But you haven't.

YOU'RE STILL CARRYING PART OF IT AROUND WITH YOU, AND IT'S POISONING YOU.

If you have a hurt, get it out of your system. Get it ALL out of your system.

Whatever the hurt is—someone else's malice, or your own shame, or blunder, or grief, or shock—Whatever it is, DON'T LET IT BECOME A SECRET SORROW.

DRAG IT OUT INTO THE OPEN.

Drag it all out.

Look it all over.

Size it all up.

Then chuck it for good!

Does that mean that you can entirely forget the thing that hurt you? No, of course it doesn't.

BUT YOU CAN KEEP IT FROM CONTINUING TO HURT YOU.

The memory will remain, to make you wiser, kinder, perhaps. But there'll be no trace of poison left to fester through the years.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Why so little consideration for the man in the menial position?

You fail to show due respect to the man who is earning an honest living; in fact your treatment is pretty shabby toward those you consider beneath you.

Just common laborers, you think they haven't sensitive feelings.

So you go on issuing commands in a loud, harsh voice and believe that to get anything out of such men you must treat them roughly.

You are mistaken if you think that they are devoid of fine feeling just because they are engaged in day labor.

The honest day laborer responds to kind treatment as other men do.

Of course you can't address the laboring man, especially if you are the boss, in what might be called a drawing room voice.

You must be heard and understood and your orders should be clear and crisp, and to the point.

But you need not be insulting and swear if things go wrong.

You can have some feeling for your men and if you really want to get better work from them you must show some appreciation of their efforts when they really do well.

If you knew all, you might find a far more intelligent human being beneath a rough exterior than you have guessed.

Text for Today Nevertheless the foundation of God standeth sure, having this seal, The Lord knoweth them that are his. And, Let every one that nameth the name of Christ depart from iniquity.—II. Timothy, ii:19.

'TREAT HIM ROUGH'

By Winifred Black

"Where's Gladys?" said I to Minnie, the strawberry blonde, when I went into the beauty shop for a little repair work the other day.

"Gladys," echoed Minnie, "Why, haven't you heard about Gladys? She's married again, and he doesn't want her to work. Ain't it a scream?"

"Married again," I breathed. "Why I didn't even know she was married at all."

Minnie was very patient with me. Her eyes said: "Poor thing! She can't help being dumb." And she went on and told me about Gladys, and the hard time she had trying to teach husbands to appreciate her.

"Gladys is all wrong about men," said Minnie, dipping the nailbrush into the little glass bowl, "ab-so-lute-ly wrong. She's too good to them; too devoted. She tries too hard. That's no way; you know that yourself.

"When Gladys was married to that Harry of hers he was crazy about blondes, and Gladys just worked herself to death keeping her hair a good, natural blonde. That takes time, and it's a lot of trouble too.

"Sometimes Gladys would be so tired she was ready to drop, but she'd stay after the customers had gone and get me to bleach her hair for her—almost hair by hair she made me do it—and what happened?

"Harry went to New York on a business deal, and while he was there he fell for a tall, bony brunette with hair as black as coal, and those snapping black eyes—you know what I mean—and that's all the good Gladys' hard work and devotion did.

"Gladys was down sick about it. She went to see the brunette and made her promise never to see Harry again. She and the brunette cried together, and everything; but the promise didn't stick.

"Now, here's this new guy she's so crazy about. He likes red hair, and Gladys is working like a dog again keeping her hair red, just to please him. And she's staying at home too. No excitement and no fun in the shop at all. Just staying at home and getting his meals. She'll lose him, just as sure as you're born. You can't keep a man by being unselfish that way.

"Here she comes now. Tell me, Gladys, are you and the boy on the outs?"

Gladys nodded, and her eyes were swollen with weeping. "I've come back for my job," said Gladys.

"There," said Minnie in a wierd whisper, as she took up the nail file, "didn't I tell you? Men are funny that way. You've got to treat them rough or they'll leave you."

I wonder what Minnie will do when she sees all this right out in plain print. Will she be pleased, or will she be cross?

What do you think?
